INSULL NAMES BOARD TO END CAR DEADLOCK

Asks 4 Bankers to Reorganize Lines.

The appointment of a committee composed of four of Chicago's leading financiers to work out the financial structure on which a consolidation of the surface and elevated lines will be based was announced last night by Samuel Insull.

Mr. Insull's statement, the first he has made on the transit negotiations since his return from Europe, was viewed as a reply to critics who have blamed the transit interests for the delay in reaching a settlement.

Committee of Four Named.

The four men whom Mr. Insull has asked to serve on the committee are:

Albert W. Harris, chairman of the board of directors of the Harris Trust and Savings bank.

Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the board of directors of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company.

Frank S. Wetmore, chairman of the board of directors of the First National bank.

H. L. Stuart of Halsey, Stuart & Co., chairman.

The statement expresses the hope that after the committee has completed its preliminary work in studying the financial basis for a reorganization of the car companies it will serve as the reorganization committee, to put into effect a plan satisfactory to all interests. A part of the committee's work, if it undertakes the reorganization, would be to establish the basis on which the $250,000,000 needed for new equipment, extensions and other improvements would be raised.

Action Praised by Simpson.

Mr. Insull's action was greeted last night by James Simpson, chairman of the citizens' transit settlement committee appointed by Federal Judge Wilkerson, as "a step in the right direction." Mr. Simpson, like the deadlock committee, headed by C. M. Thompson, dean of the University of Illinois college of commerce, and the city council local transportation committee, has been insistent upon the appointment of such a committee as necessary to a transit settlement. For many weeks he has been urging the transit companies to take some step toward reorganization.

"Mr. Insull's action is indicative of progress," Mr. Simpson said. "This is the only way in which progress could be made and it is evidence of a desire on the part of everybody to cooperate in bringing about a settlement of the transportation problem."

Asked by Deadlock Committee.

In making its report on the financial problems which were standing in the way of a final settlement, the deadlock committee, which was appointed to work out a financial setup for the new transportation companies, laid the blame for the delay in the transit negotiations on the elevated and surface lines. The report stated that the companies would have to select a reorganization committee to formulate a consolidation agreement before any progress could be made.

Mr. Insull, in announcing that he had asked the four financiers to constitute themselves a committee to study the financial aspects of the transit problem, said:

"I am promised a prompt decision as to whether the committee will undertake the work. If the committee agrees to function it will begin work immediately, and after a thorough investigation of all phases of the subject will reach a conclusion as to the financial basis on which a reorganization of the street railways and elevated railways is possible, in their opinion, having due regard for the very large amounts of new money which must be provided to give the city adequate facilities in the future.

Sees Many Problems.

"The problems to be considered are many and complicated and it is to be hoped that the end of the preliminary work of this committee (if formed) will result in its consenting to serve as a reorganization committee actually to put into effect a financial plan satisfactory to the city authorities, the community, and the many thousands of small investors whose savings are now invested in the local transportation systems, and also to establish the financial basis on which the $250,000,000 needed over the coming few years can be raised.

"The committee's work will be undertaken with no selfish motive, but wholly in the endeavor of trying to be of practical and constructive assistance in the settlement of a problem of grave importance to this community."

FOUND CHOKED TO DEATH NEAR WEST CHICAGO

Escort Is Charged with Slaying.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Contraband liquor, a drive yourself car, and a "blind date" brought tragedy yesterday to three homes and death to Agnes Johnston, attractive 26 year old south side girl. Her bruised and lacerated body was found early in the morning beside a lonely roadway three miles north of West Chicago. She had been strangled after a criminal attack.

The Du Page county authorities are convinced that she was strangled to death by her escort while he was crazed by bootleg booze. Recent crimes of a similar nature, involving contraband liquor, have attracted nationwide attention. A young woman was strangled to death recently in Washington, D. C., and the authorities there are holding her husband as the slayer. Jealousy inflamed by liquor, is blamed for the act. Two girls and a man are also in cells in the nation's capital as the result of a killing during a wild booze party on Saturday.

Escort Charged with Slaying.

In the West Chicago killing John Preston, 32 years old, a painter and steeplejack of 1014 West 32d place, last night was formally charged with the slaying of Miss Johnston. He was in custody at Wheaton. The Du Page county authorities announced that evidence in the case will be presented to the grand jury on Wednesday.

Preston, by a curious circumstance, was in custody several hours before his alleged connection with the crime had been discovered. Up to a late hour last night he maintained his innocence, though he had related conflicting stories and a mass of circumstantial evidence pointed to him as the slayer, according to the Du Page county authorities.

Called a Model Husband.

Preston, whose young wife insists he has always been a model husband, admitted having taken Miss Johnston, who lived at 7824 South Carpenter street, and her cousin, Matilda Murphy of 7835 South Wood street, for a ride on Saturday evening. He also admitted indiscretions with Miss Johnston, but asserted she had not resisted.

He met Miss Murphy, Preston stated, at the Libby, McNeill & Libby plant about a week ago while he was doing a painting job there, and represented himself as single. Several times he asked her to go to dinner with him. She refused until he suggested a party of four, so Agnes Johnston agreed to make a third. He was to have brought another man, but called for the girls alone, saying he could not get in touch with his friend.

Girl's Story of Ride.

Preston had been drinking, Miss Murphy said. He admitted he bought a quart of whisky which he had partly consumed. As they drove toward Wheaton, Miss Murphy said she complained of the speed. Preston slowed the car down almost to a stop, asking if that pleased them. They asked to return home, but the three had dinner at a roadhouse, then proceeded westward, though Miss Murphy said she and Miss Johnston supposed they were going toward Chicago.

Alternately speeding and slowing down the car, Preston, Miss Murphy declared, made a remark which so frightened them that they scrambled out of the car and began running down the road. Preston caught up with her and drove his fist into her face, Miss Murphy testified, knocking her unconscious. When she regained consciousness, Preston was lifting Miss Johnston into the car, she said. He drove away with the Johnston girl screaming for aid, and the Murphy girl running down the road after them, the police were told.

Returns Home by Train.

Miss Murphy lost sight of the sedan, and managed to flag a freight train which brought her into Chicago, she said. Until yesterday morning she had no idea what had happened to her cousin, Miss Johnston.

Three West Chicago residents out hunting mushrooms came upon the abandoned car early yesterday about a mile from where Miss Murphy lost sight of it. They notified Policeman David Phillips of West Chicago, who inspected the bloodstained sedan but failed to notice the Johnston girl's body lying less than ten feet away until his police dog, Spike, nosed through the weeds and refused to come back when called. Going after the dog, Phillips discovered the body.

PRESIDENT WILL SEE CUBS PLAY ATHLETICS IN FIFTH GAME TODAY

The fifth game of the world series between the Cubs and the Athletics will be played this afternon in Philadelphia, starting at 12:30 Chicago time. The Athletics have won three games and the Cubs one. Manager McCarthy will pitch Pat Malone for the Cubs. Connie Mack is expected to pitch George Earnshaw.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—After a hurried rearrangement of his engagement list, President Hoover decided to go to Philadelphia tomorrow to attend the world series game.

He will be accompanied by Mrs Hoover, the Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell; Secretary House, two of his private secretaries, Lawrence Richey and Walter Newton, and Lieut. Com. Joel T. Boone, U. S. N., White House physician.

The party will be met in Philadelphia by Mayor Mackey and will motor direct to Shibe park for the fifth game between the Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago Cubs.

The program for the trip includes no ceremonies or public appearances other than at the ball park and calls for the party's return to Washington immediately upon the close of the game. The President and his party will travel in private cars attached to a regular Baltimore and Ohio train.

VASSAR STUDENT WORKS 6 WEEKS, TURNS SOCIALIST

New York, Oct. 13.—[U. P.]—Six weeks' life as a working girl has made a Socialist of Miss Charlotte Tuttle, 19, Vassar junior and daughter of Charles H. Tuttle, conservative Republican federal attorney for the New York district.

Miss Tuttle intends, she said today, to enroll in the Socialist party as an active worker when she is 21.

The conversion to Socialism of Miss Tuttle came about after she and other girls investigated at first hand in Chicago the life led by factory workers. Twenty-seven girls, altogether, went out under the auspices of the National Young Women's association and got themselves jobs.

Miss Tuttle's was as a folder in a printing shop. She got so expert at her work that at the end of six weeks, when she had had enough, she could fold 11,000 colored pages a day, inserting them between printed sheets.

She found that a factory girl has little to make life interesting, she said. She herself was so tired at night that she could do nothing but go to bed. She went to the movies twice. She started work at $12 a week and worked her way up to $15.

Young Selfridge Hurt as Own Plane Cracks Up

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—H. Gordon Selfridge Jr., aged 26, son of the department store owner, was injured yesterday when his privately owned airplane made a forced landing and was wrecked. He received cuts about the face, but was able to proceed home after treatment. A passenger friend received spinal injuries and was taken to a hospital.

Shop for Your Health, Urges Noted Surgeon

Years would be added to the average life by a proper annual physical examination of all citizens and the man of ordinary means could cut down his cost of sickness materially if he went shopping for medical and hospital service as he goes shopping for an automobile. These were the statements of two noted surgeons last night on the eve of the opening of the 19th annual clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons.

Maj. Gen. Merritte W. Ireland, surgeon general of the United States army and president elect of the college, made the first statement. The other was made by Dr. Franklin H. Martin of Chicago, retiring president of the organization. Further remarks on what the college is doing for the standardization of hospitals and to cut down the high cost of being sick were made by Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, director of hospital activities for the college.

3,000 Surgeons Expected.

The meeting of the college is expected to bring at least 3,000 of its approximate 9,000 members to Chicago. The sessions open this morning in the Stevens hotel and continue until Friday evening. All of the city's 48 hospitals and its five medical schools will collaborate and many clinics will be held daily in the operating rooms and amphitheaters.

"People complain of the high price of sickness, yet the average man will do nothing to help cut the cost," Dr. Martin said last night. "Why shouldn't a man go hunting for the best he can get for the least money when he needs hospital treatment? Most persons would be surprised how cheaply they may get a room and their meals in some of our hospitals. A room in a hotel often costs more than a room in a hospital, and in the hospital they get their food with it."

Check Diseases at Start.

Gen. Ireland told of the value the annual "health inventories" have been to the officers in the army and he said that he believed at least 5 years or more might be added to the average life span if these were extended generally to civilian population.

"In the army we have been able to catch diseases in their incipiency and check them. We could do the same in civil life. Thousands of incipient cases of cancer, tuberculosis, hardening of the arteries, Bright's disease, and many other dangerous diseases could be discovered and checked and cured.

"The life expectancy has been raised from 40 to 58 years in the last thirty years. Preventive medicine and surgery did that. More years could be added by annual examinations."

Dr. MacEachern said preventive medicine and surgery have cut down the bed occupancy in hospitals in the last few years. He asserted that for every three persons taken care of before, six are now taken care of in the same period.

"In one Chicago hospital," he said, "where certain cases used to confine persons for an average of 39 days, they now keep them only 12 days.

"Hospital beds on an average now cost from $4.50 to $5 a day. We find hospitals are so being planned and constructed as to make for compactness and that they are endeavoring to make their accommodations such that they can be given reasonably."

HEARSE SHOT AT AND HELD UP IN LIQUOR SEARCH

Chestertown, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Two men, one wearing a uniform similar to that of the customs border patrol, held up a hearse bearing the bodies of two automobile accident victims early today and searched it for liquor after firing three shots, one of which found its mark in the automobile. They apologized for their behavior when shown the bodies.

Hamilton McCrea, agent in charge of the customs border patrol at Champlain, the unit which has charge of operations in this vicinity, classed the men as hijackers, explaining that no border patrolmen had been near Chestertown during the night.

The hearse was taking the bodies of Roy E. Magee, 44, and John Lyle, 14, to their homes in Salem, N. Y. They were killed yesterday when their car was in collision with a truck.

ROME, Oct. 13.—[U.P.]—Two noted Italian women, who spoke their minds, got away with it today.

Anita Butteri, sculpturess, charged with making remarks insulting to Premier Mussolini, was acquitted by a local court on the ground her guilt was not proved.

At Turin, a court acquitted Amalia Guglielminetti, famous novelist and poet, of a charge of offending morals in her novel "Males' Revenge." The court took the advice of two specially appointed experts that the book was not immoral. Dr. Ernesto Lattes, publisher of the book, also was acquitted.

Father and Girl Die, 4 Hurt as Car Hits Train

A small sedan in which five adults and three children were riding crashed into the locomotive of a speeding Pennsylvania freight train last night at 111th and Aberdeen streets. A man and a child were killed and four other persons injured.

Six other persons died yesterday of injuries suffered in Cook county traffic accidents. The 1929 toll was raised to 721. Following are the victims in last night's train-auto collision:

THE DEAD.

John MacDonald, 32 years old, 6347 Dante avenue, a stone setter.

Margaret McDonald, 2 year old daughter of the dead man.

THE INJURED.

Murdo MacAskill, 26 years old, 2 East 107th street, a street car conductor and father of the child killed, scalp wounds.

Mrs. Margaret MacAskill, 24 years old, mother of the dead child.

Mrs. Catherine McDonald, 27 years old, 6347 Dante avenue, wife of the man killed.

Alex McCloud, 29 years old, address unascertained.

A younger daughter of the McDonalds and Donald MacAskill, 2 year old son of the MacAskills, escaped with minor bruises. The injuries of all the adults except Murdo MacAskill are critical.

The sedan was moving east in 111th street and a flagman, Michael Mercone, 11101 Vincennes avenue, was at the crossing with his red lantern. He waved the light but the car swept past him, striking the driving rod of the locomotive, which was north bound at 40 miles an hour.

Car Dragged by Train.

The sedan's front wheels locked with the locomotive mechanism and were pulled away from the car frame. The car dragged along for ten feet and was pounded to scrap before it bounded off into the ditch.

Other motorists who witnessed the crash reported it to police as a train wreck. The fire department responded with five ambulances and two inhalator squads, but, when the equipment reached the spot, the dead and injured had already been taken by motorists to the Roseland Community hospital.

Those killed in other motor accidents in the county were:

Dorothy Pratt, 8 years old, 2317 North Kilbourn avenue. Returning home from across the street with a penny's worth of candy, she was run down by a car, suffering a skull fracture and broken neck, which resulted in her death a few minutes later. Cragin police arrested the motorist, Herman Ploog, 1114 Newport avenue.

John Kuhnlein, 61 years old, a cabinet maker of 237 West 106th street. He died in the Roseland Community hospital of injuries suffered a week ago at 106th street and Wentworth avenue, when run over by the car of John Pagaria, 1531 Lowe avenue.

John Anderson, 63 years old, a switchman living in the Proviso yards of the Chicago and North Western railway. Run down Saturday night by Roy Sturgiss, 150 York street, Elmhurst. He died yesterday in the West Lake hospital. Melrose Park police released Sturgiss in $1,000 bonds.

Miss Mary MacQuarla, 63 years old, supervisor of nurses at the county hospital. Struck by a hit and run driver at Ogden avenue and Honoré street. She died in the county hospital from a fractured left leg, internal injuries, and a skull fracture. Warren avenue police are hunting the driver.

J. P. Smith, 55 years old, 921 Maxwell street. Fatally injured when he was struck by a bus at Indiana avenue and 35d street. John Fittenger, 2945 South Michigan avenue, driver of the bus, was held.

Vincent Thomas, 11 years old, 1815 South Union avenue. Killed when a truck driven by his brother, Bruno, 28 years old, collided with another truck driven by Michael Kroll, 2015 Haddon

PARIS JEALOUS OF U. S.-BRITISH NAVAL ACCORD

May Block London Conference.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The eyes of the world now turn from Washington to Paris.

The two leading nations have reached an understanding to seek an immediate reduction of naval armament at the five power conference at London in January. Japan also has agreed to the program. But the big question now is whether France will join in the next step toward naval disarmament or will block an agreement at London pending further consideration of general disarmament at Geneva.

France and Italy will accept the invitation of the British government to the London conference. That was ascertained by London and Washington in advance of the issuance of the invitation. But what the two continental powers, and more particularly France, will do when they get to London is quite another matter.

More of a Land Power.

France, like Italy, is more a land than a sea power. She is more vitally concerned than is either Great Britain or the United States in any agreement that may be reached to limit armies and other land defense. She tenaciously holds to the theory that she can drive a better bargain on disarmament in a deal covering the reduction of navies as well as armies. Hence she strongly is committed to the disarmament program of the league of nations, on the shaping of which a preparatory disarmament commission has been working for years.

One of the reasons that France and Italy declined President Coolidge's invitation to the Geneva navy reduction conference of 1927 was that any agreement that might be reached there would prejudice the work of the preparatory commission.

It was to forestall a revival of this objection by France and Italy that the British government in its invitation to the London conference said it had "discovered no inclination in any quarter to set up new machinery for dealing with the naval disarmament question. On the contrary, it is hoped that by this means (the London conference) a text can be elaborated which will facilitate the task of the league of nations preparatory commission and of the subsequent general disarmament conference."

As to Navy Limitations.

This was interpreted in France and Italy as an assurance that any agreement reached at the London conference would not be definitive as to naval limitation, but merely advisory to the general disarmament conference, whenever it may be held.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson promptly pronounced this interpretation erroneous. He said that an agreement by the five naval powers at the London conference would be complete in itself, and it was hoped that it would facilitate an eventual agreement on land as well as sea disarmament.

Whether France and Italy find the situation sufficiently changed since 1927 to warrant them in joining a five power naval agreement under the circumstances indicated by the Stimson interpretation is a matter of animated speculation in every capital. It is conceivable that while participating in the London conference they will hold out for terms that will make agreement impossible and force postponement of naval disarmament to a general disarmament conference.

Favor France and Italy.

Strategy of that character would favor the interests of France and Italy, for presumably a failure of agreement at the London conference would tend to expedite the holding of a general disarmament conference under the auspices of the league of nations.

In rejecting the Coolidge invitation in 1927, France said that the American proposal of a five power naval conference had "the practical result of taking away from the preparatory commission an essential question on its program; of setting up a special conference on the one side in which only certain powers may participate, and whose decisions if they are not to be valueless must be recognized as valid by powers which will not have been allowed to take part in their discussion. To decide on a change of method without consulting the league of nations, and to seek a partial solution of the problem looking to the maintenance of the present situation rather than to determining the conditions which might best assure the security of all, and to confine this undertaking to certain powers only would both weaken the authority of the league of nations, which is so essential to the peace of the world, and undermine the principle of the equality of states, which is at the very basis of the Geneva convention, to which the French government for its part remains firmly attached."

The reply further stated that "the limitation of naval armaments cannot be undertaken without taking into consideration the manner in which the problems of the limitation of land and air armaments are proposed to be met" and that "from a naval standpoint, particularly, the limitation of armaments cannot be realized without the allotment to each power of a global tonnage which it shall be free to distribute according to its necessities."

The obvious answer to this argument is that the preparatory commission is not much nearer a solution today than in 1927, and its work might be facilitated by a naval agreement at London. This might be disputed by France.

France Is Suspicious.

There are other reasons that both France and Italy would regard with satisfaction a failure of the London conference. The Labor government of Britain is unpopular in France and Italy. Paris suspects the MacDonald ministry of an intention to wreck the entente cordiale between Britain and France and to align Britain with the United States instead.

The suspicion has been fed by such incidents as the insulting of French envoys by Philip Snowden, the British chancellor of the exchequer, at the recent Hague conference on the Young plan and the visit of Prime Minister MacDonald to Washington, where he concluded with President Hoover an Anglo-American understanding to cooperate in the preservation of world peace. Such incidents have bred the notion in France that John Bull has set out to divorce Marianne and court Columbia.

The Socialism of the Labor government of Britain is repugnant to Italian fascismo. Moreover, Italy is the chief victim of the deal at The Hague, where Snowden exacted a larger portion of German reparations to the extent of $8,000,000 a year.

Thus neither France nor Italy would shed any tears over the fall of the Labor government, which commands only a minority of the seats in parliament and is held in power only by Lloyd George's Liberals. The London conference is likely to decide the fate of the Labor government. If the conference proves a success the life of the MacDonald ministry probably will be prolonged for years. If it is a failure the Labor government may be doomed to an early extinction.

Liner Runs on Rocks in Fog; Passengers Taken Off

VICTORIA B. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, en route from the orient to Vancouver, piled on the rocks at Homer Bay, near Albert Head in the Straits of Juan de Fuca during a dense fog today. The passengers were landed safely.

EASE BURDEN OF ARMS, JAPAN'S HOPE AT PARLEY

Premier Advocates More than Mere Limitation.

TOKIO, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Premier Hamaguchi, in a speech delivered before a rally of his political party at Nagoya today, said that Japan "ardently desires that the coming arms conference shall achieve not merely limitation but the actual reduction of armaments of all powers."

The premier said this reduction should be made proportionately and "thereby keep faith with the spirit of world peace and lighten the taxation load of all peoples."

Require Safety Ratio.

"We do not resent the assignment to Japan of naval ratios inferior to those of Great Britain and America," he said. "But that ratio must not fade below the minimum requirements for the safety of the empire. That is an unchanging and unchangeable policy for all Japanese cabinets.

"We are hopeful that the disarmament problem is entering a brighter phase. We hope to see this intensified as the result of the five power conference that is to assemble in London next January."

Draft French Reply.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A council of ministers, with President Gaston Doumergue presiding, will exchange views tomorrow on the French reply to the British invitation for a five power naval disarmament conference in London. It is unlikely, however, that the French acceptance will be forwarded before another ten days have elapsed.

The text of the French reply probably will be drawn up at a second ministerial conference. That meeting will take place about Oct. 23.

The newspaper Temps, which has a semi-official standing, today commented on the joint statement issued in Washington by President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, and found a parallel between the present Anglo-American accord and the Franco-British agreement of last year, which came to an untimely end.

Recalls Anglo-French Accord.

"If the announcement that an agreement has practically been reached between the United States and Great Britain has been correctly reported," says the paper, "London and Washington are now in an exactly similar situation to that occupied by Paris and London in 1928.

"At that time the report that a preliminary accord had been reached between France and Great Britain brought out a perfidious campaign of the utmost bad faith in certain English and American quarters, even before they were aware of the exact terms of the agreement. That campaign, however, caused the accord to be abandoned.

"No agreement will ever be complete and satisfactory until it has been extended to all nations on the globe."

MAC DONALD WITHOUT HONOR IN HOME TOWN; NATAL DAY FORGOTTEN

LONDON, Oct. 13.—[U. P.]—The proverb that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country apparently applies to Premier MacDonald, prophet of peace.

His home town of Lossiemouth forgot until midafternoon on Saturday that it was the premier's 63d birthday. As soon as Town Clerk J. H. Glennie recalled the fact he hurriedly cabled congratulations to New York, where Mr. MacDonald was cutting a birthday cake.

The general public of Lossiemouth completely forgot the anniversary. Not a single flag was displayed.

GENEVA HAS ITS FIRST BOMBING; 2 STORES WRECKED

A powerful dynamite bomb burst at 5 a. m. yesterday in the center of the business district of Geneva, Ill., wrecking a barber shop and jewelry store, and shattering show windows of five other establishments. The blast—the first in the history of the community—aroused the whole populace of 5,000 and alarmed the staff and inmates of the Kane county jail, a block from where the bomb was laid.

F. J. Kohloff and his wife, living above Kohloff's jewelry store, were jolted out of bed. The front door of Albert Linck's barber shop was hurled horizontally through the shop and split open the rear wall. Linck told Sheriff Urch he had received threatening letters from the Fox Valley Master Barbers' association because he refused to join their organization and abide by their rule to close nights and Sundays.

NEW YORKER SLAIN BY GUNMEN.

New York, Oct. 13.—John Serocco, 52, was killed and his son, Alfred, 22, was fatally wounded tonight by gunmen who shot them in the back as they were talking in the doorway of the lower east side tenement house in which they lived.

MACDONALD OUT OF PUBLIC EYE FOR DAY'S REST

Secluded in Home of Old Friend in Connecticut.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Having promised himself the luxury of one complete day of rest before concluding his arduous "good will" visit to these shores, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald took it in whole hearted fashion today.

For the first time since his arrival to talk naval disarmament and other international problems with President Hoover and others high in the official life of the nation, the British chief of state submitted to no interviews, received no delegations, gave out no statements and talked "business" with no one—so far as could be learned.

Strictly Private Visit.

With his daughter, Ishbel, the premier motored some sixty miles to the little Connecticut village of Saugatuck and spent some five or six hours in restful seclusion in the home of Miss Lillian D. Wald, head of the Henry street settlement of this city and an old time friend.

Newspaper men were told that it was a "strictly private" visit and two sound recording "movie" machines which had followed the party up from the city in an automobile were stopped by the state police miles from the estate and their operators reminded of the premier's wish ot avoid publicity on the trip.

At luncheon at the Wald home the premier exchanged pleasantries with a number of artists from the nearby Westport artists' colony and from New York, including Carl Anderson, the portrait painter, and Mrs. Anderson and Rollin Kirby, the cartoonist, and Mrs. Kirby.

Go Apple Picking.

In the afternoon the party went "apple picking" on the estate, the premier scaling a 7 foot ladder to take his turn at plucking choice ones, with the rest.

Later Mr. MacDonald and his daughter were seen rowing on the large pond in the rear of the Wald home.

About the middle of the afternoon the MacDonalds motored across country to the Westchester county home of Felix M. Warburg, New York banker, where they had tea. It was Mr. Warburg who led the Jewish delegation which waited on the premier last Friday with a plea for justice for Jews in Palestine.

Clear Traffic for Party.

After tea with Mr. Warburg the party started for the city. Six motorcycle men from Manhattan picked the cars up at White Plains and, riding ahead, cleared traffic so that Mr. MacDonald arrived at the Henry Street Settlement house well in advance of the hour set for dinner. Miss Wald had gone there direct from Saugatuck.

In taking dinner at the settlement house, Mr. MacDonald again was renewing pleasant memories of an earlier visit to America. When the prime minister and his wife first called there they were on their honeymoon. Mrs. MacDonald died 18 years ago.

"Thirty-two years ago," he remarked to Miss Wald as she met him at the door. "I had my first meal in America here. It was so good a meal that I have come back."

Off for Canada Today.

Tomorrow morning the premier and his party will leave for Canada, traveling on a special train. They will stop over at Niagara Falls, where they will be guests of the New York state reservation commission and from there will proceed to Toronto, arriving there Tuesday morning.

Some time during his eleven day stay in Canada—probably just before sailing for home on Oct. 25—the premier is expected to issue an additional statement on the results and probabilities of his visit. While there is no apparent basis for it, the expectation exists in some quarters that this "good-by" summary will contain a hint of Great Britain's readiness to demilitarize her West Indian and other Caribbean sea possessions as a final gesture of good will to the United States.

Just how definite such a promise might be in the light of other expressions of amity and friendship exchanged between the visitor and President Hoover in the last ten days is a matter of no little conjecture. It is pretty generally believed, however, that it will be calculated to provide a fitting climax to a mission which obviously has done much toward cementing a better understanding between the people of the two nations.

LORD BRIDGEMAN SAYS HE TRIED TO HUSH UP SHEARER

Declares Britain Felt 'Malevolent Campaign.'

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Lord Bridgeman, former first lord of the admiralty and chief of the British delegation at the Geneva arms conference in 1927, broke his silence today and told what the British knew of William B. Shearer's propagandist activities at the ill-fated conference.

The former head of the admiralty asserts that the British were fully "aware" of Shearer's activities and tried to have him silenced.

If Shearer's "malevolent campaign" had been exposed and condemned at that time, according to Lord Bridgeman, it would have been clear that the principle of parity was not being disputed by the British delegation.

Lord Bridgeman's Story.

This is Lord Bridgeman's story as he tells it in a letter to the London Times:

"Almost immediately after my announcement of the British proposals on June 20, a violent attack upon our policy was launched in certain sections of the American press, where gross misrepresentations of our objects and of the figures were published, with the obvious intention of stirring up ill feeling against Great Britain. I invited representatives of the British and foreign press to meet me and ask questions and endeavored to clear up the misunderstandings—some of which had been innocently conceived, but not all.

"For instance, at one of the interviews, I was asked my views about parity, and replied that I had not disputed and did not intend to dispute the claim of the United States to equality in naval strength, or its capacity to build a fleet equal to or larger than our own.

Assembles Newspaper Men.

"Shortly afterward there appeared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE a statement to the effect that Bridgeman would never agree to parity, and purporting to be a quotation of my answer at that meeting.

"I then requested a few of the most responsible of the British and American press men who had not been at that meeting to come and see me and read out the passages from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE; I asked them whether it represented what I had said. They all said no, emphatically.

"I then asked them if it was not almost exactly the reverse of what I had said, and they all said yes, and agreed it was impossible for me to have these frank interviews with the press, if that sort of thing went on and hoped it would not occur again.

Quotes His Own Words.

"It was on account of this attitude in a certain section of the American press that I asked for a second plenary session of the conference in order that I might, if possible, dissipate the misunderstandings caused by this malevolent campaign. Perhaps I may quote the words I used at that session:

"'I asked for this plenary meeting originally because it seemed to me that the atmosphere is being vitiated by gross misrepresentations of the British case in certain quarters, where ideas have been disseminated of serious ill-feeling amongst the various delegates, and there is an atmosphere of intolerance, which would make any chance of an agreement more difficult.

"'Some of the trouble has been caused, I fear, by parties whose desire and interest would lead them to rejoice in a failure of this conference. Every little incident has been used to make mischief, fantastic figures have been mentioned and every item of partial information has been dragged from its context in order to create friction and ill-will.'

Became Aware of Shearer.

"By this time, as may easily have been inferred from the last paragraph, I had become aware of the activities of Shearer, who had obtained a press ticket, which gave him entry to meetings between delegates and the press representatives.

"He was said to be distributing widely, vicious attacks on British policy and good faith, and monstrous misstatement as to actual proposals.

"Feeling sure that the American government was as desirous of agreement as I was, and that there was serious danger of failure if Shearer was allowed to continue his campaign, I caused representations to be made to the chief delegate of the United States about the course I believed Shearer to be taking.

Not "Regular Press Man."

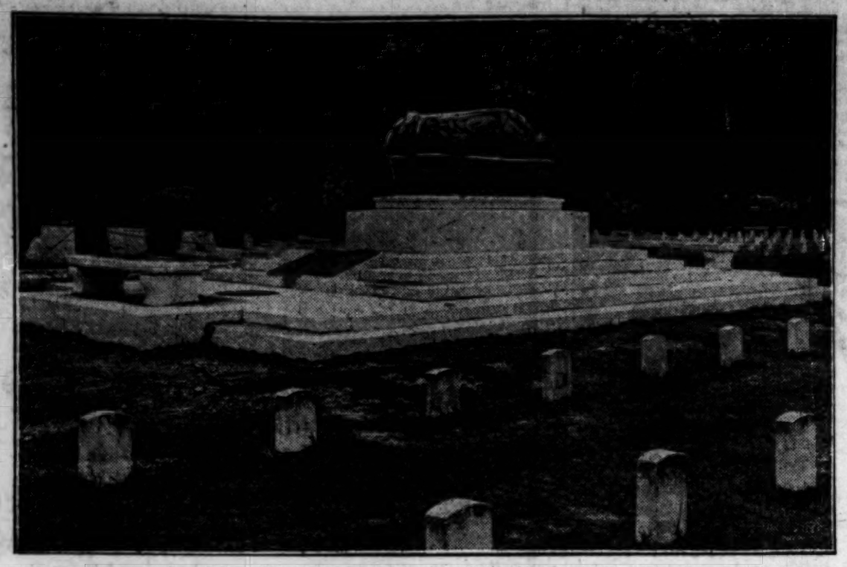
"I expressed surprise that he had been given a press ticket, as he did not appear to be a regular press man. After these representations it was disappointing to find that Shearer still continued to hold his ticket and carry on the same bitter campaign. But I could do nothing except to refuse to admit him to any conference I had with the press after that.

"Of course, I did not and do not now imagine there was any coöperation between Shearer and the heads of the American delegation who would, I felt, surely detest his methods as much as I did. But I am very thankful President Hoover has taken the action he has, and only wish it had been possible to do so before the close of the Geneva conference in 1927.

"If that had been possible I think it would have been clear that then—as now—the principle of parity was not disputed and that there was no question [as Stanley Baldwin said months ago] of Britain entering into a building competition with the United States."

Lord Bridgeman's letter answers a communication from Maj. Gen. Sir Ernest Swinton, inventor of the war tank, who demanded that the British side of the Shearer story be told.

Dedicate Memorial to Illinois Heroes Tomorrow



Monument to the 2,000 civil war soldiers who are buried in the national cemetery at Nashville, Tenn., which will be dedicated tomorrow. Secretary of War James W. Good, Gov. Emmerson of Illinois and Gov. Henry Horton of Tennessee will take part in the exercises. The monument was designed by Hugh M. G. Garden, Chicago architect, in conjunction with Leon Hermant, noted sculptor.

DEDICATE STONE TO CIVIL WAR DEAD TOMORROW

Illinois Will Enshrine Graves at Nashville.

Secretary of War James W. Good is expected to take a leading part tomorrow in the dedication of a monument in the National cemetery at Nashville, Tenn., to the 2,000 Illinois civil war heroes who lie buried there. The ceremonies are to take place at 10:30 a. m., and Gov. Louis L. Emmerson of Illinois and Gov. Henry H. Horton of Tennessee, as well as a commission of five appointed by the Illinois legislature, will take part.

Monument of Black Granite.

The monument, set in the center of the Illinois heroes' graves, covers a space 35 feet long by 20 feet wide. It is a sarcophagus of black granite set on a platform of gray granite. The sarcophagus is enriched by inlaid bronze bands of fretwork, and on it lies a figure representing the unknown soldiers, the figure being draped in a flag.

The monument was designed by Hugh M. G. Garden, Chicago architect, in conjunction with Leon Hermant, noted sculptor. It was built by Charles G. Blake & Co., also of Chicago.

State Appropriates $25,000.

The 54th general assembly appropriated the $25,000 with which the monument was erected and Gov. Emmerson appointed State Representative William G. Thon of Chicago chairman of the commission. Other members are Dr. Charles O. Brown of Oak Park, State Senator Charles F. Lee of Decatur, Representative Lee McDonough of Waukegan, and Representative R. A. Corzine of Stonington.

Dr. Brown, past commander of U. S. Grant post, G. A. R., who was instrumental in obtaining the action of the general assembly in the matter, will make the dedicatory address tomorrow. The Rev. Herbert Dack of Wilmington, Ill., will make the presentation address. Members of the Tennessee divisions of the G. A. R. and United Confederate Veterans also will take part in the dedicatory ceremonies.

JUDGE THOMPSON REAPPOINTED.

Mount Vernon, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Judge D. H. Thompson yesterday was reappointed master in chancery for Jefferson county by Judge C. H. Miller of Benton. Judge Thompson is a Republican and has served two terms in the office.

CIVIC FEDERATION FAVORS STREET BOND ISSUES

Three city bond issues totaling $18,876,000 for paying judgments for property condemned for street widening projects were endorsed yesterday by the executive committee and the advisory board of the Civic Federation of Chicago. The three bond issues are to be voted upon on Nov. 5.

In a statement urging an affirmative vote on the issues, the federation pointed out that "the proceeds can be used only for the payment of the city's just debts to citizens." Of the total amount, $13,290,000 is for judgments confirmed by court and $5,586,000 for judgments ready for confirmation. The bonds will pay for $8,713,000 worth of property taken for the improvement of Ashland avenue; $6,950,000 on Western avenue and $4,113,000 on La Salle street.

"At the same time," the statement said, "we recommend amendment of special assessment laws so all future public improvements an adequate financial plan shall be made in advance. Hereafter we shall oppose all similar bond issues if they are presented in connection with projects entered upon without obtaining referendum approval for the entire financial program involved."

BANDITS DISROBE ABE ARENDS AND 7 OTHER VICTIMS

Two bandits walked into the Hyde Park Smoke shop at 5228 Harper avenue last night and robbed eight card players and a woman clerk of $585 and jewelry valued at $715. They escaped after forcing the eight men to remove their trousers and sit on the floor, while they locked the woman, Mrs. Norah Gertick, 4608 Lake Park avenue, in a telephone booth.

Among the victims of the robbery was Abe Arenda, 1510 East 53d street, politician and former vice lord, who was robbed of $25.

Entering the shop, the two men covered Mrs. Gertick with revolvers and took her to the back room where the card game was in progress. Taking a $300 diamond ring and a $25 diamond ring from her, they pushed her into the phone booth and then ordered the men to disrobe. Besides Arenda, the the victims and their losses were: Lawrence Cone, one of the proprietors, $120; Emanuel Rice, a proprietor, $100 and a wrist watch valued at $140; Myles Goslar, 1765 East 55th street, $100; his brother, Jack Goslar, $70; Sidney Eckstone, 1337 Madison park, $40; Joseph Klinenberg, 452 East 79th street, $80 and jewelry valued at $250, and Grant Colanan, 4936 Indiana avenue, $30.

FOURTH MEMBER OF GANG SLAIN; POLICE BAFFLED

Trace Gambling Clews in Riggins Death.

Whether a gamblers' war, a love affair, or an echo of a west side blood feud brought about the slaying early yesterday of George Riggins, manager of a gaming house at 1119 West Madison street, was a question still unsolved by police last night. Riggins' body was found lying face downward a few feet from the entrance to the Jefferson Park hospital, 1410 Monroe street. He had been shot nine times.

The sole clew to the slayers was given by Miss Iva Ross, night supervisor at the hospital. An unidentified man, believed to be one of the killers, telephoned her that "you'll find a dying man lying out in front." Then the caller broke the connection.

Slain in His Home.

A careful going over of Riggins' apartment, above the Madison street gambling house, where he lived with his wife and two small boys, 1 and 2 years old, convinced police that the murder was committed there, but no clews were found to the killers or to a motive for the crime.

Chairs were overturned and a window was smashed, indicating Riggins put up a battle for his life. Two bullet holes were found in the wall. A profusion of card tables, handbook paraphernalia and roulette wheels was found in the rear room.

The slaying of Riggins marked the passing of a quintet of feudists the principal activities of which were gambling, beer running and robbery, with an admixture of warfare over the affections of two women, according to police. Of the original five feudists, four are now slain and the fifth, Tommy Shupe, is serving a term in Joliet for the $75,000 International Harvester company robbery.

Four of Gang Slain.

Those killed besides Riggins were Jimmy [Bozo] Shupe, brother of Tommy; Thomas McNichols, son of a former west side alderman, and John Lafferty, described by police as a "hoodlum outcast," and drawn into the machinations of the feudists through his pretty wife, Corinne.

Lafferty was the first of the five to be killed. He was shot to death as he slept in March, 1926, and his slaying is still unsolved. Suspicion turned to Tommy Shupe, reputed admirer of Lafferty's wife, Corinne.

Shupe, correctly or not, became convinced that Lafferty, through jealousy, had informed upon him to police as one of the Harvester robbers, it was declared, and Shupe was believed to have killed Lafferty in revenge.

Two Slain in Duel.

Jimmy Shupe and McNichols last July fought a pistol duel fatal to them both in front of the Madison street resort where Riggins yesterday met his death. Riggins was himself wounded twice in that fight, but recovered.

An insurance policy, carrying a cancellation stamp, issued to Jessie Lafferty was found in the Riggins apartment. The police said that Jessie Lafferty is Mrs. Jessie Lafferty Shupe, sister of the slain John Lafferty and widow of Jimmy Shupe. She was being sought for questioning last night.

BUNDESEN GIVES WACKER PARKING SPACE TO PUBLIC

Says His Assistants Seldom Use It.

Coroner Herman N. Bundesen yesterday asked that the space on the lower level of Wacker drive allotted to the coroner's office for parking be made available to the general public for parking at once. In a letter to Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe, Dr. Bundesen joined forces with the citizens who recently protested against the chaining off of the space on the lower level of the drive for the special use of cars of officials and their friends.

The space reserved nominally for the coroner's office would accommodate 50 cars, according to Ald. Thomas J. Bowler [41st], chairman of the council committee on traffic regulation and public safety, who made a tour of the lower level of Wacker drive.

Would Give Space to Public.

"The 'reserved' signs were posted without my knowledge, and while I naturally appreciate the friendly motive which caused the space to be allotted to my office, I do not believe that we are justified in keeping the space while there is a public need for it," said Dr. Bundesen's letter.

"As it happens, my deputies have rarely used the space at all, often finding it filled with the cars of other officials and favored citizens when they sought to park there.

A Suggestion to City.

"However, I feel that motorists generally have as much right to park in Wacker drive, or in any other lawful place, as do we public officials. If the city and county officials need a parking space, as I have no doubt some of them really do, the city should provide garage space.

"Since the space allotted to the coroner's office is being vacated upon my request, I suggest that this space should not be privately used for another public office but should be made available at once to the general public."

CALL HOSTESS RACKET IN NIGHT CLUB WORSE THAN WHITE SLAVERY

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—A new traffic in women, a more vicious successor of white slavery, of which night clubs, speakeasies, public dance halls, certain types of employment agencies and concessionnaires in amusement "palaces" are the integral links, has been created by the development of the "hostess" racket, according to the annual report of the Committee of Fourteen, made public tonight.

The report, which reviews vice conditions in New York during 1928, condemns Harlem as the most pernicious stamping ground of prostitution in the city, "a slumming ground for certain classes of whites," looking for "picturesqueness, for thrills, and, too frequently, for a convenient place in which to go on a moral vacation."

INDICTED COPS MAY SEEK BAIL IN COURT TODAY

Lieut. Phil Carroll and the members of his detective bureau squad, under indictment in connection with the Twentieth ward slaying in April, 1928, of Octavius Roy Granady, may appear before Chief Justice Denis Normoyle in the Criminal court today in an effort to obtain bonds, it was announced yesterday by William W. Smith, their counsel. Carroll and the others were suspended on Saturday by Police Commissioner Russell following their indictment.

Since the returning of the indictments upon evidence supplied by Special Assistant State's Attorney Frank J. Loesch, Carroll and the others have technically been fugitives, as caplases were immediately issued and placed for service in the hands of deputy sheriffs. No effort has yet has been made to serve the caplases, in view of the impending bond fight, it was learned.

Girl Dragged Into Auto, Attacked; Police Hunt 2

Miss Tillie Villa, 19 years old, 1453 Monroe street, was in the county hospital last night, badly bruised, while the Warren avenue police were hunting for two men who she said dragged her into an automobile and attacked her. She staggered into the police station with her clothes torn and told the police that the men had seized her at Warren avenue and Paulinn street and had driven her about for more than an hour before assaulting her. She said they then threw her from the car in Maypole avenue, near the station.

INSEPARABLE— Corsetry and the New Silhouette

For morning or afternoon or evening, corsets are very much in order. No matter how lissome you are—or how casually and successfully you have worn every frock heretofore—times have changed. . . . "And for the better," you will be the first to say! The New Silhouette . . . streamlined and sculptured . . . is a flatteringly youthful mode only when it is draped over a softly curved, deftly molded foundation. And to be correct, that foundation demands the inspiration and coercion of expert corseting, like Stevens'.

PLANS TO CUT SCHOOL TERM IN TWO WITH TALKIE

Fox to Exhibit Surgeons Wielding Knife.

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—On the twenty-fifth anniversary of his entrance into the motion picture business, William Fox today announced his program for the next quarter of a century.

In these 25 years he plans, by means of talking pictures, to institute a system of visual-oral education in every school in the country, whereby he hopes to cut school time in half and standardize teaching; to fill every vacant seat in the churches and parish houses of the United States; and to assist in the dissemination of medical knowledge by having hospitals equipped with apparatus to photograph every major operation.

The operation will be described simultaneously by a specialist and the talkie-film later will be distributed throughout the world for the use of medical students, physicians and surgeons.

To further this project, Mr. Fox said he would contribute one-quarter of his personal fortune, estimated at $8,000,000. Although allowing 25 years, he hopes to complete the program within five.

News Reel Theater.

In addition Mr. Fox announced that a newsreel theater, a hitherto unknown institution, would be established within two weeks. He also said the Fox organization would enter the home projection field so that at a nominal cost the layman will be able to project in his own home talking pictures, which he will select and rent from the film libraries the Fox corporation will establish.

"Imagine famous surgeons performing operations and describing them at the same time for talking pictures," he said, "so that the other surgeons may see the operation 100 or 1,000 times, until it is as clearly in their minds as in the the mind of the expert who performed it.

Give Private Showing.

"We have made the first of this series already. A film was recorded and photographed in Chicago of an operation with a radium knife on a cancerous patient. The surgeon will give a private showing tomorrow and then present the picture at the annual meeting of the American College of Physicians and Surgeons, which now is convening in Chicago. This is the first time in history that a talking picture has been made of an operation."

DEPOSED AFGHAN KING'S CITADEL FALLS TO REBELS

SIMLA, India, Oct. 3.—(AP)—A reliable report from Quetta, near the Afghan frontier, said today that Kandahar, a fortified Afghan city 280 miles southwest of Kabul, the capital, had been captured by the Duranis who have been besieging the garrison posted there by Bacha Sakao, the "water boy," the usurper who has just been dethroned. The report revealed that Kandahar garrison had suffered severely in killed and wounded during the battle.

LIQUOR CONTROL SOBERS CANADA AFTER DRYS FAIL

Survey Shows New Laws Are Successful.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Bootlegging and drunkenness have ceased to be major problems in the seven Canadian provinces which, having experimented with prohibition, abandoned it for one or the other of several forms of government liquor control, according to the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, whose field agents have just completed an exhaustive study of conditions in the dominion.

While the confirmed addicts who took to "canned heat" rubbing alcohol and flavoring extracts during the prohibition era in the seven provinces are a surviving problem, rigid enforcement of laws providing stiff fines and in some cases mandatory jail terms for first offenders charged with bootlegging or drunkenness, has not only crushed commercialized bootlegging but also has resulted in a tremendous decrease in intemperance, it is stated.

Abuses Are Prevented.

More than a year spent in gathering data from officials and representative citizens throughout the dominion resulted, the association reports, in seven principal conclusions.

These conclusions are:

1. The actual operation of government control has demonstrated that the liquor traffic can be so regulated as to prevent abuses which affect public welfare and morality.
2. The liquor boards are able, through their broad powers, to correct summarily any disturbing condition.
3. Organized bootlegging has been wiped out; petty bootleggers are patronized by the relatively few persons who cannot buy liquor openly.
4. The trend of drinking is toward wine and beer.
5. Except among the die-hard prohibitionists, the laws are supported by a public which refused to obey dry statutes.
6. Intemperance has decreased; a drunken man is rarely seen in public.
7. Prison sentences for intoxication have increased, owing to stricter enforcement and heavier penalties, including mandatory jail terms.

Per Capita Consumption Lower.

The fact that more than 8,000,000 tourists from the United States entered Ontario alone last year and the added fact that a huge quantity of liquor, charged to domestic use, is smuggled annually across the border into the United States, made it impossible, the report pointed out, to accurately estimate the consumption of liquor by Canadians alone.

Including all of the liquor drunk by Americans, however, the Canadian per capita consumption, according to tables in the report, has declined more than one-half from 1913 to 1928, and is holding far below the pre-prohibition rate. Mild native wines represent nearly three-quarters of the wine gallonage of Canada, which has increased, together with beer and ale consumption, as the drinking of hard liquor has declined.

Canadian taxpayers, the report emphasized, have been relieved by the annual revenue of $70,000,000 from the lawful liquor traffic, some of which is devoted to mothers' pension funds, hospitals, schools, and good roads, and all of which under prohibition went to the bootleggers.

Modern Offices Use Emeralite
LIGHTING is the most prominent feature in any interior and correct lighting the most important requisite for comfort and output.
The new Emeralite, illustrated, has rich marble base with classic pedestal surmounted by a decorative Emerald Glass Shade. It retains the many original practical features that have made Emeralite so popular, including the Special Screen which changes ordinary electric light into soft, eye-saving daylite that eliminates glare and improves visibility. Ideal for reading or working.
Emeralite's dignified appearance and substantial construction have built for it a reputation that defies imitation and have made it the National Desk Lamp.
Emeralited offices look better, have more output and daylite on every desk. There is an Emeralite for every writing or reading need.
Genuine Emeralites are branded. Look for the name. It pledges a lighting service that satisfies.

hand and with stains on his clothing, boarded an east bound train at Wheaton. A trainman, suspicious of his appearance, notified the Wheaton police, who took him into custody at Forest Park. He asserted he had been out riding with two girls and had been help up by a man in a roadster who shot at him and drove away after forcing the two girls into his own car.

When the Johnston girl's body was found, Preston was taken to Wheaton for questioning. Witnesses at the roadhouse where the party had dined, and a gasoline station at which he stopped, denied his story that the man in the roadster had followed him from those places. He refused to change his story, however, after long questioning by Assistant State's Attorney R. W. Keeney and Coroner P. A. Isherwood.

Young Wife Sobs at News.

"I don't see how he could possibly have done it," sobbed Preston's pretty blonde wife, who is several years his junior. "He was at home every evening before, and now here we've just settled down and bought our own furniture. We were both so proud of it—but now I guess I'll have to send it back. I was up all night last night wondering where he was, but never dreamed of anything so horrible.

"I'm not defending him if he did it, but he was so good, he'd do anything for me. I'm so crazy about him—I'd do anything for him and he knows it, too. If only I could see him for just a minute. I don't care whether he did it or not, I'll stick by him and wait for him years and years, as long as I live."

Preston has no children. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Preston, live in St. Paul.

2 SLAIN IN BLIND PIG SCRAP WHILE MacDONALD NEAR

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Two men were shot to death and a young girl was wounded slightly tonight within a few blocks of the Henry Street settlement, where Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain was being entertained.

The dead are John Saracco, 52 years old, and his son Frank, 22. Beatrice Gallo, 15, who was standing in the window of her home when the shooting occurred, was struck on the wrist by a stray bullet.

The Saraccos were shot down by four men with whom they had quarreled in a speakeasy earlier in the evening.

avenue, at the intersection of Peoria street, Canalport avenue and 21st street. Vincent was pitched out of the truck by the impact.

Mrs. Julia Carroll, 50 years old, 1350 Madison Park, widow of Michael A. Carroll, former president of the Empire Storage company, died in a New York hospital yesterday of injuries received in an automobile accident in New York on Saturday. Mrs. Carroll was riding with several friends from Chicago in an automobile driven by her chauffeur, Thomas Willis, 6459 University avenue. The traffic lights changed, as the car approached an intersection on Broadway, and because of the slippery pavement Willis was unable to stop, the car crashing into a delivery wagon.

Tire Blows Out; One Killed.

When a tire blew out and his coupé capsized on Milwaukee road north of Libertyville, V. J. Sladek, 2648 Princeton avenue, escaped with slight injuries, while his companion, Frank Vejoda, 38 years old, 2654 Princeton avenue, was instantly killed. Another in the car, James Rulec, 2650 Princeton avenue, suffered a fractured leg.

Duncan E. Willett, 59 years old, 804 Harrison street, Oak Park, a wealthy coal dealer, was held under $5,000 bond on two charges after his automobile collided with a taxicab at Central street and Eastwood avenue, Evanston, last night, seriously injuring Mrs. Louise Frie, 50 years old, 2661 Monroe street, a passenger in the cab. The cab burst into flames after the collision and the driver, Edward Moore, 3624 North Damen avenue, and John E. Lynn, a Northwestern university student, dragged Mrs. Frie from the burning car. She was taken to the Evanston hospital with a fractured skull and a broken leg.

Eleven year old Arthur Pakrovsky, 1846 South Spaulding avenue, sustained a possible skull fracture when he was hurled to the pavement as his bicycle crashed into the rear of a truck at 21st street and Homan avenue. Surgeons at St. Ann's hospital said he might not survive.

A street car rider, Michael Niatuszkiewicz, 35 years old, 3418 North Ridgeway avenue, suffered a skull fracture, and two motorists, Joseph Naga, 1141 North Winchester avenue, and Edward Kocaneski, 29 years old, 738 Milwaukee avenue, suffered lesser injuries when Naga's car crashed into a Fullerton avenue street car at Laramie avenue. Niatuszkiewicz, who was boarding the rear platform of the street car, was knocked to the pavement.

Aroused by the killing of two Wilmette children by motorists in the last week, Police Chief Henry Brautigan of Wilmette announced he would begin a campaign today against reckless drivers.

WIFE SEES MATE SHOT TO DEATH FIGHTING BANDIT

Young Salesman Slain as He Battles for Gun.

Resistance to a robber gang cost the life yesterday of Lyle Perrenoud, 27 years old, a salesman of 7227 Cornell avenue. Mr. Perrenoud was shot and fatally wounded shortly after midnight in the presence of his wife and several friends when he fought with one of four bandits who held up the Perrenoud party in front of 836 East 81st street.

Half an hour later and scarcely a mile away the same gang of highwaymen, who were accompanied by a young woman, robbed Michael Fox, 1115 East 73d street, of $50 and a watch.

Tries to Get Bandit's Gun.

Mr. Perrenoud, his wife, Olive, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Humphrey, 6940 Clyde avenue, and Miss Gwen Coder, 2354 East 70th street, had just halted their automobile at the 81st street address to visit a friend when the robbers' car drew up beside them.

Perrenoud, the first of the party to alight, was confronted by an armed man who ordered him to raise his hands. Instead, Perrenoud seized the robber's gun and sought to wrench it from his grasp.

Robber Shoots Him Down.

It was a losing fight for Perrenoud. The robber succeeded in twisting the muzzle of the gun against Perrenoud's abdomen and pulled the trigger. Perrenoud sank to the ground fatally wounded. The robber leaped back into his car and drove away with his companions.

Perrenoud died at 7 a. m. at the Jackson Park hospital without regaining consciousness. He was connected with Horder, Inc., stationers.

Miss Coder told the police she might be able to recognize the slayer. The robbers' car was without license plates or a rear light.

Baldwin Says 'Inner Voice' Saved Him from War Shell

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Oliver Baldwin, son of former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, in addressing a spiritualist meeting tonight in Queens' hall, described how he escaped death during the war by responding to a mysterious inner voice. This voice had said, "Go and see your company," and directly after he obeyed the command, he said, a German shell fell where he had been.

Typographical Union Rejects Wage Offer

Members of Typographical Union No. 16 yesterday, at a special meeting in the Masonic Temple building, defeated by a majority of more than 900 votes a proposition submitted for a wage settlement by the Franklin association, composed of job and commercial printing employers. More than 2,000 members of the union attended the meeting. Joint conferences between the committees representing the union and the employers' organization will be held shortly, it was announced by the union officials.

BRITAIN HOLDS BREATH AS R-101 TAKES AIR TODAY

Thousands Gather to See Trial Flight.

BY WAVERLEY ROOT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CARDINGTON, England, Oct. 13.—The chief industry of the citizens of Bedfordshire, where the mighty Leviathan of the air, the R-101, was built, once was to show American tourists the birthplace of John Bunyan, who preached and was imprisoned here, taking advantage of his incarceration to write "Pilgrim's Progress."

The chief industry of the same citizenry today is directing visitors to the mooring tower where the 5,000,000 cubic foot airship is swinging easily before a light breeze, gleaming silvery gray in the sunlight.

This dirigible was being scanned today by thousands of visitors who were choking all arteries leading to Cardington. The six official parking spaces of the airdrome were jammed with 15,000 cars. The roads for a 14 mile radius were filled with a double line of parked autos, leaving just enough space for the thick traffic—all in one direction—to file between them hopelessly hunting for still more parking places. The normal population of Bedford, of which Cardington is a suburb, is 40,000. It was twice that today.

Great Crowd Comes Early.

The crowds began arriving at dawn in automobiles, motorcycles, and bicycles, and even afoot, while the prize was taken by a blind man who came several miles to "see" the airship. The hotels were full and people are sleeping in cars, some staying outdoors all night in order to witness the projected maiden flight of the world's largest airship, scheduled for 11 a. m. tomorrow on a five hour trip.

London is hoping the wind will not change, for the 10,000,000 inhabitants of the world's largest city want to see the monster, of which they have been hearing for the last five years, and the R-101 will fly over the city if the wind is right. The wind is from the southwest now.

Motors Get Severe Test.

Yesterday and today the R-101 was occupied with 101 tests. The engines were run at the highest possible speed while the ship was attached to the mast, and were stopped and started by orders telegraphed from the control room to the engineers in each of the five motor gondolas. The ship was let down from the mast and hauled in again, to give the landing crew practice. Ballast tanks were tested and fuel taken on.

The R-101 at this moment is firmly attached to terra firma. Up through the massive head of the mooring tower, to which the nose of the airship is held by a 14 ton pin, pass telephone wires, connecting the ship with a regular telephone exchange, electric light cables for saving the ship's generators, and great pipes for pumping in oil, gas, and water. When the ship casts off tomorrow the progress of the flight will be broadcast from the ship.

Only Officers, Crew on Flight

Figures ordinarily fail to present an adequate conception of the size of such monsters as the R-101, but one, by the statistical information gleaned today, gives a graphic idea of the tremendous scale of the new dirigible. During its progress from the hangar to the mooring tower the wind blew off at least one ton of dust and debris from the top of the airship, which gathered during the building of the ship.

Tomorrow's flight is limited strictly to officers and members of the crew with the exception of Air Marshal Sir John Higgens. Lieut. Col. V. C. Richmond, chief designer of the craft; Maj. G. H. Scott, in charge of operations of the flight, and Lieut. H. C. Irwin, captain of the R-101, will be the chief officers aboard.

RUSSIAN AVIATORS REACH SEATTLE ON HOP FROM ALASKA

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Russian aviators, flying their plane, "Land of Soviets," from Moscow to New York, arrived here at 5:27 p. m., Pacific time, from Waterfall, Alaska, today. The Russians took off at 7:20 a. m., Pacific time, from Waterfall.

The Russians made the flight in 10 hours and 7 minutes. The route taken was to the westward of Vancouver island and then down the strait of Juan de Fuca, a distance of approximately 645 miles. Poor flying conditions were encountered. Naval radio stations kept those waiting at the airport here informed of the plane's progress.

A large crowd had gathered at Sand Point and waited patiently during the long hours of the afternoon. It was expected that the flight would be made in about five hours.

3 DIE, 2 OF THEM PASSENGERS, IN FLAMING PLANE

Pilot Attempts Sideslip Landing in Vain.

Lake Providence, La., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Marion Hatch, 28, Lake Providence pilot, and passengers, H. Hollingsworth, 20, and Stanley Conn, 16, both of Oak Grove, were burned to death this afternoon when their plane fell in flames from 2,000 feet and crashed onto a road near the airport here.

The plane was seen to smoke and then flames appeared on one side. Hatch tried to sideslip his plane into a landing so that the flames would not touch his passengers, but lost control. Hatch operated the airport here.

Dies as Parachute Fails.

Washington Courthouse, O., Oct. 13.—(AP)—While a crowd of 1,000 persons, including his mother, looked on, Estel F. Boyer, 24, of this city, fell to his death near here today when a parachute failed to open. Boyer was known in aviation circles as "Jumpin' Joe."

Moline Pilot Killed in Stunt.

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 13.—(AP)—John H. ["Ike"] Stewart, 38, Cincinnati pilot, was killed today when his plane crashed on the Huntington air field at Chesapeake, O. Stewart's small sport model fell from an altitude of only approximately 50 feet while he was endeavoring to perform a barrel roll as part of a stunting program at the field. He was sales representative and test pilot for the Mono Aircraft corporation of Moline, Ill.

Passenger Killed, Pilot Hurt.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A passenger was killed and the pilot injured in an airplane crash fifteen miles north of Detroit this afternoon. C. W. Kel, 19, of Detroit, was the passenger. The pilot, Frank Wrede, 32, also of Detroit, is a police prisoner at a hospital pending investigation of his status as a pilot. Wrede explained the accident by saying his safety belt became unhooked during a loop. The plane fell 2,000 feet.

NEW HOLY LAND ROW STIRS ARABS TO CALL STRIKE

LONDON, Oct. 13.—[U.P.]—The executive council of the Palestine Arab congress has decided to call a general strike next Wednesday in protest against new regulations, governing Jewish worship at the Jerusalem wailing wall, a dispatch from Jerusalem to the Daily Mail said today.

The Arabs alleged that the regulations, recently issued by Sir John Chancellor, British high commissioner in Jerusalem, would convert the holy place into an open synagogue. The Arab grand mufti, according to the dispatch, telegraphed King George of Great Britain, recalling that the Moslem caliph, Omar, safeguarded all Christian sanctuaries in Palestine 13 centuries ago.

Jewish Boy Stabbed.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 13.—[U.P.]—A 7 year old Jewish boy was stabbed, probably mortally, during a scuffle in the business district today. Additional isolated casualties have been reported as a result of continued Arab-Jewish boycotts in the market centers. A dispatch from Beirut said customs officials along the Syrian-Palestine border arrested some smugglers trying to take 50 revolvers into Palestine.

SCRATCH ON HAND FATAL.

A scratch on the hand from a sliver of wood three weeks ago resulted in the death of Henry Schmur, 38 years old, 2921 North Talman avenue, in the Lutheran Memorial hospital from tetanus.

GEN. SUMMERALL LIKENS PULASKI TO 'I WILL' SPIRIT

Warns U. S. to Remember Price of Liberty.

Warning that Americans must remember the price their freedom cost, and, despite hopes for peace and peace conferences, stand behind their naval and military forces, were sounded yesterday afternoon as a multitude of Chicagoans of Polish birth or extraction gathered in Soldiers' field to honor the memory of Brig. Gen. Casimir Pulaski, "father of American cavalry," who gave his life in the revolution.

The army, navy, and marine corps were represented by units at the martial gathering, the music and the singing was martial, and there were flags everywhere. All reference to Pulaski's battles for liberty, both in his own country and in this, were roundly applauded.

Maj. Gen. Summerall Speaks.

Maj. Gen. Charles U. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States army, and Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom were the principal speakers. Others who spoke were Col. Sergius Zahorski of the Polish army; Roman Dyboski, professor at the University of Krakow; Dr. Alexander Szczepanski, Polish consul general in Chicago, and John Romaszkiewicz, president of the Polish National alliance.

Anthony Czarnecki, federal collector of the port, was chairman of the celebration; Anton J. Cermak, president of the Cook county board, represented the Bohemian Americans, and Michael L. Igoe was the official representative of the south park board.

American Legion posts, the Forty and Eight voiture of Cook county, army and navy reserved corps and the National Guard also were represented.

Terms Chicago Fitting Scene.

Gen. Summerall compared the spirit of Pulaski, "debonair, intrepid and dashing," to the spirit of Chicago. He referred to the slogan "I Will" and said that Chicago was the most fitting of cities in which to do honor to Pulaski on the 150th anniversary of his death from wounds in battle at the siege of Savannah.

"The legacy of Pulaski is essentially spiritual," Gen. Summerall said. "None of the national causes he espoused came to pass in his lifetime. Like Columbus he did not live to see the realization of his dreams.

"His personal courage ran through his career like a thread of gold through fine tapestry.

"He was a natural leader. He formed his legion when the cause of liberty was on the wane. It is as a great leader that we pay him homage."

"Champion of Human Rights."

Attorney Geperal Carlstrom characterized Count Pulaski as a "soldier and a gentleman," a fighter for human rights, a nobleman always seeking the freedom of the common man. And, looking at the companies of soldiers from Fort Sheridan, sailors from Great Lakes, and marines standing on the field before him, he also warned, "We must back those men up."

"We are all always hoping for continuous peace," Carlstrom said, "but when we look into the record of the centuries we are compelled to see that liberty and freedom and all human rights were purchased by the blood and the courage of men."

The attorney general told his audience that "the people of the United States can never forget the obligation we owe to the heart of Poland."

"Poland not only contributed to us in time of war," he said, "but she has sent several millions of useful citizens here, more than 400,000 of whom are in Chicago."

The celebration of the day started with a dinner at the Raquet club.

400,000 CHINESE TROOPS REVOLT IN NEW CIVIL WAR

Rebel Armies Mass for Nanking Attack.

PEIPING, Oct. 13.—(AP)—China appears today to be developing one of the biggest civil wars known in the country for some time. Troops are mobilizing in nearly every province with the object of overthrowing the regime headed by Chiang Kai-shek and installing Feng Yushisang, the "Christian general," and Yen Hsi-shan, the "model governor of Shansi," as heads of the administration.

The development is coming, too, just when the troubles with Russia along the Manchuria border are increasing, with the government treasury empty and with famine putting millions of people on the verge of starvation.

The civil situation is being brought to a head as a result of the Nationalist government's order that punitive measures be taken against the Kuominchun, or "peoples' army," as the troops of Gen. Feng call themselves. This order followed upon a fierce denunciation of Chiang Kai-shek by commanders of those troops, in which the titular head of the government was accused of enriching himself at the expense of the state.

Chiang to Stay on Job.

Resignation of President Chiang would probably bring a halt to the movement, but that seems a most unlikely development. He has offered to retire on several occasions in the past, but only after a subversive measure has been put down. His most recent pronouncement was to the effect that he would die rather than relinquish his post in the face of rebellion.

In their denunciation of Chiang, the Kuomingchun leaders charged that he had been drawing a million dollars a month from the national treasury for personal expenses. They asserted that he had usurped dictatorial powers and that, while he had been ordering demobilization of troops of other leaders, he had been recruiting his own forces.

They said that within two years, he had floated loans for $400,000,000 of which the public knew nothing, in sofar as the expenditures of that amount were concerned. He was accused also of nepotism in that the most lucrative government posts had been given to his own friends and relatives.

Seek Chiang's Death.

They summed up by saying that whereas Sun Yat Sen, father of the republic, had declared the state belongs to the people, Chiang Kai-shek had adopted the policy of making the state a matter of private ownership.

The document asserted that 400,000 men were being assembled for a campaign against Nanking, the avowed object being the death of Chiang Kai-shek as the only positive measure that would insure the safety of the country.

Reliable reports reaching here assert that anti-government troops are mobilizing in at least seven provinces — Shantung, Anhui, Honan, Shensi, Kanus, Hunan, and Kwangsi. Thus far the attitude of Gov. Yen in Shansi is doubtful. It is predicted, however, by competent observers, that he will remain neutral. Neither has Gen. Feng appeared in person in the movement, but his hostility to the present regime in Nanking has been a matter of common knowledge for a long time.

Whites Stage Demonstration.

TOKIO, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A Rengo News Agency dispatch from Harbin, Manchuria, reported today that a crowd of White Russians staged a demonstration before the German consulate, demanding that the league of nations be informed officially of the massacre of 200 White Russians by soviet forces near Hailor on Oct. 1. The incident took place north of Manchouli on the Manchurian-Siberian frontier.

The Harbin demonstration was made before the German consulate because that government is representing the interests of China in Russia and of Russia in China while the two governments are at loggerheads over the Chinese seizure of the Chinese Eastern railway.

FAMINE GRIPS NORTH CHINA PROVINCE; SLAY TO AVOID SLOW DEATH

SHANGHAI, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Famine conditions in the northern provinces of China are rapidly growing worse. Hundreds have been dying there daily of starvation for many months. No relief from natural causes is expected before next spring. All 92 districts of Shensi province are said to be in the grip of slow death, while in towns and village bodies lie in the streets. Whole villages have been depopulated by death or desertion of homes, while the country is bare of vegetation. Drought has kept formerly fertile fields arid for four or five years.

In many villages people are tearing down their homes and exchanging the wood for food. Children have been abandoned or killed to keep them from dying of slow starvation. Suicides are numerous.

In the city of Sianfu, Shensi province, 12 concentration camps have been opened and 19 relief stations are operating day and night. The bread lines are so long it sometimes takes two days or more for all in one line to receive one scanty ration.

TERRY DRUGGAN TO GIVE BOND IN TAX CASE TODAY

Terry Druggan, beer baron, will be produced before United States Commissioner Walker today to furnish bond in connection with charges that he defrauded the government in his income tax returns, it was announced last night by his counsel, William F. Waugh. United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson has declined to announce the amount of bond he will demand of Druggan and of Frankie Lake, sought under the same charges, until the two are produced in court.

In the case of Ralph Capone, another beer gangster under similar charges, a bond of $35,000 finally was fixed last week, Capone succeeding in getting his bond cut from an original figure of $50,000.

Mr. Waugh said it would be impossible for him to also produce Lake before Commissioner Walker today. He said Lake is at present out of town, but indicated he will get in touch with him within the next few days.

SHOT TO DEATH IN QUARREL OVER CUBS AND MACKS

Utica, Miss., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Deputy United States Marshal N. A. McBride of Utica, Miss., is held in the county jail at Jackson, charged with the killing of James H. Flewellyn of Utica as the result of an argument over the world series. Flewellyn favored the Cubs.

The two men were listening in on the game over the radio at a filling station here when the argument occurred. McBride is declared to have shot Flewellyn after the latter had drawn a knife. The bullet entered Flewellyn's temple, coming out the rear of his head.

EGYPT'S Ppremier BACKS PROPOSED BRITISH TREATY

Freedom Vital to Future Economic Growth.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 13.—Premier Adli Pasha Yeghen today reiterated an interview which he gave me ten years ago. That interview was based on the report of the late Lord Milner and forms the skeleton of the present proposed treaty between Egypt and Great Britain.

"I have not changed my opinion since you saw me last," the premier said. "And that means, as you know, that I consider the treaty acceptable in toto. Furthermore, I consider it vital to the future of the country."

The premier's job is not an enviable one, as he is merely holding the reins of the government pending the approaching elections for the new parliament which will decide whether Egypt accepts or rejects the proposed treaty. The draft pact is of great importance, since it is the first time that Great Britain actually proposes to recognize Egypt as an independent nation.

The premier so far has carefully avoided giving out a statement regarding his opinion of the treaty, because there is a danger that opponents of the document will attempt to exploit such a statement as an indication that the government is using pressure on the electorate. But to deny that he favors the treaty would mean that he has changed his mind, and this would be untrue.

The refusal of David Lloyd George to accept the recommendations of the late Lord Milner's report at the time that Adli Pasha was negotiating for the independence of Egypt drove Egypt back into the hands of the extremists. Rationalism was disavowed. The Moderates, like Adli Pasha, were unable to check the extremists who by overt acts such as assassination of the British Sidar in 1924, lost for Egypt not only partial independence but threatened permanently to deprive Egypt of all rights in the Sudan.

With the Milner recommendations finally accepted with modifications in favor of Egypt by the British government, the situation in Egypt today is precisely what it would have been had Mr. Lloyd George, nine years ago, agreed to what the MacDonald government is now granting.

"Of course," the premier said, "any Egyptian would much prefer if Egypt were given unconditional independence and Great Britain would withdraw its troops not only from Egypt but from the Suez canal. This, however, is an unreasonable request. I realize today as much as I did when I last talked with you that the British will, whether we like it or not, keep their grip on the canal, and for me it is a matter of indifference whether the British troops are garrisoned on this or the other side of Suez. What is important is that the treaty limits not only the zone of occupation so that it is not felt in the country, but it limits the functions of the troops at the canal.

FATHER DUFFY, HEROIC CHAPLAIN, IN UPHILL FIGHT TO SAVE CHURCH

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The Rev. Father Francis F. Duffy, who won world fame for his heroism on the French front serving as chaplain of the 165th regiment, is waging an uphill fight to save his church, the Church of the Holy Cross on West 42d street, from the northward advance of commerce on Manhattan island. Father Duffy described his overwhelming and heart breaking odds to his parishioners this morning.

With the parish membership dwindling away, parish finances shrinking to the absolute minimum, generous friends of former years forgetting to contribute to the support of Father Duffy's church, and with the expense of the parochial school increasing year by year, Father Duffy said the way was getting hard.

PLAN TO EXTEND PLANT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 12.—[Special.]—The A. O. Smith corporation is planning to extend its activities by erecting an addition to the plant at Oklahoma and Folsom avenues, near the Nash Motors shop. The firm has petitioned the land commission to alter the zoning ordinance permitting the district to be used by heavy industries.

LABOR WINS 44 SEATS OUT OF 75 IN AUSTRALIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Oct. 13.—The Labor party strengthened its position in later returns in the Australian federal election. Former Prime Minister Stanley Bruce's election is still uncertain because, although the majority of the Labor candidate opposing him has been reduced, the independent candidate also in the field now has more than 2,000 votes and advised his supporters to give second preference to the Laborite.

Final figures have yet to be given, but it seems certain that of the 75 seats in the commonwealth parliament 44 have been captured by Labor. The Nationalists have 16 seats, Country party 10, and Independents 5. As a coalition against the Laborites is likely, they will not have a big enough majority to attempt any drastic legislation. Moreover, the senate is Nationalist.

Seventeen candidates forfeited deposits of $125 owing to their failure to obtain one-fifth of the first preferences of successful candidates. Labor's chief gains were made in New South Wales.

COLBY'S

Furniture in the fashion of DUNCAN PHYFE

COLBY'S present splendid examples of a fashion now in vogue for beautiful interiors

Reproductions and adaptations of Phyfe originals and other American pieces, as well as the earlier English furniture which inspired Federal cabinetmakers . . . . . .

IN OUR daily contact with home-makers we are impressed with the growing interest in furniture of this admirable style. This is a logical and desirable thing, for it may be said of Phyfe that he was in a sense the American heir of England's greatest cabinetmakers and designers—that he profited by the accomplishments of Chippendale, Adam, Hepplewhite and Sheraton. He was able (since he viewed their work as a whole) to select those elements which were most desirable, in the light of his own excellent taste and craftsmanship. Many of the pieces we present are copies of museum originals, while others have been modified to meet modern living requirements.

Notes and news of style in furnishing

We present briefly, items from leading publications and style centers, on modern home furnishing.

Speaking of fine American furniture of the type this advertisement describes, Country Life says:

"What Chateau on the Loire, what Tudor castle could or does mean more to us than simple Mount Vernon. What furniture no matter how beautiful, expresses more perfect familiarity with our needs. We have come at last to see the honest beauty in the furniture of our forefathers. We want to know its history and give it a proper place in our homes."

In a discussion of accepted furniture styles, and the so-called "modern" movement, Good Furniture says:

"It is exceedingly difficult at the present stage of development to discriminate between that which will win enduring acceptance and elements which, in the course of the next few years, will be rejected by the public. In any event it would seem unlikely that antiques and fine reproductions will ever fall into disfavor. The demand for classical style is perennial."

The Colby Department of Antiques is one of the finest in America

Next month Colby's will open a handsome showroom and studio in the Astor Hotel, Milwaukee . . . Also an Oak Park branch with a comprehensive stock, and a series of ten period rooms to afford furnishing suggestions.

Dining furniture of this era is of particular interest

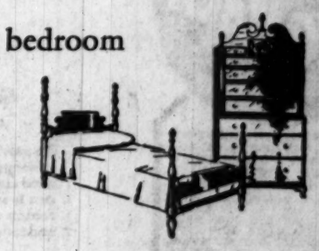
Here are many Colby sets whose fine proportions and graceful lines reveal not only rare artistry in design but fine craftsmanship by the workmen who execute Colby reproductions.

Complete sets from $435 up

Occasional furniture

Tables, chairs, consoles, mirrors and cabinets in a wide range, may be found on various floors at Colby's. Such furniture has permanent value.

Adaptations for the bedroom



We present many sets, adapted to modern needs, yet embodying elements of style drawn from authentic old pieces. The mahogany highboy shown is priced $110, and the carved bed $74.

200 LOBBYISTS ON TARIFF MAY FACE SENATORS

High Protectionists to Be Called First.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—More than 200 organizations which have interested themselves in tariff legislation will come under the scrutiny of the senatorial lobby investigating committee if Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] and his colleagues make a thorough job of it.

The record of the hearings of the house ways and means committee and the senate finance committee show that this many associations of a national character formally presented their views on behalf of higher or lower duties. Their spokesmen were actually present in Washington and many of them have remained to keep an eye on the progress of the legislation.

Whether the lobby committee devotes equal attention to all varieties of lobbyists or whether those seeking high duties on industrial products are singled out for attack remains to be seen. The first witness when hearings are commenced on Tuesday will represent the high protectionist lobby groups.

Four Oppose Administration.

Of the five members of the investigating committee four have voted consistently with the Democratic-radical coalition in controversies over tariff bill amendments. The four, Senators Caraway, William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], John J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], and Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] are against increased duties on industrial products. Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.] is the only member of the committee who has stood with regular Republicans and he may not furnish the aid and comfort to the eastern manufacturers which might have been expected if a Republican senator from a New England or eastern state had been placed on the committee.

The largest single group of associations which have made known their desires on tariff legislation are the farm organizations, which have urged higher duties on agricultural products. These organizations by common consent will be passed over without a great deal of attention. Next come the associations of manufacturers of industrial products. There also are a considerable number of organizations of importers. Also a few radical groups have taken a hand on behalf of lower duties, ostensibly in the interest of the consumer. Foreign interests have been represented in some of the groups protesting against increased duties.

Tariff League Active.

The American Tariff league, which is the organization with which Joseph R. Grundy, Pennsylvania manufacturer, is identified, has probably taken a more general interest in obtaining greater protection on all industrial schedules than any other. Mr. Grundy is the pet aversion of radical senators and is to be subjected to a severe grilling. Inasmuch as he has been a successful collector of campaign funds for the Republican party in his home state an effort will be made to connect campaign contributions with tariff favors. The Southern Tariff association has been active in behalf of southern industries, and J. A. Arnold, its representative, is to be called as a witness. The National Association of Manufacturers has not attempted to deal with rate schedules but has figured in attempts to tighten up administrative provisions in the interest of domestic producers.

The National Council of American Importers and Traders has been the chief spokesman for the importers on all the different rate schedules.

Organizations which were represented in the tariff hearings on principal industrial rate schedules included those interested in the following products:

Chemicals, oils and paints; earths, earthenware, and glassware; metals; woods; cotton manufactured goods; wool manufactured goods; silk manufactured goods; paper and books; felt and straw goods; brushes; dolls; lace; pipes; boots and shoes; pencils, and brooms.

GRAVES SOUGHT AS CULT DEATHS INQUIRY GROWS

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Investigators seeking the burial place of the "Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Eleven," religious cult whose members' activities are under investigation here, took up new trails today.

Police said a telephone call from a woman whose identity they declined to divulge, sent them on a new search to a purported cult cemetery. Three members of the religious organization have been reported missing and three others died under circumstances city and county officers regard as mysterious.

A complete coroner's report on the cause of the death of Willa Rhoads, a young cult disciple whose body was kept on ice for more than a year before it was buried, is expected tomorrow. The girl's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Rhoads, are being held for further questioning.

Weird rites of the cult came to light more than a week ago when Clifford Dabney, wealthy oil well operator and former member of the organization, filed a complaint against Mrs. Otis Blackburn and her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Wieland-Rizzio, charging them with grand theft. They are being held in the county jail in lieu of $10,000 bail.

Other deaths being investigated include those of Mrs. Frances May Turner, reported to have been baked in a stone oven to cure her of a strange illness, and Mrs. Harlene Sartoris, whose death certificate was signed several days after she died.

NEW SENATORS IN REBELLION OVER OFFICES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Senate Republican ranks are rent by a new revolt which, so far as the participants are concerned, fades other party splits over tariff, farm relief, and cruisers into insignificance.

Led by Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] a group of the younger Republican regulars are in open rebellion against the senate tradition which dictates that the choicest senate office building suites as well as the most desirable committee assignments must be allocated according to seniority.

Senator Glenn, it became known today, raised the cry "Why be regular when the favors are dished out to the insurgents?" after seeing the spacious suite formerly occupied by the late Senator L. D. Tyson [Dem., Tenn.] allotted to Senator Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.], a radical and consistently anti-administration Republican.

Bolivian Envoy's Daughter Robbed of $24,000 Pearls

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Senorita Mila Patino, daughter of the Bolivian minister to Paris, was robbed of a $24,000 pearl necklace today by a thief who invaded her bedroom during her 15 minute absence. The necklace was given Senorita Patino by her father, who at present is in the United States. Police began search for a valet named Oritz, who left the house shortly after the theft was discovered and failed to return.

THE RIPENED SCHOOL SCANDAL.

John J. Gorman, the former congressman who was a witness and principal actor against William McAndrew in the board of education proceedings which cost that educator his position as superintendent of schools, has retracted statements he made accusing Dr. David Saville Muzzey of distorting American history in the interest of Great Britain.

Dr. Muzzey, the Columbia university historian, was one who did not sit quietly at the ringside of the Chicago school board circus. He sued Mr. Gorman and after the circus ballyhoo had ceased it was discovered by the persons who had clowned the Chicago school system for the amusement and derision of two continents that their antics could take a serious turn. Dr. Muzzey as a historian whose reputation had been outraged by the circus acts had a case. Mr. Gorman's associates, as might have been expected, ran out on him and left him holding the bill for the damages.

In this condition Mr. Gorman's prudence and discretion prevailed. He has made an apology and a complete retraction. The great King George case rounds out in consistent ignominy.

Gorman in his letter of retraction says that he had not read the Muzzey history which he said was unfit for use in American schools. He had not himself prepared the statement concerning the book which he signed and sent to Mayor Thompson. He admits he had no basis for the things he said in his testimony before the school trial board. There was no justification for the statements he made reflecting upon the patriotism of Dr. Muzzey. The culprit professes contrition and the suit against him has been dismissed in consequence. The historian is satisfied with the apologetic retraction which now illuminates the disgraceful proceedings against Mr. McAndrew.

The whole attack was peculiarly vile, in itself condemning all the political manipulators and political louts who participated in it. It was intended to remove all decency from control of the schools and give them over to gangsters for wrecking. The first requirement of the scheme was the removal of the able and conscientious educator who was superintendent. In a trial of incredible nonsense his position was to be taken from him and his means of livelihood were to be injured or destroyed. The general reputation which he enjoyed as an educator was to be tarnished if possible by charges reflecting upon his patriotism and his honor and with him out of the way spoils politics would be free to do its worst with the educational system of the city. In part the plot, for all its unbelievable clowning, succeeded. Chicago gained a name for lunacy and lost a distinguished superintendent of schools. He lost a position to which he would have been glad to contribute his usefulness. The schools got a new lot of scandals.

This piece of political villainy was highly decorated with buffoonery regarding King George and British gold and was circulated to the amusement and amazement of half the civilized world. It attacked such historians as Dr. Muzzey with false testimony and distorted and garbled extracts from the works to prove that Dr. McAndrew had proved his unfitness by indorsing them.

One of Gorman's contributions was to say of Dr. Muzzey's history that it was "an insidious, vile lot of pro-British propaganda," that it scorned the revolutionary patriots and was "utterly unfit to be put in the hands of our school children."

Gorman has eaten these statements. His associates and backers have taken to the woods. The circus has closed down, but the schools have not yet recovered. The thing is a disgrace in recollection and Dr. McAndrew, having lost the place in which the Chicago schools needed him, has a case against the perpetrators of the outrage which it is to be hoped he is in a legal position to press.

THE ALDERMEN AND MR. FAHERTY.

The special assessment committee of the city council voted in favor of Michael Faherty's delightful scheme to get money for street improvements without asking the voters for their consent. Now Ald. Nelson, chairman of the committee, has promised to have the matter reconsidered jointly by the finance committee and the special assessment committee before it is finally presented to the council for a vote. He will request this further consideration at the council meeting on Thursday.

A better plan would be to kill the proposal at the first opportunity instead of kicking it about from committee to committee. The measure has nothing to recommend it. It is an attempt by Faherty to get money to spend which the voters have repeatedly refused to give him because of lack of confidence in him. It cannot be pretended that there is no other means of obtaining the desired improvement of Ogden avenue. The money will be forthcoming, as money for other city plan improvements has been found, as soon as the voters and taxpayers have reason to think that their money is going to be spent fairly. In fact, the Ogden avenue improvement is likely to be delayed by litigation testing the validity of the Faherty scheme if the council votes its approval.

The proposal at this time would be opposed to the public interest even if Faherty were out of the picture. The corporate fund of the city will come up to the year 1930 with a deficit estimated at $12,000,000. At the same time the city's income from taxes next year is to be less than has been anticipated in recent budgets. With this crisis to meet, the city council is being asked to add an annual charge of $250,000 to the corporate fund for the next twenty years.

The vote of the aldermen on this issue is being watched with particular attention. Any alderman who supports the Faherty scheme writes himself down indelibly as a creature of the city hall machine, devoid of independence, and committed to the régime of spoils. The vote on this proposal will not be forgotten because it cannot be forgotten.

ADVERTISING AND THE DOCTORS.

The bulletin of the Chicago Medical society has published a suggestion that the society undertake a campaign of advertising. The purpose of the campaign would be "the education of the profession, of the public and especially of the philanthropists in the economic and scientific problems before us." Such a campaign, it is argued, will "strengthen our position . . . and return the profession to its former enviable position."

The recommendation, if adopted, would connote a considerable departure from recent thinking and action in the society. The society only a few months ago dismissed from its membership Dr. Louis Schmidt on a showing that a charitable clinic with which this eminent physician was connected drew financial support from the Public Health institute, a pay clinic organized by leading citizens of Chicago and operated for public service and not for profit. Dr. Schmidt's offense seems to have lain, in large part, in the fact that the Public Health institute advertised its services.

Now that the society is seriously considering an advertising campaign of its own, it can no longer maintain that advertising of itself is evil. Indubitably there are medical advertisements which are vicious. THE TRIBUNE, among other newspapers, rejects pages of proffered medical announcements every year, but it is as true of advertising as of carbolic acid that its value cannot be judged apart from the uses to which it is put. Advertising is simply one of the tools of contemporary society. It is absurd, as the doctors appear to be finding out, to stigmatize the use of that tool as unethical without considering the character of the men who use it and the ends for which they employ it.

RAILROAD PROGRESS.

The North Western railroad has established a bus service between Chicago and Denver. This is perhaps the most ambitious bus line venture undertaken by any American railroad and indicates a willingness on the part of the North Western management to experiment in new fields. We can hope that it foreshadows a similar aggressiveness in improving the rail service in northern Illinois.

At present the railroad is losing business to bus lines and private automobiles. The loss could be regained if the railroad would electrify its services. The railroad starts with the advantage of a better roadbed and separated or guarded crossings, which permit continuous operation at high speed. The fact that buses often compete in time schedules on nearly equal terms with the railroads is a grave reflection upon railroad managements. Electric operation would permit faster starting and stopping. It might also encourage the railroad to revise its estimate of the time required to cover a given distance between stations. It is absurd that an automobile, driven along a cluttered road, with frequent curves and points of danger, should be able to keep pace with a railroad train with an unobstructed track.

Editorial of the Day

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN EXAMPLE.

[New York World.]

This hope or none. * * * If Britain and America, with the same great mother tongue in common, with so many similarities in democratic institutions and social ideas, with all their practical ties and human intimacies—if these two proved unable to set an unbreakable example of good understanding there could be no rational hope that any other nations truly and completely "foreign" to each other would appease their feuds and learn instead to live in creative harmony.

* * * *

Thus writes Mr. J. L. Garvin in his essay on "The English Speaking World" in his new edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica. But the force of the Anglo-American example is not precisely that which Mr. Garvin assigns to it. He argues that because the two peoples have so many reasons for agreement they can set an example which will be of the utmost hopefulness. It might better be said that because they have so many excuses for disagreement their example may be of the utmost impressiveness. If we consider the circumstances under which the two great English speaking divisions now live, we see that they are the two foremost rivals for markets and commercial wealth. They have between them the supremacy of the seas, which for four centuries has been the decisive factor in world history, which no great power ever before failed to covet, and which no nation has ever yet surrendered to another without a grim struggle. They are both highly aggressive, with pasts which are strewn with battle and annexation; they have fought two memorable wars with one another. Within the memory of multitudes now living, in 1895, they were so close to war again that an untoward incident might have precipitated hostilities. It is useless to speak of common blood strains as demanding peace, for civil wars are among the most frequent in history; it is useless to point to the common language, for this ease in understanding one another has often been a positive irritant. Mr. Garvin's statement might well be recast. It would be both truer and more hopeful to say that if these two peoples, with their clear rivalry, their record of past conflict, and their numerous points of friction, can come to an understanding which makes war unthinkable, then any two nations on earth can do so.

END OF HEALTHFUL SEASON.

THE beginning of October marks the end of the healthful season. Except in the highly malarial sections the people individually and collectively have been very healthy since about the first of June, as they have been every other year for a decade, or even for a quarter of a century.

With October the common cold becomes prevalent. By November there are complaints of sore throat. Somewhere around Thanksgiving begins the season where public meetings are disturbed by coughers. By the first of next year pneumonia will be the great menace. Meanwhile there has been an increasing prevalence of diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, and whooping cough and soon smallpox unlimbers its guns.

During the summer the people have been storing up sunshine like the bees store honey. As winter progresses they will begin drawing on their storehouses for aid in fighting their microbic foes. Those who are in a position to run away to climates which permit of life in the open air and sunshine all winter need not use up all they have stored. But business will hold the adults in their prime and the schools will hold the children. The members of this group should get all the sunlight and air they can. There is no danger of excess dosage now and there will be none until late in spring. In many places artificial light as a means of piecing out will be available. Much resistance can be built up through such agencies as cold baths and long walks. The autumn and early winter weather is well suited to long walks and, as a rule, the "going is good" and the woods and fields are inviting. Getting fit as a preparation for midwinter and early spring combats with infection might very well be a part of the late fall job. Wise men will avoid contact with people easily identified as spreaders of contagion—those who are coughing, sneezing, and complaining of colds.

And, finally, my opinion is that the evidence in favor of vaccination against colds is somewhat better than that which indicates its uselessness.

CHANCES WITH ANEMIA.

P. J. H. writes: How fatal is pernicious anemia? I may have had this for about two years. Is this the worst form or just a beginning anemia? The people who have had anemia in this town died within one to two years.

REPLY.

Until the liver diet was discovered anemia was regarded as invariably fatal. Many of the cases died in a year or less after the onset of the disease. A few lived five years or more.

Pernicious anemia is the worst form of anemia.

Under proper use of the liver diet the disease appears to be curable. At any rate, cases treated that way are living in comfort several years after the onset of the disease. We should wait about ten years before pronouncing them cured.

CAUSE AND EFFECT INTERCHANGEABLE.

M. B. writes: I know a young girl who undoubtedly upsets her digestion many times by exercising no control over her anger. Do you agree?

REPLY.

Digestion is very much influenced by emotion. Whether it be secretion of digestive juices, or muscular work by the stomach and intestines, absorption or action by the liver on the products of digestion is profoundly influenced by anger.

SANITARIUMS FOR T. B.

M. V. H. writes: The doctors advise me I have tuberculosis. I have no money. Where can I go to get cured? I lost thirty pounds in six months.

REPLY.

There are tuberculosis hospitals for cases such as yours. Some are run by the state, others by the county or city or by philanthropy.

JACKSON PARK RATS.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—[Friend of the People.]—In the old fashioned garden on the Wooded island in Jackson park I recently saw numerous young rats. An onlooker advised me that he had seen rats there climb up the hollyhock stems and eat the hollyhock seeds. I have also seen rats at the golf shelter near 63d street. With the onset of cold weather, the rats run into basements along 63d street. F. L. L.

It is true, there have been quite a number of these rodents in evidence, especially during and since the dry spell last summer. This condition has appeared for a number of years when the weather becomes hot and dry. Remnants of food left by picnickers, and the presence of water, together with the refuge afforded by the shrubbery and a few buildings on the Wooded island, seem to attract the animals. However, we wage continual war against them with traps and other devices. It is difficult during the warm season to keep them entirely eliminated because there appears to be an influx from the buildings surrounding the park. With the approach of cool weather and the lessening of picnic remnants, the rats that are not eliminated disappear. We trust this nuisance will soon be eliminated.

General Superintendent, South Park Commissioners.

AND ANOTHER HAY FEVER VICTIM.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—[Friend of the People.]—Why has the lot at the corner of Dover street and Lawrence avenue, which is filled with ragweeds, been neglected? E. S.

An inspector has been assigned to make a thorough investigation, and if any violation is observed over which we have jurisdiction, proper action will be taken to effect an abatement. ARNOLD B. KEGEL,
Commissioner of Health.

WIDOW'S RIGHTS.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A, a widow with children, marries B, a widower with children. B is now considering converting all of his properties into cash and investing some in a large apartment building. 1. What is the Wisconsin law in case of B dying intestate in regard to the right of A in the apartment building? 2. Would the building be considered a homestead if one apartment was occupied by A and B? 3. As such, would A have complete possession with the right to pass same on to her children, or would she merely get her dower right. F. D. B.

1. The wife named receives one-third.
2. Yes, to the extent of $5,000.
3. The value would probably be set off to her. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MARKET LETTER.

RECOVERY was the order in the stock mart last week. In the more volatile shares this recovery was marked, but in many others it was like the recovery of the chap who takes a count of nine, staggers to his feet, and finishes the ten rounds, only to lose the referee's decision. Call money was easier, but time money continued firm, we are informed. We're not quite sure what time money is, but have been told it is money in the future. That is what money is to most of us, so no wonder it is difficult to obtain.

An encouraging factor was hardness in Steel, a market leader. When steel becomes soft it is faulty. We were flashed a message on Western Union, but it came night letter, so was too late to inform you in our last weekly review, but it delivered.

Perhaps the worst is over for the present, since the expected secondary reaction did not materialize, but it is well not to forget those monthly statements with brokerage interest charges of 9½ and 10 per cent. They'll repeat unless money eases materially. Resiliency, too, has not definitely asserted itself, even in the rubber shares. We still advise caution, but will suggest selective commitments from time to time.

One of those we recommend strongly is Continental-Illinois Bank and Trust Company, selling about $340 per share. We advise each reader who follows our market letter to buy 500 to 1,000 shares for cash and put it away for twenty years. During that period we foresee substantial appreciation. For the more immediate future sell on the bulges and buy on the dips.

SONG OF AUTUMN.

Oh, the summer days are passing—
Autumn's breath is everywhere,
And the listlessness of summer
Has departed from the air.
Golden gowns now robe the grasses,
Silver streams now sing and flash
Mirrored sumacs in their ripples
In a wat'ry brilliant splash.

Oh, the autumn winds are singing
High up in the poplar trees,
And their song is one of beauty
Low and dreamy on the breeze.
All but crickets stop their noises,
Hearkening to the melody,
And the songbirds listen—silent—
To the Fall Winds' harmony.

Oh, the marsh reeds hear the music
As the singing winds bend low,
'Midst the rustling leaves whose dullness
Is replaced by a warm glow;
And the cat-tails sway in rhythm
And the waving grasses hum—
For the whole outdoors adores it
When the singing Fall Winds come.

A NEW MAN ON THE JOB

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 14, 1864.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Chief Justice Roger B. Taney of the United States Supreme court died at his home in Baltimore at the age of 87.

EDITORIAL.—The death of Chief Justice Taney is announced. For all men there is a time to die. His hour had long been foreshadowed by age advanced far beyond the common limit of human life, yet prolonged from year to year as if to secure historic fitness in the date of his demise. The central citadel of slavery was carried by the people at the elections on Tuesday and the venerable old warder is found lifeless in the gateway. The temple of the man stealers has been rent from foundation to roof and the ancient high priest lies cold at the altar. The walls slavery had long maintained against the advance of Liberty are breached and fallen, and the chief custodian sits lifeless by the main buttress, with his well rusted keys fast in his hands. To drop metaphor, for nearly thirty years the late chief justice, whose other relations to public and private life have been eminently useful and honorable, has held a position where he has never betrayed one trust imposed upon him, to guard well the institution of man selling. He summed up the labors of a lifetime in the Dred Scott decision.

NEW YORK.—The Richmond Whig has a dispatch from Augusta, Ga., which says the reported capture by the confederates of Rome, Ga., with 3,000 Negroes, is confirmed. The Yankees destroyed all their stores and two squares in the business part of the town.

CHICAGO.—Louis C. Daemicke and Miss Maggie Bishop, both of Chicago, were married in Blue Island on Oct. 9 by the Rev. Aug. Reinke.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 14, 1899.

LONDON.—War in the Transvaal is now an actuality, and, as was expected, the Boers fired the first guns at an armored train between Vryburg and Mafeking, which was thrown off the track and shelled by artillery. No authentic report of casualties has been received, but rumors are the killed number ten or fifteen and the wounded from a dozen to twenty. A sanguinary meeting is expected at Mafeking hourly. The Orange burghers have crossed into Natal via Tintwa pass and are advancing on Ladysmith, where the British are well defended with 3,000 troops. At last reports the Boers were moving on Glencoe, where there are 10,000 British.

GLENCOE CAMP.—The Boers have occupied Spitzkop, near Newcastle.

KIMBERLEY.—The report that fighting has taken place at Kraaipan is officially confirmed.

PARIS.—Gen. Roget, who at the Dreyfus trial at Rennes said it was his duty to defend the honor of French officers, defended it so well last night that he half killed Col. Schneider, former Austrian attaché, in a mysterious duel. Schneider, wounded and bleeding, was taken out of France.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 14, 1919.

CHICAGO.—Federal authorities in their investigations of the "Reds" at Gary have obtained evidence clearing up the terrorist bomb plots of last May day and June 2, it was learned last night. The man who made the bomb which was exploded in the doorway of the home of United States Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer in Washington on the night of June 3 is said to be in custody. He is believed to be the maker of the bombs which were exploded in eight other cities on the same night.

WASHINGTON.—While the actual condition of President Wilson and the question that has arisen regarding his constitutional inability to discharge the duties of his office were being discussed officially in the senate committee on foreign relations, Dr. Grayson and the President's other physicians took occasion to disabuse the public mind of any cause for anxiety. Their bulletin said: "The President's condition remains much the same as for the last several days. His temperature, with the exception of one day, pulse and respiration rate, heart action and blood pressure are normal and have been so since the onset of his illness."

A READER.

A WINTER RESORT.

Richland Center, Wis., Oct. 10.—Your editorial, "Zona Gale and Military Training," muffed the point. If you will send a reporter up to Madison, or get a copy of the catalog as soon as it is printed, you will see why the University of Wisconsin has gone Zona.

Recently a prominent member of the teacher staff declared that "the University of Wisconsin was the most highly organized society institution in the country." Students from every state in the Union flock to Madison because of its reputation, not for scholastic attainments, but for its good times. It is known as the winter resort of universities. And since the majority of the male students are tea hounds, how can you expect them to condescend to anything so democratic and so taxing to physical energy as military training?

These society buds make good business for Madison, but the university is a frightfully expensive ornament for the taxpayers of Wisconsin.

However, they are growing tired of talk and proms and the day is coming when Wisconsin scholarship and Wisconsin military training will be restored to their former glory. BADGER.

OPERA SUBSIDY, WHY NOT MOVIE?

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Will somebody tell me why any one having a little surplus money on hand with which he might help worthy charities should donate money to pay the deficit on grand opera? Wouldn't it be just as ethical for the movie picture owners to pass the hat around when they're in financial difficulty?

A solicitor for the grand opera company used every argument he could think of to get me to be one of the guarantors. He pointed out that in Europe the governments support these enterprises, and said a great many music lovers of this country wouldn't be able to attend grand opera if somebody didn't pay the deficit. Well, for one, I'd hate to think I was going to a show on charity, and so would most lovers of grand opera if they knew their dollar tickets were partly paid for by charity.

And another thing, as Andy Gump says, enough grand opera for any one to hear can be witnessed very often in high class movie houses, and afterward a good screen picture can be seen to recompense for having had to see any grand opera. PERCY GRAINGER.

ARCHEOLOGY IN THE LOOP.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 9.—Apropos of Lindbergh's aid to archeologists in uncovering ruins and possible gold in the ancient Mayan country, I wish to say that there is some work for archeologists here in Chicago and right in the center of the loop.

At small expense just a little mowering here, a very slight excavation in fact, will bring into view a lot of pure gold which would not reach the pockets of the excavators but would delight the eyes of the entire city.

A few decades ago I had some business with contractors who erected the present federal building and watched the roofing of its beautiful dome. This roof is of small pieces of half inch thick glass some five inches square. For many years I had one of these pieces on my desk as a paper weight until some one appropriated it.

The under side of each piece of glass is covered with pure gold leaf with a protecting coat of paint. When under construction this gold shone through the glass, but was quickly obscured by an outer coating of city smoke. To my knowledge this dome was never washed, not even once.

Why not wash the postoffice dome and keep it washed and thus restore to view the most dazzling sight in Chicago's sky line?

RUSSIA MAY USE CHEKA TO LOOSEN GRIP OF RAIL JAM

Food and Troops Tied Up in Huge Tangle.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 13.—The task of moving a large army to the far east to reinforce the Red troops already stationed along the Chinese border is proving too much for the Russian railroads. The roads are in a state of disorganization worse than in 1923, when the Cheka chief, Dzerjinski, was ordered to terrorize the railroad administration into efficiency.

Dzerjinski forced a semblance of efficiency through many executions, and the Moscow press is hinting that similar measures will again be taken by his successor, Menshinski, unless the present tieup is quickly broken.

All Lines Choked.

The trans-Siberian road is choked with long trains of troops and munitions headed east, and grain bound west, while the main lines in the Volga districts, in Ukraine and central Russia report their inability to handle the present traffic. Tens of thousands of tons of sacked grain are lying at wayside stations, being ruined by the weather before it can be transported to distant elevators.

The railroads are also unable to handle fuel, and, when a trainload of coal arrived in Moscow from Lugansk Wednesday workers of six factories paraded in the freight yard behind the tracks, cheering the train crew for its exploit.

No Discipline on Roads.

Production in a majority of factories in the Moscow industrial district has been curtailed because of the inability to transport fuel and raw materials. The Moscow Economic Life reports the situation is getting worse because of a lack of discipline among transportation workers. Because of a shortage of trained personnel the roads are at present operating with less than 25 per cent of the needed experienced engineers and managers.

The famine which has threatened Russian cities since last year's short crop is drawing nearer, according to reports, which says the grain collection is only one-fifth of the amount anticipated. It reports that the peasants are burning their crops rather than accept paper money which they cannot exchange for food at the cooperative stores.

U. S. DRY AGENT TRIED FOR RAID KILLING IN 1927

Opelika, Ala., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Grady Cobb, federal prohibition agent, will be tried before Judge Henry D. Clayton, in United States district court here tomorrow on charges of second degree murder in connection with the slaying of Albert Edmunds in June, 1927.

Edmunds was killed during a liquor raid in Phenix City, Ala., which was directed by Cobb and in which he was assisted by Phenix City police.

Approximately fifty witnesses, most of them residents of Phenix City, have been called. Cobb was first held on a charge of murder in the first degree but later was indicted by a Russell county grand jury on a second degree charge.

Last fall the case was removed to federal court on application of the defendant. Since the slaying he has been free under a bond of $10,000 and is active in the prohibition enforcement department at the present time.

The defense contends that Edmunds threatened Cobb with a knife. Cobb will be defended by United States District Attorney Grady Reynolds of Montgomery and three other lawyers. The prosecution will be directed by Solicitor Tom Patterson of the third Alabama judicial district, assisted by others.

Newest of the Net Family! The BROWN Jersey Net Formal Afternoon Gown

Finer than the large fish net—larger than classic net, with just the right amount of "body" to tailor well, Jersey net achieves daytime distinction. Draped yoke with scarf extending over the left shoulder, fitted hips and an extremely long and becoming skirt of irregular length mark its silhouette and detail as new as its fabric. In two other important shades, green or red, $165

BROWN Velvet and Mink Portray the New Formality in Afternoon Coats

A luxurious fur and equally luxurious fabric unite in the afternoon coat of unusual distinction. The soft silk velvet assumes wrap-around lines—the mink fur forms a very deep shawl collar and cuffs that extend more than half way up the sleeves. It is one of an important collection of formal daytime coats just arrived for the Chicago season.

Supple Rich Peltries, for Which the Fur Salon Is Famous, Fashion the New Dressmaker Coats

The Dressmaker coat with its skins manipulated like fine fabric reaches an epitome of perfection in our Fur Salon where beauty of peltry and workmanship have always been requisite.

The Eastern Mink Coat, pictured, a masterpiece of matching deep rich skins—is no less a masterpiece of fashion newness—with its deep shawl collar and very slight flaring front. It is $13,000

Single also in its perfection is a Russian Sable wrap, not illustrated, of very choice dark skins in the new forty-five inch length. It is $18,000

The collection includes white Russian ermine, Bolivian Chinchilla, black broadtail and caracul—and is limited to wraps of a unique perfection and distinction.

PORTO RICO PEPS UP UNDER MAGIC NAME OF 'TEDDY'

Islanders Happy Over New Chief.

BY HARWOOD HULL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 13.—His first Columbus day in Porto Rico as the island's governor, Theodore Roosevelt found himself in the only land under the American flag where the discoverer set foot. The island's recorded history dates from its discovery in 1493 on the second voyage of Columbus.

By chance, the chief handicap under which Gov. Roosevelt started his administration this week is due to two wholly unrelated events. His birthday, Sept. 13, falls on the anniversary of the San Felipe hurricane of last year, the most destructive storm which has ever struck the island. The superstitious, the critical and the wisecrackers have not permitted the coincidence to pass unnoticed.

The Bespectacled Saint.

And Gov. Roosevelt's coming also has recalled to old-timers a story of almost thirty years ago of a peddler who had difficulty in selling pictures of President Roosevelt, whom he described as a popular saint in the United States, because the President wore glasses. Saints popular in Porto Rican homes were unspectacled. Even though he was a forerunner of today's high pressure salesmen the peddler had difficulty putting over pictures of the presidential saint.

Not a few here consider President Hoover's selection of Theodore Roosevelt as governor as indicating the President's desire to have some one rediscover Porto Rico anew for the United States. For Uncle Sam, Theodore Roosevelt may become a second Cristobal Colón. President Hoover told a Porto Rican commission in Washington some months ago that he believed new blood was needed in the island administration. The Roosevelt appointment followed.

Not until there is public sentiment in the United States regarding Porto Rico, the President told the commission, can there be any intelligent determination of policy for the island and its 1,500,000 American citizens. While the President did not say so in so many words, his appointment convinced the commissioners he believed better understanding and knowledge of Porto Rico might be conveyed to the United States through the medium of the Roosevelt name.

Came at Right Time.

Roosevelt's coming is, many think, at an opportune time. The island has been suffering from the worst economic depression since the post-war slump. This was due chiefly to the destruction of the storm of last year, the full effects of which have only recently been felt. Those familiar with conditions believe the worst has been reached and that any change will be for the better.

There is now a better tone. There is more expression of optimism, which, it is believed, will be reflected in an actual improvement of business. Certainly the mental attitude of the island is better.

Crop Outlook Good.

Agriculturally the island is definitely on the road to recovery. A normal citrus crop is being harvested that promises to be profitable. Last year's crop was wholly destroyed. A fair tobacco crop has been disposed of and preparations are being made for the next planting. The sugar output for next year promises to be the largest in the island's history and prices are expected to be considerably better than for the last crop, on which the island lost money.

A year from now it is likely that the island will produce 50 per cent of a normal coffee crop, where there has been practically none for two years. Through financing, made possible by congress, many farms, the chief source of island wealth, are being put under cultivation again. Employment is still inadequate, as always, but there is hope that Gov. Roosevelt wil give serious thought to industrialization of the island as a means of ultimately providing work for idle thousands.

HOLLAND SEES ZEPPELIN; SHIP SALUTES QUEEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Oct. 13.—Thousands of persons saw the Graf Zeppelin fly over Holland today under the command of Dr. Hugo Eckener. The German airship left Friedrichshafen last night and entered Dutch territory at Delfzijl in the extreme northeast corner of Holland at 6:30 this morning, and then turned to the southward, passing over Rotterdam, The Hague, Amsterdam, and Utrecht.

The airship circled the peace palace at The Hague and dipped its nose in salute when it flew over the summer palace "Het Loo," where Queen Wilhelmina and the royal family watched the great gas bag. The ship returned to Friedrichshafen this afternoon.

Seize Zep Stowaway.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Another stowaway was discovered on the Graf Zeppelin today just before the airship took off for a flight to Holland. The would-be passenger was a Dutch mechanic, Gerhard Koepker, 26. He was arrested.

alone can inspire This Gracious Mode

in Velvet

The illusive depths, the supple downward flowing lines, the suddenly revealed slipper tops approach genius of artistry when worked in rich velvets.

in Satin

Shimmering folds of satin catch every play of light, giving movement to the statuesque silhouette. Designed with Grecian simplicity the richness of satin is enough.

in Metal Brocade

The heavy satins encrusted with gold or silver lame mould the hips, descend in long, crisp flutes and trail with regal formality to inspire this gracious mode.

"TEMPO TENDON DEVAB HOOTED"

AND GRAPEFRUIT REACHES YOUR TABLE FRESH FROM DISTANT SUNNY LANDS

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES picked under the tropic sun must start at once to buyers. Negotiations are conducted by Postal Telegraph—swift, accurate, reliable. This same speed-marketing is spreading through all business.

CRYPTIC words—a Postal telegram in code meaningless to all except the grapefruit shipper and the buyer. And yet, in the use of those four code words, lie the reasons why grapefruit is so good and so broadly distributed in regions foreign to its growth.

Postal Telegraph is the vital nerve which completes the deal between the grower with fruit to sell and the store with customers to supply. Such messages bring fresh fruit in prime condition.

Quotations, sales orders, shipping directions—speeded over the enlarged Postal Telegraph—make the solution of high inventories, of slow turnovers whatever the kind of goods.

All business is turning to this service. And for these reasons: Speed, Accuracy, Reliability. A written record of the delivered message. Privacy for sender. Instant attention of recipient. World-wide wire connections.

Postal Telegraph, through affiliations in the International System, goes round the world: to Europe, Asia, the Orient over Commercial Cables; to the West Indies, Central and South America over All America Cables; even to ships at sea through Mackay Radio.

FRESH GRAPEFRUIT—how good it is! Postal telegrams have brought it thus fresh to your table—telegrams from local merchant to wholesaler, from wholesaler to grower. Business everywhere is using the Postal Telegraph to insure speed and accuracy in all transactions.

MINISTER LAUDS PIONEERS BACK OF OLD COLLEGE

Famous Illinois School Dedicates Library.

Jacksonville, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Two notable addresses and the dedication of the Tanner Memorial Library building featured the Sunday program of the Illinois college centennial celebration. "The Fruits of Religion" was the theme of Dr. Fred B. Smith of New York City, moderator of the national council of the Congregational church, who addressed an audience of 3,000 assembled under the convocation tent on the college hill campus this morning.

"Adventures with Books" was the subject of the address delivered by Dr. Edgar Johnston Goodspeed of the University of Chicago, professor of Biblical and Patristic Greek.

Dr. Smith, himself the son of a pioneer, who went over land into Iowa in the '50s, paid glowing tribute to the intrepid courage of the pioneer founders of Illinois college who possessed faith in God, faith in the country, and faith in the future.

Teachings Were Vital.

"God was a reality to them," Dr. Smith said. "Life had a divine destiny and as I speak this morning in remembrance of these eternal facts, I believe that what these men taught upon this campus one hundred years ago, and in all the subsequent years, is more important to the preservation of civilization now than ever in history. I believe in the future of the Christian college. As we pass this 100th anniversary I join you in prayer and expectation that the years to come shall be fraught with even greater success.

"The greatest of all perplexities in theology has been to reconcile the infinite goodness of God with his omnipotence. Our institutions are growing older and as we pass along we are oft times shocked by incidents which almost cause us to lose faith in God, in our fellowmen and in ourselves.

"When, however, the nations threw away all reason and rushed into the slaughter of 1914, Christianity did not fail. It was but an evidence that treaties, pacts, leagues and courts are futile until a deep moral and spiritual dynamic has been made the supreme basis of international concord.

Premier's Ship Greatest.

"It was a great ship that brought Columbus to America; it was a great ship that landed the Pilgrims on the shores of New England. It was a great ship that took a Lindbergh and three sandwiches across the Atlantic to a landing field in Paris. It was a great ship that carried an Eckener around the world on the Graf Zeppelin, and I marvelled as I witnessed the landing in New York, but the greatest ship that ever came to America was the one that came the other day bringing Ramsay MacDonald, a Presbyterian, Labor prime minister of England to sit down on a log in Virginia beside a Quaker President of the United States to declare that war shall be no more.

"The Christian religion is the hope of the world, because it has moral sanction in it. As I travel over the country I am aware that many of the so-called churches are only ecclesiastical garages with high salaried chauffeurs, yet never was I more sure of the sanction of the Christian gospel as I am this morning. If there is no Beulahland, I wish I never had been born. The gospel of Christ is the only answer to the mystery of sorrow in the world. I know that my redeemer liveth."

Goodspeed Dedicates Library.

Dr. Goodspeed, speaking in connection with the dedication of the Edward Tanner Memorial library, a $200,000 building erected to the memory of former President Tanner (1882-1892), paid tribute to the educator's faith and scholarship.

He said: "No age has built so many libraries as our age. If a college can send its students out with the marvelous possibilities of the adventure with books, it has sent them out with educational processes of infinite value. Those who seriously value the present, seriously value the past and both past and present, find one of their supreme expressions in books."

President Rammelkamp of Illinois college, in an address of tribute, called attention to the Mason Grosvenor, Marian B. Tanner, Edward P. Kirby, and John M. Butler memorials in the new library building, and the exercises were concluded when Dennison B. Hull of Chicago, the architect, in a brief address, declared the building completed and turned over the keys to the president and board of trustees.

WARNS FRANCE TO KEEP TROOPS IN RHINELAND

Await Young Plan 'Reality,' Urges Ex-War Chief

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 13.—A stern warning to France to fortify its frontiers, reorganize its army, and await the complete operation of the Young plan—meaning the commercialism of reparations by turning them into an international bond issue—before evacuating the third zone of the Rhineland, was launched today by Andre Maginot, former minister of war, in a speech marking the inauguration of a memorial to war heroes at Longueville.

M. Maginot, a maimed war veteran, was one of former Premier Poincare's chief political lieutenants and is one of the leaders of the nationalist element in France.

Urges Rushing Defensive Works.

He insisted in his speech that the French people were entitled to a security, which will not come until the world sees complete disarmament, which, he said, is still a long way off. He urged rushing the defensive works, which the government has begun, and estimated that the cost would eventually amount to $160,000,000.

He stressed the necessity of regrouping the military units and reorganizing the seasoned divisions, having headquarters along the frontier, as covering forces against a possible recurrence of the German invasion.

"The great majority of French public opinion believes that the only means of safeguarding our interests is by maintaining our troops on the Rhine until the Young plan becomes a reality," said M. Maginot.

Since the Young plan officially superseded the Dawes plan Sept. 1, this means what the French generally mean, by the date the Young plan becomes effective—when the reparations annuities are mobilized and placed on the world market as a gigantic international loan in the form of a bond issue covering the unconditional series of reparations payments over a period of 37 years.

Must Protect Frontier.

"Security can be secured by disarmament on condition that it is general and complete," continued M. Maginot. "Otherwise a nation wishing to enjoy peace must take precautions, which may ultimately assure its defense.

"Our frontier is wide open and awaits organization. Regarding covering forces, who will dare say they are secured in positive fashion. We must also push the work for equipment of our frontier. Our covering forces must be sufficiently powerful to prevent invasion."

CAROLINA JURY TO HEAR STORIES OF DEFENDANTS

Radical and Irreligious Views May Bar Some.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The third week of the trial of Fred Erwin Beal, communist strike leader, and six others for the murder of Chief of Police O. F. Aderholt of Gastonia and the wounding of three police officers will begin tomorrow with the defendants taking the stand to tell their side of the battle of the night of June 7 between strikers and police.

Beal probably will take the stand tomorrow, according to J. Frank Flowers, counsel for the defense, and may precede all the others.

Both counsel for the prosecution and the defense were of the opinion that the verdict of the jury would be determined largely by the impression made by the defendants on the stand. With the testimony of the defendants will come also Judge M. V. Barnhill's ruling on the motion presented by the prosecution last week, that the Sacco-Vanzetti and other celebrated radical cases be used as precedents in the cross-examination of the defendants in the present case.

Communism and Atheism.

The prosecution contends that the communist and anti-religious views of the defendants should affect their guilt or innocence.

While in his previous rulings Judge Barnhill has indicated that the "political affiliations" of the defendants did not constitute competent evidence against them, he has hinted that "their individual views" with regard to the violent overthrow of the government "may play a part." Under this procedure the denial by a witness of affiliation with the communist party was sufficient to shut off further questions on the matter. It is expected, therefore, that the injection of the communist issue will depend upon the extent to which the defendants reveal a belief in ineffable violence.

May Bar Nonbelievers.

But the issue may arise this week as to whether or not defendants "who do not believe in God" shall be permitted to testify. Under a North Carolina statute of 1777 a person who has "no fear of punishment in the hereafter" cannot be permitted to be a witness. The statute has never been enforced until last month, when Ben Wells, a British communist, was denied permission to testify because of his denial of a supreme being. A similar protest may be lodged when Clarence Miller takes the stand this week. The last decision on this matter by the Supreme court of North Carolina, in 1777, permitted a witness to testify who declared that while he did not believe in divine punishment in the hereafter he did believe in divine punishment in this world.

Beal is expected to occupy the stand all day tomorrow and it is upon him that the prosecution plans to concentrate the fire of its cross-examination. The other defendants are W. M. McGinnis, George Carter, Joseph Harrison, K. Y. Hendricks, and Louis McLaughlin. Only McGinnis and McLaughlin have thus far been directly involved in the shooting, McGinnis having been shown to have fired the first and McLaughlin the second shot. The fate of the rest, according to counsel, will depend on the extent to which the state will have proven the existence of a conspiracy among all the defendants.

Promises More Strikes.

This afternoon at a conference of the Trade Union Unity league, William Z. Foster, leader of American communism, announced that the communists had decided to transfer their principal activities to the south and predicted a series of new strikes in the future in the textile, tobacco, mining, lumber and other industries.

BRITISH-DUTCH RUBBER PARLEY UNLIKELY, CLAIM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—Joint action on the part of British and Dutch rubber producers in the sale of a small percentage of their output is regarded as improbable in the weekly review of the crude rubber situation by F. B. Henderson, issued by the rubber exchange of New York. Mr. Henderson says the British companies are paying dividends at the present prices and are reluctant to interfere with the free movement of the commodity.

"The trade is awaiting the outcome of the meeting of the Dutch plant interest on Oct. 22," states the review. In the event they agree on some form of an international selling scheme the British growers will doubtless be invited to participate.

THE NOTES THAT FASHION DICTATES ARE STUDIED
BY THE BUSINESS WOMAN

Color is given much consideration, and what an important incident it is to have black, the greens and browns first on smart color charts. Women know they are especially complementary to their business wardrobes. Silhouette in her case will need to be varied. A coat that has utility features but luxurious quality, therefore smart for all wearing, should be her first thought. Frocks, to be both chic and practical, must not be too different in silhouette from the coat. The frocks selected here have every desirable feature and every one will add variety. Hats and shoes follow in color complement. Accessories, too, have a color unit, matching or contrasting. Variety here meets every taste.

Fine Choice in Frocks at $17.50 to $95
Coats from $55 to $150, Ensembles, $65 to $150

Frocks, $45

A frock which may be worn from business to dinner. Skillful designing has given it this valuable feature. With skirt cut and manipulated, blouse and sleeves out of the ordinary but still in tailored effect. Black, green, brown, red, blue silk crepe. Sizes for women. At left.

Fourth Floor, North, State.

Coats, $110

A luxurious coat of imported tweed in Oxford or brown. The brown mixture has beaver collar. Oxford mixture, a kit fox collar. Sizes for women. Extreme right.

Ensembles, $95

The tweed ensemble takes on richness of color in its smart, loose weave. Green, brown, red and blue. Blouse of silk in blending shades. Women and misses. Center.

Fourth Floor, North, State.

Soleils and Felts Have Flattery Minus Furbelows

The soleil hat, at left, has complicated manipulation. Its lustrous surface reflects black, green, brown and all the other colors. In the Main Section. $10.

The felt hat, at the right, handles the brim in the new way—shallow in front and longer in back. Black and all colors. Trotteur Section. $7.50.

Tweed Knit Suit, $27.50

Street, office, and sports all claim it. For the Business Woman this particularly smart style in green, brown, wine, purple, blue. Excellently tailored.

Fourth Floor, East.

Jersey Frock $22.50

With lingerie touches in handkerchief linen. Black, green, brown, wine, blue. Sizes for misses and women. In the Sports Section.

Fourth Floor, South, State

Silk Crepe Frock, $25

Fitted silhouette simply interpreting the elongated line in fine tucking. One-piece frock in black, green, navy, dahlia. Moderate Price Section.

Fourth Floor, Wabash.

Quilted Satin Robe, $12.75

Tailored, luxuriously warm, this quilted satin robe may be had in black as well as the desired colors. A quilted robe of crepe de Chine is $10.75.

Third Floor, North, State.

Costume Necklaces, $3.50, $5
Carry Out the Color Scheme

A short necklace that lies flat about the base of the throat is one of the newer adaptations in costume jewelry. This unusually flattering necklace comes in green, blue, and brown stones. $3.50.

One of the new longer necklaces is the ideal accessory for the simple frock to which it lends character. Tiny metal beads are used with larger ones of composition stone in tan and green. A most effective piece, $5.

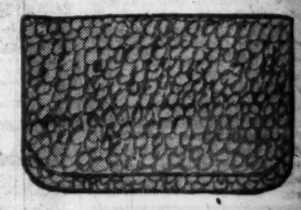
First Floor, South, State.

The Chic of Simplicity in Shoe Modes $10, $13.50

For street and daily wear the Arch-Sustainer has no rival for comfort combined with trim lines and really new styles. This one-strap slipper of calfskin in black or black or brown, $10.

For slightly more dressy wear an entirely different type of shoe is suggested. A four eyelet tie of suede, which comes in black, brown or nautical blue. $13.50.

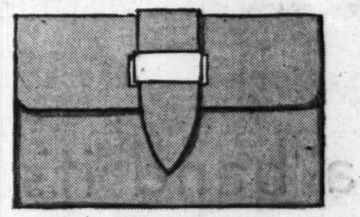
Third Floor, South, State.



Handbags, $10

There are a variety of styles which, like the two sketched, are leather lined. The flat envelope has several inside leather pockets; the lizard grained goatskin (or box calf) has an attached coin purse and is pouch shaped.

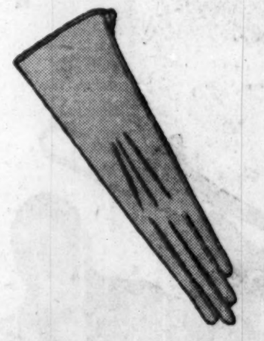
First Floor, South, State.



Capeskin Gloves
Washable Slip-Ons, Of Course, $3.95

Easy to put on when you're in a hurry, smooth of surface so as not to soil too easily, easy to wash when it's necessary.

First Floor, North, State.



Collar and Cuffs
To Enliven the Darker Frock $5

The tailored frock which one finds so necessary for constant all day wear will look less severe in these days of feminine apparel if it boasts such attractive collar and cuffs as these of white, eggshell, or tan satin.

First Floor, North, State.

Fine Silk Hosiery, $1.95
Full-Fashioned and Chiffon Weight

The new Fall shades that are so much more subtle than those we have been wearing are so designed to blend with the shades which dominate the mode in fabrics. These stockings are very fine 45 gauge with lisle reinforced heel and toe, silk to the top, with picot edged tops.

First Floor, North, State.

IT'S MALONE TODAY; CUBS MAKE SERIES STAND

IOWA CREDITS HEAD LINESMAN FOR OHIO'S WIN

Touchdown Scored, Man Offside?

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—It was a disappointed, discouraged and frankly disgusted Iowa team which pulled out of Columbus early today for the tall corn land, all because the Hawkeyes to a man state they were robbed of a victory in the 7 to 6 game yesterday with Ohio State.

Burt Ingwersen said that when Marsh blocked Thomas' kick behind the goal line which was recovered by Larkins for Ohio State's only touchdown of the game that Wesley Fesler, Ohio end, was offside.

Ingwersen claims that J. J. Lipp of Chicago, head linesman, had called Fesler offside on the play and had him from his position on the field to call the penalty, but when the touchdown was scored failed to communicate the infraction to Referee James Masker.

What Rogge Says.

"Lipp called offside on the play that the kick was blocked," declared George R. Rogge, who was the end opposite to Fesler, the player involved.

"I went to him after the play was completed and asked him about it and why he left his position on the side of the field. He merely answered that he had run out on the field to help on the play and not to impose a penalty," declared the Iowa flanker.

The Iowans also are hot under the collar because of Lipp's decision on the touchdown run of Pape, which was called back when Lipp claimed an Iowa player was offside.

These decisions irked Iowa more than the failure of the corn crop. The Hawkeyes came here confident and cocky, and apparently with a better ball team lost by a point to Ohio State.

LIPP EXPLAINS PLAY

J. J. Lipp of Chicago, head linesman in the Iowa-Ohio game Saturday at Columbus, last night denied that an Ohio end was offside on the play which resulted in a touchdown for Ohio and defeated Iowa, 7 to 6.

"The neutral zone was clear as the ball was snapped," he said. "I came running in as the Iowa kick was blocked to assist Referee J. C. Masker in his ruling on the blocked kick."

Here is what Lipp says happened on the disputed play:

"Just before the ball was snapped back by the Iowa center, the Ohio right end charged into the neutral zone, stopped and then jumped back to his position on the scrimmage line. At the same time Iowa's right guard and right tackle also charged prematurely but recovered and jumped back before the ball was put into play.

"Then just as the neutral zone was clear, the Iowa center passed the ball back for the kick. Marsh, Ohio's left tackle, playing on the opposite end of Ohio's line from the man Iowa asserts was offside, blocked the kick. He came through the two Iowa men who had been offside, and it seemed as if they were off balance, Marsh coming through without opposition.

"After the ball was blocked, Larkins, Ohio's right tackle, recovered for the touchdown. Ohio's right end, whom it is alleged was offside, did not figure in the play.

"If the Ohio end had figured in the play Iowa might have a basis for their statements," Lipp concluded.

JOHN VAN RYN TAKES MEXICAN SINGLES TITLE

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 13.—(AP)—John Van Ryn of South Orange, N. J., member of the American Davis Cup team, won the men's singles championship of Mexico today by defeating Ben Gerchakoff, Occidental college star, in a hard fought final match. The scores were 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Marion Williams, an almost unknown player at the start of the tournament, defeated Marjorie Gladman, Santa Monica, Cal., star, in straight sets to capture the women's singles titles. The scores were 7-5, 7-5.

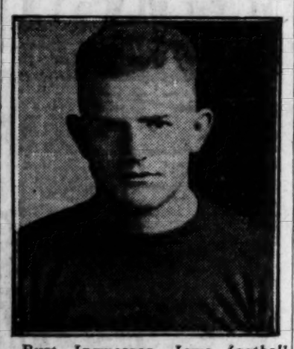
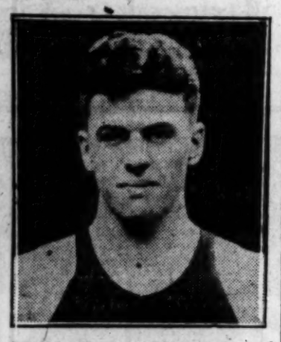
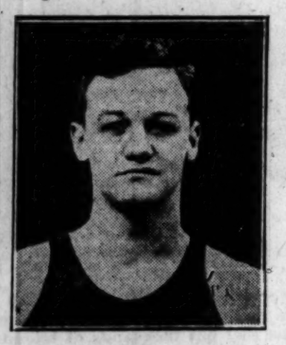
Iowa "Kicks"



Burt Ingwersen, Iowa football coach, who said Head Linesman Lipp failed to call offside on play that defeated Iowa.



Wesley Fesler, Ohio right end, who is said to have been offside when Ohio blocked Iowa kick and won game.



Richard Larkins, Ohio right tackle, who recovered blocked punt for winning touchdown.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Oct. 13.—Dissatisfied with the umpire's decision at a baseball game this afternoon, Luis Salazar pulled a revolver and, adding his protest to that of the general public, fired several shots at the umpire. No casualties resulted, but there followed the greatest stampede in Cuban baseball history. The umpire was lost in the fleeing crowd.

Mr. Salazar was captured by police after falling down and being trampled by the crowd. Several were sent to the hospital with slight injuries.

Prizes for New Boat Race Record Held Pending Probe

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Two American outboard motorboat records were smashed in the national championship races today, but trophies were withheld from the winning pilots pending investigation of complaints by other contestants. Marshall Elbridge, Boston, Mass., sent his class D boat over a five mile course at an average speed of 44.654 miles per hour for a new record, and H. G. Ferguson of Los Angeles covered the same course at 40.43 miles per hour in his class B craft.

WANTED: PLAYER TO TAKE BRUDER'S BACK FIELD JOB

Purple Star Is Taken to Evanston Hospital.

Hank Bruder, star of the Northwestern football team, who received a broken leg in the Wisconsin-Northwestern football game Saturday, came home on a stretcher last night.

Hundreds of students who had anticipated meeting the train were unsuccessful in their efforts yesterday to ascertain when it would arrive. Only three persons met the train. They were Tug Wilson, athletic director; Dick Hanley, football coach, and Jack McKinley, student football manager. The ambulance from the Evanston police station, with an escort of two motorcycle policemen, carried the stretcher on which Bruder lay to the Evanston hospital.

Hanley Seeks Replacement.

Today Hanley will reshuffle his back field in an effort to replace Bruder. Coach Hanley admitted he is up against it. Bruder's running, kicking and defensive ability was far above that of any of the available back field candidates. Al Moore, sturdy little sophomore, who has been understudying Rus Bergherm at full this year, will be shifted to Bruder's assignment at left half.

Under this arrangement both he and Calderwood will be forced to learn the full back duties in order to replace Bergherm in case of injury to the latter. With Minnesota coming this week-end, the job of tutoring these men will require considerable extra effort.

Practically all the 17 players who participated in the Wisconsin game were battered badly and will require several days to recuperate. Capt. Anderson sustained a badly twisted ankle and a black eye.

Bergherm Gets Rest.

Rus Bergherm, who turned in a great game at full back and Lee Hanley who led the team at quarter back in faultless style will be given a rest of several days. Both reported at the trainer's quarters with severe bruises.

The work of the line Saturday was particularly good. Riley and Marvil, the sophomore tackles, turned in a great game, while Mickey Erickson took command of the situation after Bruder left the game and kept the team fighting against the desperate last minute rushes of the Badgers.

CALIFORNIA GRID TEAM CHOSEN FOR PENN TILT

Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—C. M. (Nibs) Price, University of California football coach, has picked twenty-nine players to make the trip to Philadelphia, where the Bears will play the University of Pennsylvania Oct. 19. They follow:

Ends—Russell Avery, Robert Bartlett, Jack DeBenedetti, Robert Norton, Ellis Thornton.
Tackles—Dolph Timmerman, Ted Geckett, Nickols Bican, Albert Cahn.
Guards—John Watson, Bert Schwarz, Joe Pitto, Carl Handy, Harry Goll.
Centers—Captain Roy Riegels, Frank Medanich, Herman Eickmeyer.
Quarter backs—Lelan Eisan, Edward Kirwan.
Half backs—Lee Rice, Dick Scarlett, Eldred Lane, Ben Lom, Stanley Barr, Edwin Griffiths, Ralph Seeley.
Full backs—Joe Hickingbotham, Ralston Gill, Clarence Garrity.

PACKERS KEEP LEAD; DEFEAT FRANKFORD, 14-2

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The Green Bay Packers tightened their grasp on the top berth in the national Football league by defeating the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets, 14 to 2, here today before 10,000 spectators.

Kotal made the Bays' first score in the first quarter after grabbing a pass. He side-stepped and ran 30 yards for a touchdown. Dunn added the extra point.

A bad pass gave the easterners a safety in the third quarter, but the Packers came back strong in the last quarter, punched across another touchdown and had the Jackets on the run when the final whistle blew.

Ranks of Football Title Aspirants Start to Thin

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The probable elimination of four teams from Western conference championship consideration and defeats of three of the strongest elevens in the east were the outstanding features of Saturday's gridiron struggles.

D. X. BIBLE.

Although Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan, and Iowa stepped off the gridirons on the small end of the scores, they cannot exactly be counted out of the running for Big Ten honors. If they win their remaining conference games they may earn a tie for the title.

Nebraska Shows Strength.

In the intersectional contests of note, Notre Dame, which will meet Wisconsin at Soldiers' field Saturday, won from the Navy after a bitter struggle, 14 to 7. The Ramblers turned the trick without the presence of Coach Rockne, who was compelled to remain at home because of an injured leg.

Nebraska journeyed into the east and defeated the strong Syracuse eleven, 13 to 6. It was a battle all the way and a decided triumph for Dana X. Bible, who is coaching his first year at the Cornhusker institution. Nebraska flashed a strong offense and its defense tightened at critical times.

In the middle west the four conference games were evenly fought. Northwestern took a well earned victory over Wisconsin, 7 to 0. The line plunging of Bergherm, the Purple full back, stood out. This player frequently punctured the Badger forward wall on delayed plunges in which the spinner play figured conspicuously. The Purple offense was nicely mixed and the defense was alert most of the time for the Badgers' overhead attack.

Maroons Open Impressively.

It was a costly victory, however, for Coach Hanley's purple clad eleven. Hank Bruder, who gave every indication of developing into one of the leading backs in the conference, sustained a broken leg and will be out of the remaining games. Up to the time of his removal, Bruder shared ground gaining honors with his full back.

Chicago won a pleasing victory over Indiana in its Big Ten opener, 13 to 7. The Maroons used the forward and lateral passes effectively at times and the running game for numerous gains. Chicago will improve as the season wears o nand will be a formidable opponent for the remaining teams on its schedule. Stagg has man power and he will take advantage of it by building plays around his backs.

It was Purdue's running and forward pass attack which brought about the defeat of Michigan, 30 to 16. Coach Jimmy Phelan of the Boilermakers has a wealth of back field material. Some are fast and most of them know when to pass and when to run. This is especially true of Harmeson, the left half back, one of the veterans of the team.

Harmeson led Purdue's fourth quarter attack, which accounted for four touchdowns. It was his running and forward passing which broke the morale of the Wolverines. The Boilermaker back is a clever dodger and a fast runner. He was ably assisted by Welch, the other half back, and Yunevich, the full back.

Purdue must be considered a championship contender. Phelan believes in getting the power in front of the ball carrier. It was Michigan's first game against a conference team under the coaching of Harry Kipke, a former Wolverine half back.

Ohio State nosed out Iowa in the fourth Big Ten combat, 7 to 6. Nelson's failure to kick goal after a touchdown deprived the Hawkeyes of a tie. Both teams were evenly matched and each resorted to all the football it had been taught.

Vanderbilt Tests Gophers.

Illinois, Big Ten champion, had little trouble to win over Bradley, 45 to 0. The Orange and Blue will engage in its first conference tilt next Saturday at Iowa City.

Minnesota was given a thorough test by Vanderbilt, which succumbed 15 to 6. Coach Spears is bringing his team along slowly, but it will be a strong eleven when it meets Northwestern at Evanston on the week-end.

Victory of the doughty Brown eleven of Providence, R. I., over Princeton, 13 to 12, came as a surprise. The Tigers are now eliminated from national and eastern championship consideration.

Yale, which left New Haven to meet Georgia at Athens, is back home feeling the sting of a 15 to 0 defeat. The Georgians played advanced football. Although the defeat robs Yale of any claim to a national title it does not effect its eastern standing. Other big teams in the east won their games handily.

No Upsets in Far West.

On the Pacific coast, the Big Three won their struggles in commendable fashion. Southern California, which will come east to meet Notre Dame on Soldiers' field Nov. 16, ran over and around Washington, 48 to 0. Washington will be Chicago's opponent on Stagg field on Nov. 28.

Pop Warner's Stanford eleven defeated Southern California, southern branch, 57 to 0, and California was the victor over Washington State, 14 to 0.

In the south, Texas Aggies won from the Kansas Aggies, 19 to 0, Alabama was an easy victor over Chattanooga, 46 to 0, and Texas won from Arkansas, 27 to 0.

WEST BROMWICH, England, Oct. 13.—[U. P.]—While religious groups sang hymns in the streets to detract from the first championship boxing bout ever held in the midlands on a Sunday, Jack Brown knocked out Bert Kirby in the third round this afternoon for the flyweight title of Great Britain.

Dundee Beats Colima for Mexican Middleweight Title

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 13.—[U.P.]—Joe Dundee of Baltimore, former world's welterweight champion, won a ten round decision against Bert Colima, California Mexican, today in a match billed for the middleweight boxing title of Mexico. Twenty thousand persons saw the fight, which was held in the bull ring.

Indianapolis Race Driver Injured in Crash at Omaha

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Barney Burg, Indianapolis auto race driver, was slightly injured here today when his car crashed through a fence in a 100 mile stock car race.

SPARTA, DETROIT SOCCER TEAMS PLAY 1 TO 1 TIE

The Sparta Soccer club met the league leading Holley Carburetors of Detroit at Sparta field yesterday and at the end of ninety minutes of play the two teams were tied at 1 to 1. The visitors took the lead in the first half when Gavin headed the ball into the net, but Tomek, Sparta's outside left, scored in the second half to tie it up.

The Bricklayers defeated Buda, 4 to 2, in the first round play for the Alexander cup at Celtic field yesterday. Coutts led the winners' attack with three goals while Nisbet accounted for both of Buda's scores.

Majestic Radios eliminated Vienna from the cup play by defeating them, 1 to 0, at Majestic field. In two other games yesterday the Maccabees defeated Joliet, 4 to 2, while Pullman scored a 3 to 1 victory over Meyer London. Sparta-Holley lineup:

'I'M THE GOAT,' HACK SAYS, 'LET IT GO AT THAT'

Hornsby Is Cool; Predicts Victory Today.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13.—Poor Hack Wilson wasn't around today to greet the callers in the Cubs' quarters. He hid out where annoying sympathizers couldn't reach him with what the poet termed the saddest words of tongue or pen: "It might have been."

Hack knows what might have been, but he also knows that he lost two fly balls that cost his team the fourth game of the world series yesterday, and he'll be a long time forgetting.

"Looks like I'm the big chump of the series," he said when seen for the only time during the day. "I play good ball all season, and in the most important game I'm ever in I blow up. The bugs will have all winter in which to think up wise cracks to hand me next season, and I won't be able to do anything except tip my cap to the greetings.

"They'll be calling me a long lost brother of Snodgrass and Merkle, and to think that the weather man promised we'd have a cloudy day! If he'd only been right."

Hack Is a Bit Angry.

Hack wasn't weeping or threatening to do a Brodie off the bridge. He was just sore at himself, not so much because of what it meant to him, but his mates. The few fellow players who saw him when he showed up this morning for breakfast gave him the same greeting they'd have given him if the game hadn't turned into the biggest upset in world series history. Hack, however, knew they were just trying to make him feel good.

Charley Root, who had more reason than any man on the club to feel bitter about what happened to his pitching because of the sun blindness suffered by Wilson, took the trouble to tell the stocky outfielder that after all it was just a ball game.

"That's a swell speech, but it's a lot of boloney," barked Hack. "I have caught other balls in the sun and I should have caught those yesterday. I'm a big chump for missing them, and nobody is going to tell me different."

Root was a bit sick at heart last night over the upset, but this morning was in the same mood he'd be in the day after losing a tough one in the regular season. He meant what he said when he told Hack that after all it was just another ball game. And to prove he wasn't putting on a false front he picked up a sack of golf clubs and with Murray MacLeod went out to play a game in which catching the ball doesn't count.

Hornsby Says, "We'll Win."

The attitude of Hornsby on the day after the collapse was nothing short of amazing. The Rajah is known for his coolness and indifference under fire. He wasn't moaning about Hack's mistakes or the other lucky hits that gave the Athletics ten runs in the seventh after the Cubs had piled up an 8 to 0 lead.

Hornsby kidded a bit about the mishaps when a flock of newspaper men arrived to fan with him, and mentioned in a casual way that the Cubs would win tomorrow. He didn't say that if they could cop tomorrow they'd still have a chance. He said they would win, and added that after that they'd go back to Chicago and luck might change. He said the Cubs would whip any pitcher Mack sticks in there for the fifth game.

Other members of the team still were depressed considerably. After the game most of them were so stunned they couldn't quite realize the enormity of the explosion. On the morning after the night before, however, they began to figure what could have happened. Among themselves they whispered about how different it might have been if the fly balls had been hit other than to center or if McCarthy had used his pitchers differently. They weren't finding fault with McCarthy's judgment. They were merely second guessing to console themselves.

The only indictment that can be

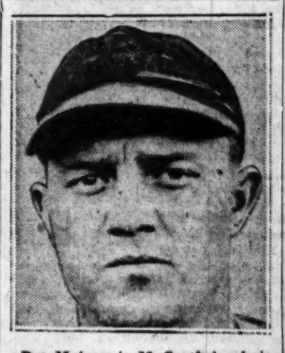
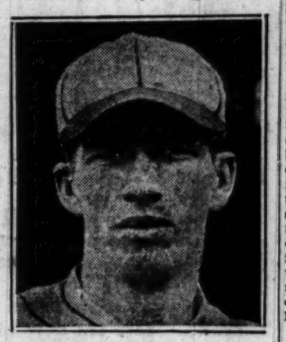
Pitch Today



Pat Malone is McCarthy's choice in Cubs' last ditch series fight against Athletics.

George Earnshaw, who already has started two series games, may be Connie Mack's pitching selection.



Or Connie Mack may send his southpaw speed artists, Bob Groves, against the Cubs in an effort to end the series today.

Cub Fans, Dazed by News, Forget to Bet on Races

Ever hear of a crowd at a race track forgetting to bet?

Well, that's what happened—almost—when the news of the Cubs' defeat at Philadelphia Saturday was made known to the crowd of 12,000 who had gone to Hawthorne to see the final races of the meeting.

They were there to try their luck and incidentally to follow the play by play progress of the Cubs and Athletics by the public address system at the track.

When the Macks put across that ten run rally the crowd stood as if struck dumb. It couldn't be. Why the Cubs were leading 8 to 0 and Charlie Root was pitching.

"Don't forget," came the voice of the announcer, doing his daily duty, "the mutuels close promptly in seven minutes."

But the crowd, which had come out of its coma long enough to begin pondering the disaster, didn't pay any attention. A few who didn't appreciate the full weight of the blow walked over and placed their bets.

Then the announcer seemed to realize what was happening, for the usual long lines leading to the mutuel booths were missing. Finally, his voice came:

"Ladies and gentlemen, you are forgetting to make your bets!"

The crowd straggled toward the booths, bought their tickets, and watched the race.

BRUINS' SPIRIT UNDAUNTED BY TEN RUN RALLY

Expect Earnshaw to Hurl for A's.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13.—Pat Malone, the black knight, a native of this great sovereign state of Pennsylvania, has been assigned the desperate chore of preventing the 1929 world series from ending at Shibe park tomorrow afternoon.

There can be no slipup tomorrow if our Cubs are to prolong the series and take the big show back to their home lot in Chicago. Tomorrow's battle will be fought out strictly on a do or die basis.

Opposing Malone, according to the best dope available in the highly secretive Athletics' camp, will be George Earnshaw. If George is the nominee it will be the third time he has started in this series and the second time he will have started against Malone. The pair hooked up in the second game in Chicago, and neither lasted through the fifth inning, you'll recall.

Two Strike Out Kings.

It is a just reward that these two men should be chosen to pitch the most crucial game of the series, for each led his league in the number of games won. Since this has become known as the strikeout series of all time it is fitting that the pair be chosen. In the regular season Earnshaw was runnerup to his teammate, Bob Grove, with 140 strikeouts, and Malone led the National league with 161, only seven behind Grove's major league mark.

Of the Cubs' record tying contribution of 44 strikeouts during the series Earnshaw has been responsible for 17 of the whiffings in the thirteen and two-thirds innings he has pitched. Malone's principal claim to fame in this department is that he put out the record breaking conflagration in the seventh inning of the game Saturday by striking out the last two batsmen with ten runs in and men on third and second.

Thoughts of a Sunday off in Philadelphia, discussed with dread ever since the world series schedule became known, proved a Godsend to the Cubs, for the day of rest gave the boys an opportunity to get away a little farther from the stunning effect of their unprecedented experiences in the Saturday tragedy.

Cubs Come Back, Somewhat.

Had the fifth game been played today it is probable the enterprise would have found them still dazed and back on their heels. This evening the boys seem to have recovered some of their poise and should enter the game with as much as any ball club could in a four out of seven series and the count 3 to 1 against them.

From outward appearances the baseball wives around the camp are suffering much more than the athletes themselves. Reddened eyelids tip off the great distress occasioned by the reflection there will be several thousands of dollars difference between the losers' and the winners' ends. With receipts known for the first four games, the ones in which the players share, all the wives and some of the players are said to have figured late into the night and most of the Sabbath just what that seventh inning crash cost in terms of the luxuries of life. Figure yourself how many pairs of silk hose could be purchased for a couple of thousand dollars.

Win or lose, the Cub party will flee the depressing atmosphere of this historical municipality tomorrow at 6 o'clock. If the Cubs lose the game and the series they will go back to Chicago to collect their goods before scattering to the four points of the compass to spend the winter. If they win they must be back to prepare for the resumption of the series at Wrigley field Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Nothing's Impossible—Cubs.

In the event the Cubs win tomorrow and don't have to use too many pitchers in accomplishing their purpose, Guy Bush, possessor of the lone Chicago victory, probably will pitch the homecoming game Wednesday against Howard Ehmke. This would make Root available for the seventh and deciding game next Thursday.

The Cubs never had been sold much on miracles, but since they saw an 8 to 0 lead swallowed in one inning all believe there is nothing impossible, and for that reason persist in making their plans to include the playing of the seventh game.

One of the most striking effects of the Saturday flop has been seen in the attitude of the vaudevillians. The team of Grimm, Cuyler, and Heathcote had been planning to make certain changes in their act in the event of the loss of the series, but the spectacular character of the Saturday collapse has caused them to fear raucous comment from the galleries.

Led by Cuyler, they have sought to get out of their contract, but the holders of their contract are insistent that they stick, figuring, perhaps, that they will be as interesting as wounded veterans as they would be as conquering heroes.

Hollywood Trims Missions in Coast Playoff Final

raised against McCarthy, and this, too, is on the order of a second guess. Is that he knew as early as the fifth inning that Wilson was being bothered by the sun and the shadow cast by his high grandstand; it was in that round that Hack muffed an easy fly off Dykes' bat. He muffed it because he never really had his eye on it.

What McCarthy could have done when Hack failed to locate Miller's short fly in the disastrous seventh was to have made a change such as the placing of Heathcote, a sure fielder, in center, or Hack could have changed places with either Stephenson or Cuyler, both of whom get more sun fields than Hack in a season.

Why McCarthy didn't give a thought to such a move is easily explained. He never dreamed, neither did anybody else in the park, but that the inning would close long before the Macks were even close to tying the score, let alone going into the lead.

Wrigley Looks Ahead.

The most disappointed man connected with the Chicago club was William Wrigley, the principal owner, who from the day he entered baseball set his heart and mind on a pennant winner. When his team jumped into an 8 to 0 lead yesterday he rightfully figured it was a sure indication of eventual victory for his team in the series. After the rout be was like a man who had built his house of cards and put it in a path of big wind.

"But we'll have new strength next year and probably will win a pennant and also a series," he said, maybe with the idea of consoling himself.

"The other National league owners also have been hit between the eyes," he said. "Baseball is a business. The National league in 1927 and '28 suffered series defeats in four straight games. The league dropped the first two games of the present series. Then when it appeared as if the Cubs were coming back to regain the parent league's lost prestige the sun blinded Wilson.

"It makes it look as if the American league was a far stronger organization than the National, and that's why the owners in the latter are nettled. As a matter of fact, the Cubs in a full season probably could whip the Macks easily, but a world series is not a season."

PERFECT SLIDE! CAP'N CHARLEY'S SAFE

Charley Grimm's safe at home by a perfect hook slide in the sixth inning of fourth world series game. It was the fifth run of the inning and number 7 for the Cubs. Miller made a fine throw to Cochrane on Taylor's fly.

Ruth Spurns Huggins' Job; Says He's Still a Player

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Babe Ruth will not manage the New York Yankees in 1930. The big slugger today identified himself as the "right fielder of the Yankees," with no managerial aspirations at this time. Later, when he no longer can hit home runs, the Bambino will be a candidate for manager of some major club, but not now.

BABE RUTH.

"I will not be the manager of the New York Yankees in 1930," said Ruth, in a formal statement issued today by his business manager, Christy Walsh. "I have had a pleasant and satisfactory conversation with Col. Ruppert [president and majority owner of the Yankees], on the subject. Frankly, I have the ambition to manage a big league ball club some day and I hope it doesn't sound conceited to say that I feel I have the ability, experience, and sufficient knowledge of baseball to qualify as a manager.

Still a Player.

"However, I am still a player and feel that I have at least two or three good years of baseball left in me yet. Col. Ruppert and I agree that as long as I can deliver the goods as a player it would not be wise to take on the troubles and worries of a manager.

"So, for 1930, just put me down as right fielder for the Yankees. I am in great shape now and will be better than ever by spring. I will play golf and hunt until it snows. I will play two exhibition games, Oct. 26 and Oct. 27—but no vaudeville, no movies, no monkey business, and above all, I will hustle my head off for the new Yankee manager, no matter who it is.

"But don't forget, some day I hope to realize a great ambition by having my name listed in the managers' column along with one of the greatest in baseball history—Miller Huggins."

Several names have been prominent in discussions as to the next manager of the Yankees succeeding the late Miller Huggins, whose death left a vacancy at the head of the New York American playing forces for the first time in a dozen years.

Mention Howley, Collins.

Ruth was mentioned in every conversation. Dan Howley and Eddie Collins were others tentatively placed in nomination in the absence of any word from Col. Jacob Ruppert, the president, and E. G. Barrow, secretary of the Yankees.

Howley, it is understood, will sign a contract soon to manage a National league club, after leading the St. Louis Browns for three years. Collins is said to be well satisfied with his present post as captain of the Athletics and Connie Mack's right hand man. When asked if he had an offer from the Yankees, he replied in the negative. Collins was once manager of the Chicago White Sox.

Arthur Fletcher, one of Huggins' assistants, who formerly managed the Phillies, and Bob Connery, president of the St. Paul club of the American Association, in which Huggins owned an interest at the time of his death, are regarded as qualified choices.

CUBS, ATHLETICS SPLIT $271,660 FOR SERIES PLAY

Wrigley Field Box Prices Swell Pool.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Official figures for world series attendance and receipts show that 160,569 fans paid $718,679 to see the first four games, the only ones in which the players will participate.

Although the players were shocked to learn that only 23,921 persons had attended each of the Philadelphia games in a park reputed to hold 40,000 in a pinch, the pool for the athletes is only a bit short of the record pot of $419,736.60 divided by first division men last year.

Pirates, Yankees Share.

The Athletics, the Cubs and other first division players will split up $388,086.66. The pool was swelled by the large number of $6 box seats in the Chicago park and by the elimination of the $3 seats except in the case of a few hundred standing clients at Wrigley field.

Of the money in the players' pool, the Athletics and the Cubs will divide 70 per cent, or $271,660.66, on a sixty-forty basis, with the series winners, of course, taking the larger share.

The fifty-odd players on the rosters of the Pirates and the Yankees will share equally in 15 per cent, or $58,213, and the third place Indians and Giants will lay claim to 10 per cent, or $38,808.67. The 5 per cent consolation prize of $19,404.33 will be tossed to the Browns and Cardinals.

Stand to Win $6,000 Each.

If the players on the contending teams divide their money into 27 shares, each winning player will receive $6,003.69 and each loser $4,002.46. This winning estimate is a shade behind the $6,143.49 paid to each of the Yankees in 1923, the record year. The losing estimate falls short of the record made last fall when each Cardinal drew $4,197.37.

Each second place player will get slightly more than $1,000, and each third place man will receive about $700. The fourth place boys will get a bit more than $350.

Matchmaker Johnny Coulon will offer eight amateur bouts at the Marigold Gardens, Grace and Broadway, tonight. The show will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The Lawndale A. C. will hold its weekly amateur show at the Sokol Chicago hall, 2345 South Kedzie avenue, Wednesday night. Matchmaker George Kamberson has arranged eight fights.

Fans Still Dazed by Big 7th; Hendricks' Experience Typical

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP)—It is just as well that Sunday baseball is not permitted in Philadelphia. If the A's and Cubs had gone out to play today, a world of conversation would have been a total loss. In hotel lobbies and on street corners, Philadelphia fairly buzzed with postmortems of yesterday's record breaking world series game. Most of the spectators, too, were in a state of collapse at the end of the seventh inning, when the Athletics scored ten runs, and needed a day of rest.

The experience of Jack Hendricks', former Reds' manager, was typical. The big, bluff lawyer suffered in the stands almost as much as did Joe McCarthy on the Chicago bench as the Cubs' lead was shot away in the one awe-inspiring inning. An intense National league partisan, although he no longer is officially connected with it, Hendricks seemed in agony as the Philadelphia base hits sounded their relentless bombardment. "I thought every second 'the next one will be an out,'" said jolly Jack, "although I knew that anything can, and does, happen in baseball.

E. S. Barnard, president of the American league, sat with Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators. At the end of the Cubs' half of the seventh when the score had mounted to an eight run lead for the visitors, Griffith said to Barnard, "it looks like we are licked, Barney."

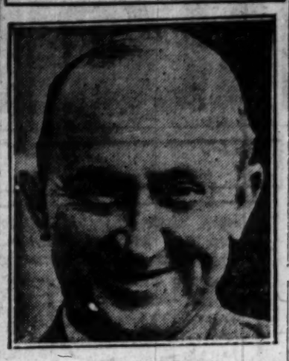
"Don't be too sure, Griff," was the reply, "this club beat you after you were eight runs in front." Griff's further observations were drowned out by the thunder of the base hits and noise of running Athletics' feet pounding the plate.

Riggs Stephenson made a desperate effort to catch Jimmy Dykes' two base fly on which the winning runs were scored. The ball was hit close to the foul line, almost against a stand, and Stevie went over fast for the ball, which barely tipped his fingers. It was a great effort to make a sensational stab for "Old Alabam," but the result would have been the same if the catch had been made. Simmons was on third and as there was only one out, Stephenson never could have untangled himself from the stand, and thrown Al out. The score would have been 9 to 8, instead of 10 to 8 and Dykes' hit would have been a sacrifice fly instead of a double.

Two old war horses of baseball chatted and shook their heads at the amazing sight they had witnessed. Ty Cobb, an American leaguer who had seen nothing to make him mad, and Johnny Evers, intensely partisan National league supporter, who was shocked by the proceedings of the day, thought Root involuntarily eased up and then could not recover his equilibrium.

Harry Davis, the captain of the old Athletics, "agreed" that Old Chief (Bender) used to do it, that is, let up.

Attends Series



TY COBB.

"He always got away with it," said Davis. "With a good lead, he would throw batting practice balls to the first hitter sometimes, but just when the other side thought he was gone, he would come back and zip 'em past the next batter. I always was uneasy though and I would go in and say, 'You old so and so, quit fooling in there. The first thing you know you'll slip.' But he never did. There was a look of affection in Harry's eyes as he spoke of the "Chief." "There was a pitcher," he said.

Connie Mack has all the best of past performances in the world series. He has won two of his three world championships in five games.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Chicago Cardinals, professional football team, lost to the Minneapolis Marines today, 14-7, in a closely fought match, in which only long passes were able to break up the good work of the forward lines.

Ernie Nevers, former All-American full back, and his Stanford teammate, Don Hill, featured for the Cardinals, a pass from Nevers to Hill for a 15 yard run resulting in the Chicagoans' lone touchdown. The Marines scored as the result of a long pass, and again from recovering a blocked kick.

A tie score was averted when the referee ruled the Cards failed to put the ball over on a plunge from the one foot line.

The Cardinals leave tonight for Chicago to engage the Bears at Wrigley field in the opening of the professional football season there next Sunday.

Mallards Follow Northern Robins—Axiom of Nature

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Upper Illinois River, Oct. 13.—When a migration wave of northern robins rolls into Illinois you may look for some northern mallard ducks not far behind. This is a bit of natural observation by old George Davis, the southern Illinois duck specialist, who looks after a duck pond down here. Judging by the evidence this morning he's right.

In the trees, marsh and open prairie near the blind where we were resting we could hear and see more robins than we have noticed since late September. The red breasts—just as Davis said, have their usual traveling company, too. About 300 mallards swooped down upon this shallow, muddy lake and soon started fattening up on corn and buckwheat. With the robins and the greenheads many other species arrived as per migration schedules. In fact, this morning the lake was the "birdiest" five hour early October period we can remember. The air was filled with migrants. White throated sparrows called from the willows behind us and other varieties of sparrows flitted through the tall brown weeds sometimes within arm's length. And by the way, blackbirds have increased their numbers by many thousands.

This morning their favorite trick seemed to be razzing the decoys.

BLACKHAWKS TO LEAVE TODAY ON TRAINING JAUNT

10 Days at N. Dame, Then Drill on Tulsa Ice.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Chicago's Blackhawks will start the preliminaries of a new hockey season this afternoon when they leave for South Bend, Ind., on the first lap of a month's training trip. Tom Shaughnessy, manager of Chicago's representative in the National Hockey league, will take sixteen players with him, including five who will be wearing the black and white for the first time.

DICK IRVIN.

Best known of the four newcomers is the big Taffy Abel, defense man of the New York Rangers the last two years, including their victory in the Stanley cup series a season ago. The others are Art Summers, a forward from Vancouver, B. C.; Frank Cook, a center from Tulsa; Frank Ingram, a wing from St. Paul, and Tom Westwick, a youngster. Summers led the Pacific coast league in scoring last year, while Cook was first and Ingram third in the American association.

Here Are Other Newcomers.

In addition most of the familiar faces of last year will be back on the ice. Vic Ripley, Mush Marsh, Cyclone Wentworth, John Gottselig, Ty Arbour, Bobby Burns, Ralph Taylor, Leo Cotare, Chuck Gardiner. Duke Dutkowski and Earl Miller, erstwhile members of the Blackhawks, also have been recalled from the minors for another trial. Most of them are young, an indication the team will be fast.

Dick Irvin, who has captained the Chicago team, will be back as coach. The "Silver Fox," one of the greatest hockey players of all time, is finding the years beginning to creep up on him and, though still young, is getting old for the speed of hockey. So he's likely to play little.

Practice on Ice at Tulsa.

The players will spend ten days at Notre Dame, in conditioning work, track work, medicine ball, and perhaps have a go at the football charging machines. However, Shaughnessy laughs at the rumor that has gained credence that he's going to "have them playing football." Later the team will go to Tulsa and get on the ice, playing two practice games. After two more practice games with Kansas City and another at Buffalo, they open the National league season with Toronto at Toronto, Nov. 14, and open their home season at the Coliseum against Ottawa Nov. 21.

Badgers Now Underdogs in N. Dame Scrap

Madison, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Its dream of a conference championship rudely interrupted by a defeat at the hands of Northwestern yesterday, Wisconsin will open practice tomorrow for the Notre Dame clash Saturday at Soldiers' field, Chicago.

"Our line was outplayed, our blocking was conspicuous by its absence, and the back field was not up to standard," was the way Coach Thistlethwaite summarized the game.

"Northwestern had a great team yesterday. Wisconsin's cue for the rest of the season will be to try to upset other contenders," he said.

Thistlethwaite believes that the material is on the squad and is hopeful that the Badgers will exhibit a change of heart in future contests. They will enter the Notre Dame game as the underdogs.

Harold Smith, fighting tackle who has been out with injuries, may be able to play against the Irish. Coach Thistlethwaite did not announce that he contemplates any shakeups in the battle front but the squad is certain to face a week of intensive drills, with the linemen coming in for heavy fire.

Hal Rebholz, fighting full back, was the only man who drew praise from any of the coaches after the Northwestern gainer. He was a consistent ground gainer.

LOYOLA ELEVEN IN GOOD SHAPE AFTER COE GAME

With the second victory of the season chalked up over Coe college, Loyola university will desert the new north side stadium to appear against Duquesne university at Pittsburgh next Saturday. This will be the first game away from the home field, as well as the first meeting with Elmer Layden's Pittsburgh squad.

The Ramblers came through the Coe game in good shape. Today's workout will be light, confined to watching the second squad take on the freshmen, who will use Duquesne plays. A light signal drill for the regulars is also scheduled.

Wolverines and Buckeyes Resume Rivalry Saturday

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Its bubble of hope and optimism completely burst by a fast, hard charging Purdue line which made victory a thing far off yesterday, the Wolverine football team returned home this morning, a tired, and sad crew.

The Maize and Blue forces, however, are not discouraged after the worst drubbing they have taken since Red Grange romped over them in 1924. The question echoed all over campus today is: "Will 1929 see another great comeback team at Michigan?"

Last fall the Wolverines were apparently disorganized, helpless eleven and then they rose to the heights by beating Illinois and Iowa to close the season after losing their first four games. The 1924 rout at Illinois was followed by a string of Wolverine victories.

Reputed to have only a fair line, the Boilermakers bowled the Wolverines off their feet. Early season forecasts had it that Michigan's forward wall should be strong and the backfield the problem, but yesterday showed the line to be far from an effective unit.

Bolstering the forwards will be the principal task facing Coach Harry Kipke and his staff this week in preparation for Ohio State. The game will mark the twenty-sixth meeting of the two schools since rivalry began in 1897.

WESTERN CONFERENCE GAMES.

BUCKEYES GET READY

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—With all its regulars coming through the tough Iowa game here Saturday without a serious injury, the Buckeyes are preparing to meet Michigan for the 26th time on the gridiron next week.

Of the previous meetings Michigan has won 19 games and tied two, while the Buckeyes have been able to grab but four. The Ohio State-Michigan football tradition almost parallels the history of football here.

American Giants Defeat Major League Stars, 10-1

Five thousand saw the American Giants make it two straight over the American league stars yesterday at the Giants' park, 10 to 1.

MILLS DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER WITH FLORALS

Hurling his final game of the season, Lefty Sullivan yesterday shut out the Duffy Florals, 3 to 0, after Mills had dropped the opening game by the same score. Sullivan yielded only three scratch blows and struck out ten. Brosius blanked the Mills in the opener. Champions of the Chicago Semi-pro league, the Mills closed the season with a record of 44 victories against 11 defeats.

Lacio Wins Argentine Derby in Blanket Finish

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 13.—Three of the best 3 year olds in Argentina raced down the final two furlongs and finished almost on a line in the Argentine Derby today. Lacio was first, Cockles second and Tresiete, the favorite, third, short heads dividing them. Seven horses started. The time for the one mile four and one-half furlongs was two minutes, thirty-five and four-fifths seconds.

Zuppke Hears Scouts' Report on Iowa Team

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Hearing the report of his scout that Iowa is a powerful team that lost the breaks with Ohio State, Bob Zuppke today mapped out the week's campaign for the opening of the Illini Big Ten season at Iowa City.

With Capt. Glasgow, one of the best backs in the Big Ten, back in the Iowa lineup and the dedication of a new stadium as the background for the game, Zuppke expects the toughest kind of a tussle.

That Iowa scored one touchdown on straight football and made another, which was not allowed, impressed the coach. The Illini came out of the Bradley game in excellent condition, but Bodman, tackle possibility, is a casualty for some time, it is feared. The selection of a tackle to team with Lou Gordon rests between Burdick and Hills, with the former in the lead just now.

Bud Jolley will battle for his place at end against Steinman and Mallin. Lanum, after a three year layoff, still has things to do to return to form.

Roy Wietz, veteran guard, was able to play yesterday and his return takes a big load off Zuppke's mind. Frank Walker's ankle apparently has healed and the Urbana flash will be ready for Iowa, against whom he made a long run for a score two years ago.

BYERS' FAILURE TO REACH FORM VEXES DE PAUL

Coach Eddie Anderson will begin this week's preparation for De Paul's game with St. Viator at Bourbonnais Friday night shrouded in gloom. His chief anguish concerns Clair Byers. So far this season the onetime flashy half back has failed to exhibit the powerful drive and speedy end runs that carried him to nine touchdowns last year. Lack of condition has been a big factor in Byers' reversal of form.

The crippled condition of Bill Johnson, full back, also has been responsible for the Blue Demons' lack of scoring. Defensively the team has been little better, especially Saturday's gabes with Michigan State Normal college.

De Paul Eleven Overwhelms Perryville, Mo., Team, 33-0

De Paul academy, Catholic league football champion, defeated St. Vincent's High of Perryville, Mo., 33 to 0, in a practice game at De Paul yesterday. The titleholders were held scoreless in the first period, but in the second Capt. Huppert went through tackle and broke away for a 65 yard run to a touchdown. McWilliams added another in the same quarter on a 30 yard end run.

In the second half Kemp duplicated Huppert's long run for another touchdown and Flood slid off tackle 35 yards for another. Neiss accounted for the final touchdown in the last quarter. Zech and Schuster stood out in the De Paul line, while Zoller, St. Vincent full back, starred for his team. Lineup:

DE PAUL.		ST. VINCENT [0].
Spaulding	L.E.	Laurk
Rumsfield	L.T.	Faherty
O'Malley	L.G.	Sachlettman
Zeck	C.	W. Bey
Hall, Schuster	R.G.	Prout
Merlo	R.T.	Bola
Kelly, Smaessert	R.E.	Lotter
Rogers, Flood	Q.B.	Bass
Kouper, Huppert	L.H.	Rozier
Niess, Kemp	R.H.	Moore
Bieble, McWilliams	F.B.	Zollner

Touchdowns—Huppert, McWilliams, Kemp, Flood, Neiss. Points after touchdown—McWilliams, Kemp, Smaessert.

DE LA SALLE, 6; LOYOLA, 0.

De La Salle of the south section of the Catholic league defeated Loyola academy of the north section, 6 to 0, in a practice game at the latter's field yesterday. Both teams will open their regular league schedule Saturday, De La Salle meeting Joliet and Loyola St. Patrick's.

With nine minutes of the game remaining yesterday, Ray Boland of the De La Salle basketball team which won the national prep title in March, dashed around Loyola's end for fifteen yards and a touchdown. The south siders had possession of the ball the greater part of the game and were within Loyola's ten yard line half a dozen times. The north shore team threatened in the last quarter when a long pass brought them into De La Salle territory, but were unable to advance the ball. Lineup:

DE LA SALLE [6].		LOYOLA [0].
Tiekard	L.E.	McCarthy
E. Krause [C]	L.T.	Melchione
Belant	L.G.	Kiley
Broad	C.	Eiden
F. Krause	R.G.	O'Neill
Sheehan	R.T.	Conley
Quigley	R.E.	Eran
Herron	Q.B.	Clark
Furlong	L.H.	West
Boland	R.H.	Warner
Casady	F.B.	Scanlon

Touchdown—Boland.

ST. GEORGE, 7; ST. STANISLAUS, 0.

St. George High of Evanston added another victory to its practice string yesterday by defeating St. Stanislaus, 7 to 0, on the home field. Half Back Oehlers scored the only touchdown of the game on a 20 yard end run in the third quarter. Burns plunged for the extra point. St. George will make its football debut as a member of the Catholic league Sunday when it clashes with De Paul, league champion, at Evanston.

TENORIO RANKS AS 6-5 FAVORITE OVER KING TUT

Fans Think Filipino Is Harder Hitter.

Lope Tenorio, hard hitting Filipino, who meets King Tut of Minneapolis in the main event of Promoter Paddy Harmon's boxing show at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night, has been made a 6 to 5 favorite.

LOPE TENORIO.

Followers of the Filipino assert Tenorio has the stiffer punch, can take it, and will not hesitate to trade punches. The Filipino also has a clever left hand which should score many points.

N. B. A. Ranks Tut.

In his last start Tut decisively defeated Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express. The National Boxing association has ruled that Tut is the outstanding contender for the world's lightweight title, held by Sammy Mandell.

Both will engage in final boxing workouts this afternoon. Each boxed four rounds yesterday.

My Sullivan and Pete Myera, welterweights, will meet in one of the supporting ten rounders, and Al Friedman and Babe Hunt, heavyweights, in the other fight of ten rounds. Two five rounders complete the card. They will bring together King Levinsky and Nick Taft, local 175 pounders, and Solly Schuman and Johnny Burns.

Malloy's Show Next.

Haakon Hansen, Norwegian middleweight, who meets Jack McKenna of Cleveland in the windup of Promoter Mique Malloy's boxing show at Guyon's Paradise on Oct. 22, is in active training. His will be the first show to be staked in the west side arena and Promoter Malloy expects a capacity crowd. McKenna will be here today to complete preparation. The pair were matched to meet a year ago but the bout was called off when Hansen took sick.

Jimmy Chase will fight Jimmy Petrese of the west side in the four round opener. Three other bouts round out the card.

And now may we show you the selected style in the "slender-last" group

BOSTONIANS

"BEST of its type," said the Style Committee. "The outstanding model of its group." And their verdict carries authority—for if anybody knows what's right in men's shoe styles—assuredly those style experts do.

You can step into this Selected Bostonian with absolute certainty that you are shod smartly—shod correctly, for the fall-and-winter season. No more wondering what will be worn.

Come see it. It's a masterpiece of shoe design and construction. The slenderness of a greyhound. The rich lustre of fine leather. The quiet elegance of a shoe aristocrat. And a price of only $8.50. If you're tired of hunting for style that you know is right, come get into a pair.

16 DAY FALL RACE MEETING OPENS AT AURORA TODAY

Strange Horses May Upset Chicago Handicappers.

BY FRENCH LANE.

New horses—maybe not such great horses but fresh material, anyway—new surroundings, and an outlook for very closely contested events, will pull quite a crowd of racegoers out to the Aurora track this afternoon for the opening of a sixteen day fall season.

Chicago's regulars, about 4,000 of them, will be on hand as usual. If the weather is fair they may be joined by a couple of other thousand fans. And from downstate will come a few more thousand who go to the races only when the Aurora track is operating.

Majority Hail from Canada.

The new horses have come mostly from Canada. Others are on hand from Ravenna Park in Ohio and still others from Riverside Park in Kansas City. Just enough remained over from the Chicago season which ended at Hawthorne on Saturday to make the contention interesting.

The Baker Hotel purse, a dash at 5½ furlongs, is the feature of the opening card this afternoon. Old Kickapoo will be the favorite and it is the one event on the seven race card which has drawn a full quota of performers that are familiar to Chicago fans. Short Price, which hails from out in Wyoming and which has been racing lately at Fairmount Park, is the only invader. Little Gyp, Fiala, Wildale, Blandris and Straw Vote are others which have been trying to win around Chicago but which have failed in most of their recent starts.

Big Sweep Favored.

Another good field goes to the post in the six furlong fourth race. Big Sweep, which holds the Aurora track record of 1:11 2-5 for the distance, was installed as the overnight choice. He is asked to pick up 118 pounds. He has made all the Canadian tracks during the last three months and a half. And he hasn't won a race, but the Chicagoans will back him once at least, for he has performed noble deeds for them in past seasons.

The first four races are all at six furlongs. Horses whose records are entirely strange to Chicago crowds will furnish the contention. Thus the expert handicappers will be very much at sea and the persons who speculate on the winners are likely to collect very long dividends.

Post time for the first race is 2 o'clock and General Manager Clifford R. Trimble has announced he will rush the program along enough to get the Chicago crowd back to the loop before the dinner hour.

The horses that have come in from Canada and other points have been stabled at Aurora for several days. The several hundred moving over to the Fox River Valley track from Hawthorne were transferred yesterday.

Swanson, Reds' Star, Hits Homer in Galesburg Game

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Evar Swanson of the Cincinnati Reds, former Lombard college athlete, was honored yesterday when he appeared in the lineup for the Galesburg Indees here. Swanson played left field for the locals, who defeated Davenport, 8 to 5. His home run was the feature of the game. In an exhibition in circling the bases Swanson failed to break the world's record by a tenth of a second.

IOWA STATE FOE OF MARQUETTE FRIDAY NIGHT

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Marquette university's 9 to 7 gridiron defeat Saturday at the hands of Grinnell college was replayed today as Coach Frank J. Murray called together his gridders for a varsity meeting in the gymnasium.

The misplays of Saturday were reviewed. A hurried attempt will be made to shape up the team for Friday night's game with Iowa State college. Weaknesses were so numerous in the Marquette attack that it will take an heroic effort on the part of Coaches Murray and Taylor to have a presentable eleven on the field.

Marquette's first night workout beneath the stadium floodlights will be held tomorrow.

Farmers Will Put On Tug of War at Iowa-Badger Tilt

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Football will not be the only form of rivalry between Iowa and Wisconsin at Madison Oct. 26. A tug of war between ten man teams of farmers is being arranged by the chambers of commerce in Madison and Iowa City. The Badgers will enter a Wisconsin county championship team against an aggregation to be selected by the local commercial club from the farmers of Johnson county. The event will be staged between halves of the Iowa-Wisconsin football game, according to present plans.

Fans Riot as Kansas City Wins Series

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Kansas City, American association champion, won the junior world series here today by defeating Rochester, International league titlest, in the ninth and final game of their series, 6 to 5, in eleven innings. Fist fights between players and a near riot gave 10,000 fans more than they had bargained for.

The disorder came after the game and resulted in the arrest of one fan. In the ninth inning Toporcer objected to a called strike and was ordered out of the game. Friends of his waited until the game ended. Then one of these struck a Kansas City player leaving the field.

Series Broadcast Today on Milwaukee Tribune Board

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The fifth game of the world series, starting at 12:30 o'clock today, will be broadcast from THE TRIBUNE'S scoreboard at Wisconsin avenue and the bridge. The running score of the game will be set up as the game progresses, and the radio broadcast amplified sufficiently to be heard two blocks away, will follow actual play.

Why shudder at the word "SPIT"?

Yet continue to accept spit-tipped cigars. Why take chances—smoke Cremo.

The law against spitting is being violated by thousands of cigar smokers. There is hardly a smoker who doesn't remember seeing at least one filthy cigar shop where the man in the window rolled the leaves with dirty fingers and spit on the ends.

The authorities are doing all they can to stamp out such vicious practices. But it will take time. Meanwhile don't pay the penalty—avoid cigars you're not sure of.

Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by United States Government approved methods. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the danger of spit. Over $7,000,000 was spent in perfecting the method of manufacture used by Certified Cremo.

A suggestion, deliberately made with confidence to smokers of imported cigars: Try a Certified Cremo—made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, all ripe and mellow. Each leaf goes through a slow, expensive maturing process that develops the fullest flavor and mildness. You never realized how good Certified Cremo is—don't let its 5 cent price stand in your way. Your physician will recommend a mild cigar in place of heavy, expensive brands. There isn't a bit of scrap in Certified Cremo . . . not a trace of floor sweepings. All long filler . . . all fresh, tender leaves . . . and topped off with the finest imported wrapper! Crush-proof . . . immaculate . . . foil-wrapped . . . Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly had in mind when he said: "What this country needs most is a good 5-cent cigar."

ILLINOIS U. BOYS FIGHT FOR RIGHT TO PLAY POLITICS

Seek Aid of Legislators, Dads and Alumni.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Members of the general assembly, prominent members of the Dads association, and alumni will be asked to take a hand in undergraduate politics at the University of Illinois if plans of a "protest committee" composed of students materialize. The committee is composed of over a score of students, representing both political parties, the Old Line and Independent.

Starting Monday, committeemen will canvass the campus and endeavor to have students send letters of protest to members of the state legislature, parents, and alumni. Campus leaders expect at least one thousand letters to be in the mails by Tuesday night when the council of administration holds its next meeting.

Fear Loss of Politics.

The council, because of alleged disgraceful incidents during a recent election, removed several student organization heads from office and their followers are demanding that they be reinstated.

E. Everett Wilson of Decatur, Ill., presided at the meeting at which the protest committee was formed.

"If this thing drags out there will be no more politics on the Illinois campus," Wilson told his audience. "Things will be dormant and we will be holding the burlap. We want a barrage of mail to go out Monday to prominent legislators and state political officers. The legislature is in sympathy with us and especially the influential members. We want action, and since we don't think that the council of administration is perfect and that the millennium is here we're going to take steps."

Leaders Put Up Money.

Students on the committee are: S. Everett Wilson, Decatur, Ill.; James Soper, Cicero, Ill.; William D. Lewis, Glen Ellyn, Ill.; William Holden, Glen Ellyn, Ill.; W. J. Granata, Chicago; G. A. Conwell, Tucumcari, N. M.; George Berlesman, Paris, Ill.; W. J. Green, Urbana, Ill.; A. A. Nedwed, Cicero, Ill.; John Morris, Lanark, Ill.; M. A. Burgess, Berkeley, Cal.; Ferrill Hodges, Salem, Ill.; Kenneth Rugh, Greeley, Colo.; Phil Kammann, Mascoutah, Ill.; Robert Crathorne, Urbana, Ill.; M. K. Miller, Joliet, Ill.; Roy Goldstein, Chicago; W. K. Jordan, Oak Park, Ill.; Sid Mogul, Chicago; K. Moberly, Shelbyville, Ill.; V. L. Kretschmer, Elgin, Ill., and E. J. Lawson, Downers Grove, Ill.

To carry on the campaign the protesting students plan to collect twenty-five cents each from political leaders in the 35 fraternity houses.

PLAN EVANSTON HARBOR TO KEEP COAST GUARD

A plan whereby Evanston may retain the coast guard station which the government has ordered moved to Wilmette was announced last night by Ald. Edward B. Davidson of the Evanston city council. Davidson has proposed to the council a project for construction of a yacht harbor in connection with the building of a $100,000 breakwater which the council has already approved. Providing the harbor project is also approved, Capt. Otto E. Fricke, commander of the Evanston coast guard, will recommend to Washington the retention of the present coast guard quarters, Ald. Davidson said he had been assured.

Rosa Ponselle Sings Way Into Elmer's Heart

Ushers in Programs of Hour Length.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The opening of the hour length Sunday evening programs from New York through W-G-N, 8:15 to 9:15, indicates that winter and its greater musical broadcasts are approaching.

The glorious voice of Rosa Ponselle, soprano, ushered in the beginning of this program's fall and winter season. In Miss Ponselle's lengthy program of arias and songs of many styles and varieties, not at any moment did she display the purely spectacular for spectacular's sake, so true is her high concept of the art of singing.

In her first aria, "O God, Protect Her," from "La Vestale" [Spontini], her voice suggested the cello for breadth and depth of tone. The perfect trills and grace notes in her second aria, "Bolero," from "I Vespri Siciliani" [Verdi], was a bit of display, but the singer's art mellowed it into pure music. Contrast was utilized for added effectiveness in her group of simple songs, as well as throughout her program; the slow was contrasted with the fast, the gay with the sympathetic and the tender. "Swiss Echo Song" [Eckert] was effective partly because radio serves echo's needs admirably. A selection from Verdi's "The Force of Destiny" and the "Habanera" from "Carmen" [Bizet] was sung with accompaniment by chorus and orchestra. Next Sunday's artist, Efrem Zimbalist, violinist.

Richard Bonelli, baritone, another of radio's good friends, was the special soloist on the New York informal concert through KYW, 6:30 to 7.

One of my former midweek favorites, W-G-N's Musical Mélange, is now a feature on Sundays from 4:30 to 5:30. I hope the W-G-N Symphony orchestra will let loose symphonically with a free will, exploring the gems of past and present, familiar and unfamiliar, as it pleases the mind and ear of its conductor, Gaston du Moulin. The "Bandana Sketches" by White was received gratefully yesterday.

ROBBED IN HALLWAY OF HOME.

Ralph Javitt, 641 Addison street, had just stepped into the hallway of his home last night when two men with drawn revolvers ordered him to hold up his hands and robbed him of $75.

SOURCE OF SHOT FATAL TO YOUTH PUZZLES POLICE

Stanley Mach, 17 years old, 583 Lakeview avenue, Hammond, died yesterday in St. Catherine's hospital at Hammond of a bullet wound received Saturday while he and his brother, John, 20, were hunting ducks along Lake George. While Hammond police believed that the shooting was accidental, they were mystified by the manner in which the wound was inflicted and had found no trace of the person who fired the shot.

The two youths were walking along the edge of the lake on their way home, John walking ahead and carrying the shotgun. Suddenly Stanley fell into the lake and when John pulled him out, he was bleeding from a wound in the back of his head. The bullet, according to police, was fired from either a rifle or a pistol.

John told police that he and his brother had heard firing along Calumet avenue, which borders the lake, throughout the afternoon, but that they had not seen any one who might have fired the shot.

Stanley was a student at the Whiting High school.

SNAKE BITE KILLS NOTED STUDENT OF REPTILE LIFE

Morgantown, W. Va., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The bite of a rattlesnake today was fatal to Col. Charles William Cramer, 53 years old, nationally known herpetologist, prominent as a criminal lawyer and a veteran of the Spanish-American and world wars.

Col. Cramer, whose hobby was the study of venomous snakes, had various specimens of copperheads and rattlesnakes at his country home in the Cheat mountains. He also frequently kept reptiles in a glass cage at his law office here.

While he was transferring snakes from one cage to another at his estate yesterday afternoon, a reptile escaped and, in attempting to capture it, the colonel was struck on the palm of the hand.

He slashed the wound with a razor blade, sucked the blood and applied a cauterizing solution. He then drove to Morgantown over twenty miles of rough roads and had a physician inject anti-venom, which failed of its purpose. The victim died twelve hours later.

PANTAGES JURY TO HEAR STATE'S DOCTORS TODAY

Prosecutor Expects to Rest Tuesday.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Testimony of three physicians is expected to feature the trial tomorrow of Alexander Pantages, wealthy theater man, when the hearing of statutory charges against him is resumed. The physicians, summoned by the prosecution, are to testify in behalf of Eunice Pringle, 17 year old dancer who preferred the charges against the theater man.

The three doctors, together with a half dozen police officers and one or two other witnesses, will round out the case for the state, Buron Fitts, district attorney, announced. Pantages has been on trial since Oct. 1. Fitts said he would probably complete his case some time Tuesday.

Defense Has 20 Witnesses.

A number of witnesses are being reserved for rebuttal testimony, the district attorney indicated, but the nature of the testimony was not disclosed. The defense has announced that about twenty witnesses will be called to the stand in behalf of the theater owner. Both prosecution and defense are of the opinion the trial will last two more weeks.

A dispute between Fitts and the district attorney of San Diego county, Stephen Connell, which came yesterday, marked the only development during the week-end recess.

$10,000 Bail Is Issue.

Fitts charged Connell failed to cooperate with Los Angeles authorities and had been influenced by interests friendly to Pantages in fixing a bond of $10,000 for Jay Sheridan, a state's witness in the trial here. Sheridan is in jail in San Diego following arraignment on a bad check charge. His bail first was fixed at $2,500. Fitts charged the Pantages interests, knowing the man could not obtain the higher sum, caused it to be raised, in an effort to "embarrass the prosecution" before the jury "by being forced to admit their witness is in jail."

Connell denied the accusations and said he would investigate Sheridan's case.

J. H. LETTE, FORMER CARNEGIE INSTITUTE DEAN, IS DEAD AT 61

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Dr. John H. Lette, 61, former dean of the Carnegie Institute of Technology School of Applied Science and Pittsburgh city librarian for 11 years, died at his home here early today.

Dr. Lette, a graduate of Colgate and Harvard, was a member of the mathematics department of Penn State college for 11 years and was successively registrar and dean of applied science at Carnegie institute. He resigned as dean to become Pittsburgh librarian in 1917. He moved to Ann Arbor a year ago when illness compelled him to give up his work in Pittsburgh. He is survived by a widow and a son, Alexander Lette, Detroit attorney.

B. V. Ralsten, 44, Secretary of Advertising Agency, Dies

Brown V. Ralsten, 44 years old, secretary-treasurer of the Fred H. Ralsten company, advertising agency, died last night at the Evanston hospital of heart disease. He had been ill about a week, having been stricken while visiting at Lowville, N. Y., his birthplace.

Mr. Ralsten had been in the advertising business in Chicago for about 12 years. He was a graduate of Dartmouth university in the class of 1911 and a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He had been active in fraternity circles in Chicago. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Adelaide Ralsten; two children, Mary Adelaide, 12 years old, and Whitman, 5, and two brothers, Fred H. of Chicago and William J. of Lowville. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow afternoon at the residence, 2408 Lincolnwood drive, Evanston. The body will be taken to Lowville for burial.

Jersey Football Player Injured in Game Is Dead

Passaic, N. J., Oct. 14 (Monday).—Thomas O'Shea, 18, left end of the Passaic High school football team, died in the Passaic city hospital at 2 a. m. today of a broken neck suffered last Saturday in the game between the Passaic and Hackensack High school elevens. O'Shea previously had scored a touchdown in the game, which Passaic won, 30 to 6.

ADA CARTWRIGHT WILL BE BURIED AT OREGON, ILL.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Presbyterian church at Oregon, Ill., for Miss Ada M. Cartwright, daughter of the late Justice James H. Cartwright of the Illinois Supreme court, who died on Saturday at a Wilmette sanitarium. Miss Cartwright for fourteen years was an assistant attorney general of Illinois and was one of the best known women in her profession in the state.

Miss Cartwright was a past president of the Women's Bar association of Illinois, and a member of the Illinois State Bar association. She is survived by two brothers, James H. and Horace A. Cartwright, and by two sisters, Mrs. Grace G. Townley, Springfield, Ill., and Mrs. Genevieve Salmon of Valparaiso, Chile, South America. Interment will be at Oregon.

Gibbons Tonight!

Floyd Gibbons, world famous headline hunter, again appears in the role of narrator of the radio. 9:30.

Boy— that's good milk!
The Browns were eating at the Smith's the other night. Junior Brown had been cautioned not to talk at the table. But when he took his first sip of "Selected" milk, there came a spontaneous burst of approval, "Boy, that's good milk!"
The Browns now use "Selected" regularly, and Junior Brown is drinking a quart a day with great relish. Think what it's going to mean to him in building up a sturdy body.
Many a mother has found in "Selected" the answer to "getting children to drink enough milk." When coaxing and scolding fail, the "Sweet Natural Taste" of "Selected" gets results. Boys and girls, big and small, drink it with self-evident enjoyment. Grown-ups too!
The "Sweet Natural Taste" of "Selected" is just a matter of extraordinary care and vigilance taken in its production on 105 picked dairy farms. We pay a liberal premium to the farmers for producing "Selected" under our rigid regulations covering stabling, milking, cooling.
From farm to user, we continue to take every possible precaution to protect the "Sweet Natural Taste."
Give "Selected" a trial in your home. Phone Franklin 3110, or speak to the Borden milkman supplying your neighborhood, or mail the coupon.

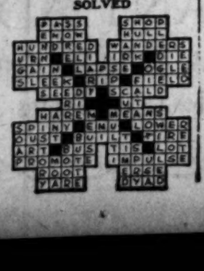
SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



STOCK EXCHANGE MEMBERSHIP IS NEARING QUOTA

New Facilities Will Be in Use a Year Early.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—With 220 of the 275 new seats already sold, indications are that the New York Stock exchange will reach its maximum membership of 1,375 by the first of the year, or shortly thereafter. This means that the full facilities provided for under the 25 per cent increase in membership authorized in February will be made available about a year sooner than was anticipated when plans for the expansion were worked out.

Already, according to brokers, there has been possibly a 25 per cent improvement in the efficiency of the human machinery on the floor of the exchange. This is reflected in the more rapid execution of orders, in a reduction in the number of errors, and in a smoother working personnel generally. The exchange authorities, it was pointed out, consider the enlargement of membership the most successful reform instituted in recent years.

Approve Changes.

Floor brokers themselves, who in many instances opposed the increase in membership when it was first approved, now warmly approve the change. Not only have they witnessed the steady improvement in efficiency on the floor, but with more than 200 additional brokers to carry on the business of executing orders the strain on individual members has been eased considerably. The volume of business has been so heavy since the increase was put into effect that the so-called "$2 brokers" have been able to maintain their earnings at a satisfactory level, in spite of the increased competition.

The 25 per cent increase in membership, which lifted the maximum number of seats from 1,100 to 1,375, went into effect on February 7. Each member received, as a result of that increase, one "right," representing a one-fourth interest in an additional seat. In all, 1,100 "rights" were created. Of this number, 880 have already been disposed of, leaving 220 unsold. Lately "rights" have been transferred at a rate to indicate that all of the remaining ones will be sold within a few months.

Few Retain Rights.

Only a comparatively few members are refusing to dispose of their "rights." Some members are waiting for higher prices, while others are holding off for developments in which "rights" will be grouped for firm memberships. The "rights" must be exercised within three years from last February or they will be forfeited. Judging by the speed with which the "rights" are being transferred at this time, it is not believed that any will be retained longer than a few months.

Western Electric Forms Swedish, Spanish Firms

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—Incorporation of Western Electric of Spain and Western Electric of Switzerland under Delaware charters and both subsidiaries of the Western Electric company has been announced. Both companies will handle the talking picture equipment and servicing of the equipment in the two countries named in their incorporated names. Both have nominal capitalizations of 25,000 shares of no par value.

Detroit Bankers Company's Capital Totals $50,000,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 13.—The holding company organized to purchase the shares of Detroit banks with total assets of $725,000,000 will be called the Detroit Bankers company, it was revealed in letters sent to stockholders of the various banks asking that they sign the agreement for the exchange of shares.

General Cigar.

B. F. R.—Increased earnings of General Cigar Company, Inc., have been principally due to an increased volume of business. For the first time in a number of years cigar production is showing a substantial gain. For the first seven months of 1929 production of cigars in the United States totaled 3,625,850,075, against 3,499,764,727 in the corresponding months of the preceding year.

A part of General Cigar company's gain, however, is attributed to improvements in manufacturing methods.

For the first half of 1929 gross earnings were $6,324,997 and net income was $1,820,762, against gross earnings of $4,452,994 and net income of $976,152 for the first half of 1928.

After provision for preferred and common dividends there remained a balance of $830,622 for the first six months of 1929, against a deficit of $13,988 for the like 1928 period.

Earnings in the six months ended June 30, 1929, were equivalent to $36.42 per share on 50,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred [par $100] and $4.04 per share on 407,570 no par common shares, against $19.52 on the preferred and $1.97 on the common in the first six months of 1928, the same number of shares of each class of stock outstanding.

Profit and loss surplus as of June 30, 1929, amounted to $11,812,748, against $9,207,960 a year before.

Current assets were $27,153,541 and current liabilities were $7,809,318, leaving a net working capital of $19,344,223, which compares with $19,656,612 at the close of June, 1928.

Stockholders of record Aug. 5, 1929, were offered rights in the ratio of one share at $60 for every five shares held. This offering involved the issuance of $1,514 additional common shares.

Dividends on the common are at the annual rate of $4 per share.

The preferred stock is high grade. The common deserves a fairly good rating.

C. M. Hall Lamp.

R. A. B.—C. M. Hall Lamp company reported net profit, after charges and federal taxes, amounting to $815,722 for the first six months of 1929. This compares with net profit of $419,902 for the like period of 1928.

The half yearly earnings were $2.04 per share on 400,000 no par shares, against $1.04 per share for the first half of 1928.

The company, incorporated in 1909, manufactures lamps for motor vehicles.

Net profit for the full year of 1928 was $1,027,332, or $2.57 per share, against $420,310 in 1927.

Dividends are $1.50 per year. In addition extra dividends totaling 25 cents per share have been paid this year.

The capital stock deserves a fairly good rating.

Dodge Bros., Inc.

A. S. G.—Dodge Brothers, Inc., convertible 6 per cent debentures, due May 1, 1940, have been assumed by Chrysler corporation. As of Dec. 31, 1928, there were $56,705,000 of these debentures outstanding.

They are a suitable investment for a business man's surplus funds.

News and Gossip of Stock Markets

Stocks Face Changes.

Stocks will have considerably changed factors as a background when trading is resumed this morning. They have back of them, first, a rather remarkable and sudden change in money market conditions, as reflected in the case of call funds last week and the four consecutive reductions in the time loan rate. Such a development so say the least, was unexpected in Wall street and considerable wonder is expressed at it. There is no indication, at least on the surface that the policy of the federal reserve board towards the money market has changed in the least.

U. S. Steel Estimates.

Estimates of third quarter earnings of the United States Steel corporation are beginning to appear in the financial district, although the official statement will not be published until the last Tuesday in this month. No one expects that the net for that period will approach the $53,826,000 earned in the second quarter, but the general impression now is that the showing will be found to have been better than some time ago. The corporation's net for the first six months was equivalent to $10.38 a share based on the stock issued up to July 30 and it seems reasonably certain that the profits in the third quarter were sufficient to maintain the $20 a share rate for the full year which Wall street has set as a conservative estimate. Recent developments, including the announcement of a 224,370 ton increase in unfilled orders ordered in September have indicated that the current buying trend is improving.

Predict Readjustments.

Readjustment of capital structures are of almost daily occurrence, and of course the market situation in those particular stocks has something to do with the action taken. Many times it has a great deal to do with it. Commenting on this situation one New York stock exchange house said: "We detect a tendency to adjust the capital structure of the blue chip issues in order to divest the market of its appearance of unreality and speculative artificiality and to create a market of real values. Therefore, we can look forward to an early readjustment of capital structures in stocks like American Telephone and Telegraph, American Can, Allied Chemical, General Electric, National Biscuit, United States Steel, Union Carbon, United States Industrial Alcohol, Westinghouse Electric, and other stocks of like caliber."

Reserve Ratios.

An examination of the ratios of the reserve of the 12 banks of the federal reserve system reveals that the reserve of eight of the 12 is well above the figure at this time last year. For the system as a whole this amounts to 6.8 per cent. New York holds the lead for the greatest gain, its reserve being 19.6 over that at this time last year. The four districts where the reserve ratio is lower than last year are Cleveland, Chicago, Minneapolis, and San Francisco, the declines ranging from 14.7 per cent at Minneapolis to 3.7 at San Francisco. The gains of other districts are 2.2 per cent for Boston, 6.5 for Philadelphia, 2.7 for Cleveland, 13.6 for Atlanta, 7.6 per cent for St. Louis, 4.4 for Kansas City and 6.6 for Dallas.

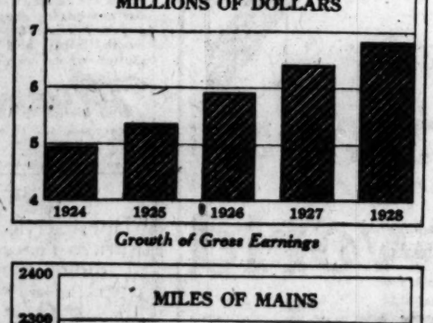
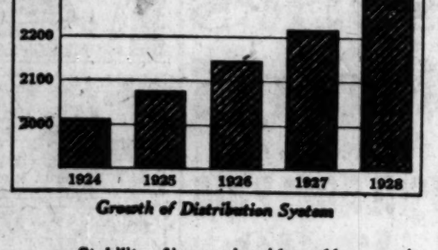
Community Water Service System



Growth of Gross Earnings



Growth of Distribution System

Growth and Stability

EARNINGS of water companies are probably more stable than those of any other industry. Growth of population and expansion of industrial activity results in a substantial annual increase in the use of water, and water service is little affected by general business conditions.

Stability plus the necessity of the service are reflected in the age and permanence of water company properties. The oldest subsidiary of Community Water Service Company has been in successful operation for 76 years, while practically all of the company's units have been distributing this essential commodity for 30 years or longer.

Approximately 50 per cent of the population served is in steadily growing communities within a 35-mile radius of New York City, Boston, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Stability of income is evidenced by a consistent increase of gross earnings each year from $4,941,819 in 1924 to $6,836,897 in 1928.

The company's simple financial structure consists of Bonds, Preferred and Common Stock. There are no warrants or issues convertible into Common Stock outstanding. Over 95 per cent of the funded debt matures after 1946.

The Common Stock is listed on the New York Curb Exchange.

IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY RUNS NEAR CAPACITY

Business as Whole Has Good Tone.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—Although in some of the heavier industries some moderate recessions in the pace of operations have developed, business generally has a good tone, holds its gains well, and in some cases is pointing upward as the final quarter progresses.

This is true of the important iron and steel industry in which operations are at 75 to 90 per cent of capacity, representing gains of about 3 to 4 per cent in the last ten days. Cooler weather has stimulated the demand for seasonal goods, and that distribution is on a large scale is evidenced by the high rate of car loadings.

Stimulates Rally.

The stock market quieted down this week after its corrective reaction and some measure of recovery was made in leading stocks. This rally was stimulated on Thursday by the report of the United States Steel corporation that its unfilled orders had gained 344,000 tons, and further, the reduction of $91,000,000 in brokers' loans, both construed as bullish developments. The development of easy money in which the call rate got as low as 5 per cent and the time rate to 8 was obviously the result of a combination of circumstances, mainly the concentration here of a vast amount of funds seeking permanent investment and which is temporarily employed in the call market.

The sustaining factor in the call money market is the account of funds loaned to "others," that is, corporations, individuals and for foreign account. Just how much of these funds will remain in the market under a 5 to 6 per cent call rate is problematical, but it is likely that a drain would start away from this vehicle should the rate remain as low. The corporate argument for leaving its surplus funds in the call market was that it was getting a high return with safety, oftentimes making a better income than could be earned by ordinary business operations.

A development of importance this week was the strength of sterling, the exchange crossing par for the first time in 14 months. The gain in this exchange has abruptly stopped losses of gold by the Bank of England.

Building Operations Lag.

Building operations continue to lag. September operations showed a decline of 13.3 per cent from September and of 23 per cent from September a year ago. Of 215 cities reporting for the two years, 130, or about 60 per cent, showed decreases, while 85 or 40 per cent, showed increases as compared with a year ago, in value of permits. Money difficulties are reported responsible for the sharp recession, which, of course, has been felt in a large number of allied industries.

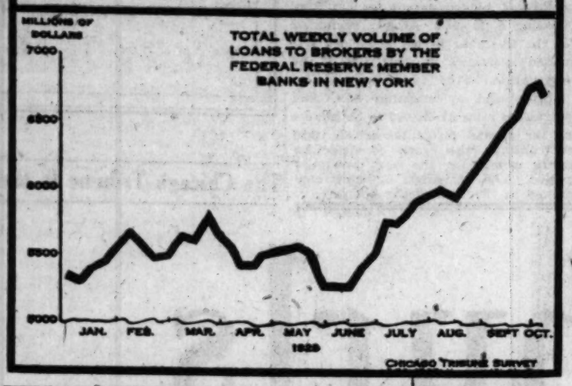
Brokers' Loans Declined Last Week for the First Time Since the Middle of August, But Are Only Slightly Below the Peak



JAPAN'S FINANCE COMMISSIONER IS COMING TO U. S.

TOKIO, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Juichi Tsushima, government financial commissioner, will sail Oct. 17 for New York, arriving there about Oct. 31, to conduct preparations for lifting of Japan's 13 year embargo on gold exports.

After negotiations in November with New York bankers and Washington officials, he will continue to London for similar negotiations there in December. The press today predicted he would attempt to negotiate contracts with New York and London banks to embark funds to be at the disposal of the Bank of Japan.

Finance Minister Incuye in a statement to the press said that, as negotiations for the conversion of a British four per cent loan of 230,000,000 yen redeemable in 1931 must be opened next July, release of the gold embargo ought to be effected before then, as both Great Britain and America were averse to granting loans to countries without free gold.

Business circles concluded from the statement the embargo would be lifted in April or May, when the country's trade usually shows a favorable balance. Tsushima, it was said, was instructed to this effect in an important finance department conference Friday.

GREAT NORTHERN RY. SPENDS 25 MILLIONS FOR EQUIPMENT IN '29

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Expenditure of $25,000,000 for locomotives, other rolling stock, and additional improvements to existing fixed equipment and trackage is authorized in the Great Northern railway's 1929 budget.

Announcement of the program was made today by C. O. Jenks, vice president in charge of operations. The total equipment budget is approximately the same as that for last year.

Rolling stock in the 1930 program includes 1,000 box cars to be built at St. Cloud, Minn., $2,000,000; 300 ore cars to be built at Superior, Wis., $750,000; 24 freight locomotives at Great Falls and Hillyard, Mont., $1,200,000; six large freight locomotives at Hillyard, $75,000; 1,000 gondola cars, to be bought, $2,500,000; 14 passenger locomotives, already ordered, $1,400,000; four electric passenger locomotives, ordered, $1,000,000.

REYNOLDS SPRING PLANS MERGER OF PREMIER CUSHION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—Directors of the Reynolds Spring company have called a special meeting of stockholders for Oct. 24, 1929, to act upon a plan to acquire the Premier Cushion Spring company, and to increase the common capitalization of Reynolds Spring from 500,000 to 1,000,000 no par shares. Upon consummation of the proposed transaction, Reynolds Spring will be a dominant company in this branch of the automotive industry, it was reported today.

New Coastwise Liner to Make Maiden Trip

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The new 33,375 ton Panama Pacific liner Pennsylvania, described by the builders as the largest passenger vessel ever constructed in an American shipyard, arrived here today from Newport News, Va., and will start her maiden voyage in the New York-San Francisco service Oct. 19. Capt. James Roberts, commander, said the steamer did 67.4 miles between Chesapeake lightship and winter quarter shoals at 19.3 knots.

Refined Copper Output Declines in September

New York, Oct. 13.—September production of refined copper in North and South America decreased by about 14,000 tons from August, according to the American bureau of metal statistics, which reported today that the output was 134,343 tons, against 148,648 in August and 137,018 a year ago. September shipments totaled 143,964 tons, against 142,005 in August and 139,999 a year ago.

Reliance Mfg. Co. Sept. Sales Gain Over Year Ago

September sales of the Reliance Manufacturing company and subsidiaries amounted to $1,300,000, as compared to $772,000 for the corresponding month of 1928, Milton F. Goodman, president, announced yesterday. This increase brought the volume for the first nine months of 1929 to $1,700,000 more than the total for the corresponding period last year.

Electric Investors, Inc., Holders Approve Merger

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—The stockholders of Electric Investors, Inc., have approved the plan for the merger of the company into the Electric Bond and Share company through the exchange of eight shares of the latter company for each five shares of Electric Investors outstanding. The $6 dividend preferred stocks are to be exchanged on a share for share basis. The stockholders of Electric Bond and Share will meet next Wednesday to act on the merger plan.

Hawaiian Pineapple Co. Declares Extra Dividend

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 3.—(AP)—The Hawaiian Pineapple Company, Ltd., today declared its quarterly dividend of two and one-half per cent, equaling 50 cents a share, plus an extra 2½ per cent dividend to common stockholders. Payments will be made Nov. 30 to stockholders of record Nov. 15.

Bond Market Perks Up After Months in Doldrums

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Bonds "came back" last week. After months of steady drifting into lower ground, which brought the entire list to minimum levels for about four years, definite improvement was recorded in all groups of fixed charge securities.

Easier time money was the factor that reversed the trend of the market. At the beginning of the week monetary accommodations were quoted at 8% @9 per cent for all maturities, and on Friday, which was the last business day of the holiday week, the charge was down to 5@5¼. At this price money was still relatively high, but the steadily easing rate was an indication of more favorable credit conditions. Part of the easier tone was attributed to the placing of considerable funds by investment companies into short term loans.

Demand Increases.

Dealers reported an increased demand for bonds from private investors, as well as from the larger customers, including banks which have been virtually out of the market for some time. Some of the more favorable sentiment was traced to a switching from stocks to interest bearing obligations. A good demand developed for "odd lots," or bonds in denominations of less than $1,000.

Rails were distinctly in favor, and the averages for these securities, which had finished the preceding week a shade below 90, advanced about half a point. Low coupon carriers, including numerous "next to the rails" issues, took a prominent place in the upward move, an indication of investment buying. Speculative obligations also had a wider market.

Industrials and utilities followed the lead of the carriers, although their progress was not quite so sprightly. Foreign bonds displayed irregularity early in the week, but interest in this group quickened in the later sessions and some improvement appeared. Liberty bonds and United States treasury listings advanced moderately to complete the brighter picture.

Convertibles Erratic.

Convertibles, which follow closely the course of stocks, had their ups and downs as usual. American Telephone 4½s and International Telephone 4½s were strong in the Thursday and Friday sessions as the shares advanced. The new Texas corporation convertible debenture 5s, traded through the medium of the interim receipts, sold as high as 101 against their offering price of 98½, evincing again the popularity of bonds with a stock feature. Turnover in this issue on Friday, the day of its appearance on the "big board," was large, and it ran a close race with the American Telephone convertible, which hitherto had enjoyed undisputed leadership in point of volume.

WORLD SERIES HELPS CHICAGO RETAIL TRADE

No matter what may be the outcome of the world series from a sporting angle, the big event, bringing thousands of out of town visitors into Chicago, proved a boon to local business, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. A marked increase in purchases by buyers here to see the baseball contests more than compensated for a noticeable decline by local buyers in wholesale and retail circles, helping to keep trade as a whole at the levels set in previous weeks.

Retail business, of the home town variety, is said to be showing the slight recession frequently met before the start of the active pre-holiday season.

GENERAL MOTORS RADIO DETAILS NOT COMPLETE

New York, Oct. 13.—Incorporation of the General Motors Radio corporation in Delaware on Wednesday, the company which represents the association of General Motors and Radio Corporation of America in this field, is said to be regarded as somewhat premature by officials of both companies.

General terms of the agreement between the two companies were drawn up last week but it is understood that the legal departments of both the companies state that details of the agreement will not be completed until next week.

The main details of the operation of the company as stated in the report of the incorpartion were said to be correct.

GAS INDUSTRY WILL SET NEW RECORDS IN '29, WITHINGTON SAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—When the history of the gas industry shall have been written for 1929 it will reveal that another set of high records has been established for one of the oldest public utilities, according to Chester M. Withington of Pynchon & Co. The American Gas association next week will be holding its annual convention at Atlantic City to discuss progress in the industry and to plan for future growth.

Production of gas, both artificial and natural, will exceed 2 trillion cubic feet for the second consecutive year, according to Mr. Withington. Total investments in the industry will cross the $5,000,000,000 mark for the first time, and revenues from the sale of both manufactured and natural gas will cross $900,000,000 for the first time.

"The urgent requirements of the gas industry necessitated by growing uses and expanding consumption," Mr. Withington said, "will call for the expenditure this year of approximately $450,000,000, of which $250,000,000 will be spent for increasing facilities of the manufactured gas plants and $150,000,000 for extending the mains and plants of the natural gas industry.

"Thus the invested capital in the American gas industry by Jan. 1, 1930, is expectrd to approximate $5,150,000,000. This is an increase of about 25 per cent over the total investment in gas plants in the United States as it stood at the end of 1926."

Report Reduction in U. S. Business Failures

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Business failures in the United States last week totaled 368, a reduction of twenty-eight from the number reported a week ago and sixty under the defaults of two weeks ago, according to R. G. Dun & Co. Failures for the corresponding week last year numbered 350.

Chain Store System to Boost Cigaret Prices

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Effective today, the eastern division, consisting of the greater metropolitan territory of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, will advance prices of cigarets to 12½ cents a package and $1.25 a carton.

Curb Market Stocks Rally Substantially

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Leading curb market stocks rallied substantially last week from the low levels reached in the decline culminating in the severe break of Oct. 4, but trading slackened considerably, and the upward movement was for the most part pressed forward rather cautiously. Progress was rather difficult, as there was a marked tendency to take profits at higher levels.

The week's advances, on top of the sharp rebound of Oct. 5, wiped out a large part of the losses, but most stocks closed the week some distance below their best levels of the year, and a few new soft spots were uncovered. In the main the rally was less broad and vigorous than that on the "big board."

A handful of high priced issues, such as Commonwealth Edison and Aluminum company of America, shot up approximately 60 to 80 points from the low levels touched the previous week. Most of the leading utilities, such as American Superpower and Electric Bond and Share, rallied from 5 to 20 points. Electric investors sold some 40 points above its minimum of the previous week.

Cities Service was an outstanding point of strength, continuing its steady climb of the last several weeks with a gain of about 5 points for the week, reaching a new peak above 68. Several of the oils made moderate progress, Standard of Kansas and Standard of Kentucky both gaining new high ground.

Announce Merger of Two British Iron & Steel Firms

MIDDLESBROUGH, England, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A merger between Dorman, Long & Co. and Solckow, Vaughan & Co., two of the biggest iron and steel producing firms in Great Britain, has been announced, subject to approval of the shareholders of the respective concerns.

REGARD DECLINE IN MONEY RATE AS SIGNIFICANT

Calls Forth Usual Predictions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—A considerable part of Wall street regarded the reduction of the call money rate to 5 per cent as last week's most significant event, in its bearing both on present and future of the markets. No rate lower than 6 per cent had been quoted on the stock exchange since July of last year. Occurring as last week's low rate did in the middle of October, a traditional period of money tension, and being accompanied by decline of nearly 1 per cent in rates for collateral time loans it was easy to grasp the inference that the tight-money period was ended. The further inference as to the probable meaning of continued easy money to the stock market was drawn with equal readiness.

According to the habit of Wall street, the course of last week's money rate when extreme tension had been predicted for October only a few weeks ago called forth confident predictions that the reserve bank rate immediately would be reduced.

Wish Father of Thought.

All of these inferences were colored by the wish which inspired the thought. How much or how little last week's easing off of money rates actually signified depends not only on its immediate causes but on the future operation of influences that brought about the money stringency. Various causes may have contributed to last week's relatively low call money rate, but the predominant cause was undoubtedly stock market liquidation. The closing out of speculative accounts had been unusually large. So it was last March, when the process brought down call money rates from 20 per cent to 6, and last December, when they fell from 12 to 6; on both of those occasions resumption of speculation for the rise quickly drove up the rate again to 12 and 10. The sequel was an advance, not a reduction, in the reserve bank rate.

REGARD DECLINE IN MONEY RATE AS SIGNIFICANT

That is to say, the cause of the easier stock exchange money rate was the fall on the stock market. The severe and eventually disastrous credit tension of 1920 presented a not dissimilar incident. Call mehey had been as high as 25 per cent; yet it touched 6 per cent in seven of the thirteen weeks of that year, beginning with October. On two days of that autumn, Nov. 22 and 23, it actually went to 5, with reduction of 1 per cent in the rate for loans on long maturities. But the stock market of that month had declined on the average no less than 17 per cent.

Reserve Rate Unaffected.

Even so, the prevailing influences did not keep money down and they did not affect the reserve rate, which was not lowered from 7 per cent until the ensuing May, when brokers' loans had been reduced nearly 25 per cent. In such a tight money year as 1906, when the sequel proved the credit situation to be strained to the breaking point and when call money had reached 40 per cent in September, the rate actually fell to 3 per cent at one time in October without in the least affecting the subsequent course of events.

Precedents of this kind are never conclusive unless the circumstances which existed at the different periods can be shown to be reasonably identical. In so far as the failure of any permanent relief to the strain in 1920 and 1926 was due to the immense requisitions that had previously been made on credit facilities for speculation and promotion, the existing situation in many respects matches that of the other two occasions. In 1920 it was subsequently found that the strain had already become impossible to endure and only prolonged and exceedingly violent liquidation, both on the stock exchange and in general trade, repaired the credit organism. In 1926 stock speculation was resumed excitedly, on the basis of the temporarily easy autumn money market, and the result was exceedingly disastrous.

Pennsy Employes Now Hold $15,000,000 in Stock

New York, Oct. 13.—The Pennsylvania railroad announces that 34,863 employés last month received 150,400 shares of the company's stock worth about $15,000,000. It was allotted to them in July, 1928, at par of $50 payable at $5 or $2 monthly. Those who received the stock last month paid at the $5 rate or who began at the $2 rate but paid in full by Aug. 1. About 57,000 employés are paying at the rate of $2 and will be paid up by Aug. 1, 1929. There were 19,700 employés living in Pennsylvania who subscribed

COTTON MILLS COMPANY SOLD BY RECEIVER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Morrilton, Ark., Oct. 13.—The Morrilton Cotton Mills, Inc., which was organized here in 1926 by Morris & Co. of New Jersey as principal stockholders, has been sold at receiver's sale to the Southern Securities company of Little Rock, trustees for the bondholders, for $90,000.

The Morrilton Cotton Mills represented an investment of $200,000 in preferred stock, of which Arkansas men took $125,000, with 20,000 in no par common stock as operating capital. The mills were bonded for $125,000.

Morrilton creditors of the mill several months ago brought suit and asked for a receiver. The Southern Securities company, as trustees of the bondholders, intervened and asked for the sale of the mills. A. J. Stephens, Morrilton banker, receiver, and one of the principal local stockholders, stated that he was not prepared to discuss plans for future operation.

GIVE FIGURES ON CONVICTIONS FOR CREDIT CRIMES

Convictions for credit crimes in the United States during the last five years have totaled 777 out of a total of indictments of 1,679, according to the Chicago Association of Credit Men. During this period 4,261 Chicago business houses have been complainants against persons accused of credit crimes.

Also during that period the National Association of Credit Crime, which was organized to combat the menace, recovered hidden assets for creditors totaling $1,315,682. At the beginning of the five year period $1,400,000 was raised to finance the activities of the association. This fund is now exhausted and a campaign has been started to raise $1,750,000 to be known as the second credit protection fund to continue the work of detecting credit crimes for the next five year period. The campaign is being conducted in 25 cities of the country.

THE HAWK

By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Douglas Dorling, a young British peer, is sent to Dartmoor prison on the perjured testimony of Cora Sefton, an unscrupulous woman in love with him. In revenge, because he snubbed her advances, she swears she saw him kill a policeman in a night club raid.

Dorling is a famous aviator, but to keep this knowledge from his mother and spare her worry, he has been using the assumed name of Douglas Harris; and as Douglas Harris he is tried and convicted.

He is rescued from prison in a spectacular fashion, right under the eyes of his guard, by persons unknown; is shaved, dressed in new clothes, and driven to the Gunter hotel, where, to his amazement, he is greeted by Cora. She has registered as his wife.

Cecily Warren, the girl Douglas loves, is also staying at the Gunter. She sees Dorling followed by Cora on his arrival and jumps to the conclusion he must be secretly married. Disillusioned and heartbroken, she leaves for London.

Douglas meets his father's old friend, Sir Aylmer Granston, in the lobby and accepts his invitation to drive to London. He escapes from Cora, leaving a note. Immediately she wires Jabez Malleron, well known amateur connoisseur of the arts and a neighbor of the Granstons. As Malleron is decoding the wire, Martha Perraile, Cecily's maid, calls. She is obviously in his employ. He directs her to bring her mistress within a few days to a town called Mortvaig, in Scotland.

That night, while Dorling is dining with the Granstons, Malleron calls. Later Cecily comes in, not knowing Doug is there. She greets him frigidly, and creates a sensation by announcing she hears he is married.

Doug goes to see Cora, and asks her to explain all the mystery. She refuses, but tells him he is to go to Mortvaig, Scotland, to meet her chief. He agrees, but first visits his mother at Dorling Towers. Cecily's father, Charles Warren, who lives on the estate of the Dorling estate, calls, and remarks casually that his daughter has taken a job furnishing a Mortvaig millionaire's house. Doug is struck by the coincidence in names. Can it, by any chance, be Cora's chief?

At Mortvaig Doug can only learn that in return for his freedom he is being blackmailed into a mysterious service as an airplane pilot. He takes off for his first trip, little dreaming Cecily is on board, drugged.

Charles Warren, who is in the government secret service, though this is not known to his friends, takes a holiday at home. Detective Inspector Rason of Scotland Yard calls for a conference. He believes Harris' escape from prison was a carefully planned one, and links it with a gang of smugglers whom he and Warren are pursuing. He has traced the van in which Doug was rescued to a London furniture company. Warren says this same company sent Cecily to Scotland. Rason suspects trouble, and wires the Mortvaig police.

Landing at his island base, Doug is shown about by another pilot, Lieut. Beresford. On his return to Mortvaig he is permitted to go down to London for a few days and he decides to shake himself free of the gang. He calls on Cecily to explain everything to her but is told by Mr. Warren that Cecily has disappeared from Mortvaig. Her maid returned without her and could shed no light on the disappearance. When Douglas sees Cecily's maid he remembers that he had seen her at the Mortvaig airdrome and suspects that she is one of the gang. With a shock he realizes that he must have carried Cecily to the island and that she is being kept a prisoner there by the chief. He decides to return there at once, but does not tell Mr. Warren of his suspicions.

Arrived at the island he asks to see Miss Warren and, greatly to his surprise, he is allowed to see her.

He arranges for her escape and manages to land her in England. He is pursued by a navy plane, however. He flies inland, then, heading the plane again toward the sea, he drops in a parachute. His plane is shot down in flames and Douglas Harris is presumed to be dead. He hurries to London expecting to see Cecily, but is amazed to learn that in some way his plans miscarried and that she has again been captured by the gang.

Hoping to obtain news of Cecily, Dorling, at Cora's request, meets her at a night club. He is drugged and wakes up the next day on a boat at sea. Cecily is also on board. There is something very peculiar about the boat and its passengers. The captain, professing his innocence, allows Dorling to use the small sea plane carried by the boat. The fuel gauge registers a full tank, but in reality there is not half enough fuel to carry him to land. Dorling sees a navy destroyer, comes down on the sea, and requests to be taken aboard. He explains to the commander of the boat and they go to Cecily's rescue.

INSTALLMENT XLIII.

UTTER MISERY.

Warren crossed the room and put his hand on Dorling's shoulder.

"I'm terribly sorry for you, Douglas—but that is exactly the position. And I know that, in the end, you will not decide to shield the traffickers."

"That's about what it comes to," Dorling agreed. "I am done for, either way. . . . If it is not Dartmoor it will probably be a bullet from one of a gang. Give me a few hours to put my affairs in order, Mr. Warren."

"If you want to make a will, Lord Dorling, perhaps I could be of some assistance," croaked Malleron. "It is unprofessional to offer one's services but I think, in the circumstances it is excusable."

"Thanks," said Dorling and thought what a nasty old spider the man was. "I'll call at your office." He turned to Warren. "Any objection to my having a few words with Cecily, sir?"

"None whatever, my dear boy."

In the passage, Dorling waited a moment. He had already made up his mind about Cecily. He loved her far too much to endure the thought of her waiting year after unbearable year while he served out his sentence.

He turned away because he could not endure the agony of looking into her eyes.

"Better rush it," he told himself and hurried into the drawing room. Cecily came towards him, radiant—with that in her eyes that made his task a thousand times more formidable than he had feared.

"Douglas," she murmured. "This is the first time we have been alone since—"

"Since I very clearly told you that I loved you and implied that I wanted to marry you," he cut in, his voice as harsh as he could make it.

She looked at him in hurt amazement. In another second, he knew, his nerve would break, so he hurried on:

"It's very humiliating for me. I'm every kind of a cad. But I think in the end it's fairer to you to speak plainly. There's something about all of us who go in for flying—I don't know what it is—but one says things under the stress of danger and emotion—romantic things, you know. Jolly rough luck on the girl in each case, but—I feel you're going to be a sport about it—aren't you, now?"

"You mean—you don't care for me—after all?"

Never in his life could Dorling forget the utter desolation of that moment.

"Care for you!" he echoed. "Why, of course I do!" Immensely. I hope we shall always be the best of pals. But—I'm one of those shallow johnnies. I'm chock full of romance when there's a moon about—and an island and one thing and another. But when I'm in London—well, there you are, don't y'know."

He turned away because he could not endure the torture of looking into her eyes. He found himself near the door, which was merciful.

"We must have a long jaw about the 'Cornelia' and all the rest of it sometime," he said over his shoulder. "But I know you won't mind my running off now as I have to talk to old Malleron."

Before Cecily could make reply, Dorling had thrust himself from the drawing room. He had torn out his love and cast it away. He dared not linger a moment lest the truth should burst from him. He loved her at that moment far more than he had ever loved her in his life.

For a few seconds he stood irresolute in the passage. In those few seconds all feeling departed from him. All but the purely calculating part of him was numbed.

Strangely, in his hour of utter misery, he felt a sudden freedom. He had, according to his lights, played the game with Cecily. He had left her free and could now do what he chose with his life.

In the few steps to the study he reviewed the whole of his position and made up his mind.

Malleron and Warren were apparently engaged in a confidential conversation. Both looked up as he came in and waited for him to speak.

"Well, my boy?" asked Warren, gravely.

"I'll do what you wish, sir—and accept your offer to get me out of the country afterwards if you can—but I don't believe that part of the program will come off. That's why I want to make a will before we do anything."

Malleron glanced at the clock.

"You can tell me what you want on the way out and I'll have it ready for you to sign in my office within an hour," he said.

Dorling thanked him, then turned to Warren.

"I take it, sir, you don't want to run in a lot of underlings on small charges? You want the head of the organization—the man called the Chief?"

Warren assented with a nod and Dorling hurried on:

"I've never seen this man. But whoever he is, he runs the whole organization—has his finger on every pulse. When they made me work with them, it was always 'the Chief says this, that, or the other.' Wherever they are, they are in touch with him by telephone and wireless and one thing and another, and they keep on referring everything of the smallest detail to him."

As if he sensed what was coming, Warren gave a very doubtful assent.

"My job is to break up the organization, Douglas."

"Forgive me, Warren," interposed Malleron. "But this—er—Chief surely is the organization."

Dorling glanced approvingly at Malleron. He did not like the elderly solicitor but was prepared to take his great ability on trust. Moreover, the fact that he was in Warren's confidence was sufficient guarantee.

"I'm glad you agree with me, Mr. Malleron. I've put the case badly. It's almost impossible to exaggerate the importance of this man. The gang obeys his orders blindly without knowing or caring what they're doing."

"Rot!" grunted Malleron. "It looks to me, my dear Warren, as if you would find it none too easy. Perhaps Lord Dorling has something to suggest?"

"I have just this to suggest—leave the small fry alone and go straight for the Chief."

Warren shook his head.

"A counsel of perfection! How are you going to do it?"

"Very simply. It wasn't my intention, Mr. Warren, to play the spy on the actual individuals I was concerned with. I owe them one for having slaughtered me—but I'll settle that myself if the opportunity ever occurs. With your approval I propose to warn one of them that, say, in half an hour, I shall give the whole thing away to the police. During that half hour she will communicate with her Chief."

"She?" retorted Malleron.

"Yes. A woman. She's the only one I can get in touch with at a moment's notice."

Marion Davies in Talkie Plays French Peasant

In Post-War Song, Dance, Love Drama.

"MARIANNE."

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Directed by Robert Z. Leonard.
Presented at the Chicago theater.
THE CAST.

Marianne	Marion Davies
André	George Baxter
Stagg	Lawrence Gray
Soapy	Cliff Edwards
Sam	Benny Rubin
Lieut. Frane	Scott Kolk
General	Robert Edeson
Pere Joseph	Emile Chautard

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Fore and aft, pro and con—on the whole, as it were—"Marianne" is not a satisfactory vehicle for Miss Marion Davies who, in recent productions, has so firmly established herself as a comedienne of parts.

The film is an all-talking comedy romance. Its locale is France, with most of the action taking place after the siging of the armistice. The story concerns itself with the heart affair of Marianne, a French peasant girl (fiancée of André, taken prisoner by the enemy) and Stagg, an American doughboy, who meet, quarrel, and love when Stagg's company is billeted near Marianne's home while awaiting orders to embark for the States. The courtship proceeds to an accompaniment of incidents, dialogue, and song furnished by Stagg's lusty buddies and commanding officers. The songs are rather catchy and quite well rendered. The incident is not so amusing as it might be. The dialogue, one regrets to report, in its essays at humor often verges on what some might construe to be the vulgar.

Miss Davies gallantly and with vivacity—looking mighty pretty the while—plunges into her rôle and the French language. Concentration on the latter at times rather cramps her style and the former, as I have inferred, offers little opportunity for the display of her sparkling talent. Also, she and her supporters have not had the best direction. Mr. Leonard demonstrates at no time any intuitive "feel" for effect, and the picture is entirely too long for its subject matter.

Lawrence Gray does well as the ardent and irrepressible doughboy, and reveals a melodious singing voice. Cliff Edwards and Benny Rubin execute some song and dance specialties in experienced fashion. George Baxter as the French lover who returns, blinded, in time to complicate matters for the last couple of reels, is pleasing., Work of others in the cast is negligible. Mass singing by the soldiers is agreeable to the ear.

"Marianne" is the first feature all-talker in which Miss Davies has appeared. I hope we shall have her soon again in the sort of piece she merits.

"THE LOVE DOCTOR."

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Melvin Brown.
Presented at the Oriental theater.
THE CAST.

Dr. Gerald Sumner	Richard Dix
Virginia Moore	June Collyer
Grace Tyler	Miriam Seegar
Fred Woodbridge	Morgan Farley
Preston De Witt	Lawford Davidson

How the audiences at the Oriental are loving THIS picture!

Don't blame them—I loved it, too. Though the lightest sort of comedy drama it is excellently done, gay with laughs and presents Richard Dix as his admirers like him. In his last talking venture he was not highly successful. In "The Love Doctor" he is. He is handsome (as usual), droll, peppy, and his speaking voice is, girls, possibly not divine, but—you get what I mean?

The film is a screenization of the stage play "The Boomerang." Its hero is a young doctor, who thinks he knows ALL about love and how to keep out of it, issues prescriptions confidently to heartsick patients and lo and behold, has them (the prescriptions) come back and knock him off his serene and cocksure base.

The acting is all snappy and to the point, with Miss June Collyer scoring as the damsel the doctor falls for. Direction and photography are okay, sets are charming, and dialogue is smart and mirth-provoking.

See you tomorrow.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. Jean Sommerfield, 3555 Fullerton avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you favor women's return to small waists and long skirts, as the new fashions dictate?

The Answers.

Mrs. Mamie Schumacher, 2758 Jackson boulevard, power machine operator.—I would not care for the small waists, but many women, who are no longer young, would, I believe, appreciate the longer skirts. The ideal would be a flexible system of styles.

Miss Agnes Glonski, 2700 North Kimball avenue, comptometer instructor.—I don't, though for evening dress the long skirt is appropriate, as well as becoming. For office, street, and home the short skirt has so many points in its favor and so few against it that it should be a permanent style. It is sensible, comfortable, economical.

Miss Marguerite Freund, 5412 Ferdinand avenue, statistical typist—Emphatically no. For most women the short skirt is the more becoming. I haven't anything against the long skirts. I don't even mind the expense of them, only I like the short ones better than I like the long ones. I like what I like when I like it.

Miss Jane Taylor, 828 Judson avenue, Evanston, Ill., stenographer.—No. Yet it depends on the woman; some cannot wear that type of dress. A short person cannot wear long dresses and high waists becomingly. They require a tall, thin person. What are we to do with the clothes we now are wearing? We can't change our wardrobe completely.

Miss Isabel Tidmarsh, 1820 Juneway terrace, clerk.—I don't like them. I consider the present styles more healthful. It would be a great mistake to return to the old styles. The women of Chicago ought to be independent enough in dress to demand and obtain what they want, not to yield to this sudden and drastic change in styles.

Fritz Kreisler Thrills Hearers with Encores

He Having Easily Won Their Applause.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Fritz Kreisler still leads the fiddling fraternity. He came to Orchestra hall and demonstrated the fact yesterday afternoon. In fact if there was any difference in his playing, it was that his tone was just a trifle more youthful and lyrical than in past seasons. And Carl Lamson, his accompanist for these ever so many years, was just as faithfully integral a part of the Kreisler performance as ever.

In one respect Mr. Kreisler's program was a variant on the customary. None of his compositions or arrangements were given printed prominence. Not that he did not play any, but he waited until the regular program was over and the tributary program of encores was begun, for which a crowded house and crowded stage sat tight and waited patiently, if not quietly.

There is something about the Kreisler encores that is even more exhilerating than the numbers he puts on the prescribed list, but there is plenty of stimulation in what he announces in advance. He gave a magnificent performance of the Saint-Saens' concerto in B minor, and there was a "Fantasy on Russian Themes" by Rimsky-Korsakoff which I do not remember hearing before and which ended the program in brilliant glory. Also, during the time that I was obliged to be elsewhere, I am told that he played the Bach "Chaconne" in a way that would have aroused gratification in the heart of Johann Sebastian himself.

Elly Ney's recital at the Studebaker was about as potent a display of personality at the piano as the season is likely to uncover. She can make more effect with wrong notes than any one within memory. She does not play them invariably, but she plays some, and when she does she is likely to make the effect more entertaining than many another pianist who would play them correctly.

With her exubrance of personality, it would seem as though she would revel in works of the modern school. On the contrary, however, her program was conventional to a degree. A group by Chopin, the Bach "Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue," Beethoven's "Pathetique" sonata, Schumann's "Scenes from Childhood," a piece by Debussy, and a group by Liszt were its sum and substance. But the audience enjoyed it more than it probably would have a less familiar list.

Compliments are due to Dorothy Bowen, soprano, for her program at the Playhouse quite as much as for her manner of performance. Ancient and modern Italian, Lia's aria from "L'Enfant Prodigue," by Debussy, and some songs in English, mostly recent, were its principal items, and well worth the hearing. Possibly through information furnished by her accompanist, Frank Laird Waller, an uncommonly well informed musician, she began with two very fine but little known old Italian songs by Bernardo Pasquini in arrangements by Felice Boghen. Miss Bowen has a voice of good quality under first rate control, and her enunciation, especially of English, is excellent.

U.S. LABOR'S COMFORTS AMAZE THE WORLD, HOOVER'S AID ASSERTS

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis told a radio audience tonight that the American standard of living is "almost amazing," the highest ever achieved in world history.

Speaking over a nation-wide hookup of the National Broadcasting company he said the average annual food consumption of 500 typical American working families with incomes of from $960 to $2,500 per year, included 498 pounds of meat, 94 dozen eggs, 236 pounds of sugar, 777 pounds of flour, meal, bread and rolls, and other articles in proportion.

"These salient truths show, in a measure, why immigration has been restricted," Mr. Davis continued. "They show why aliens by the million are clamoring to enter the United States. It is because they, too, want these privileges and benefits. In a word, they want the American standard of living.

"We Americans want still more of life's comforts, and we are going to get them. Material things do not constitute happiness, which is merely a condition of mind, but material things properly used do help toward happiness. Some of us fall short of our share, yet compared with our past and with other countries, we have an American standard of living for which we should be deeply grateful, even as we continue to raise it."

The electric lights golden jubilee at Dearborn, Mich., where President Hoover is expected to witness Thomas Edison repeat the experiment that created the incandescent lamp 50 years ago, will be broadcast over a nation-wide radio network on the evening of Oct. 21.

President Hoover is scheduled to speak at the close of the radio program, which will begin at 7:30 p. m. (eastern standard time).

THEATER

"MY GIRL FRIDAY":

Farce, in three acts, by William A. Grew: made known in Chicago (by Mr. Grew) October 13, 1929, in the Garrick Theater, with this cast:

Albert Whelan	William A. Grew
His wife	Doris Hardy
John Hartwell	T. H. McKnight
His wife	Louise Kelly
Sidney Fallon	George Gould
Frances, a chorus-girl	Shirley Dahl
Jean, another	Bonnie Teabeau
Shirley, a third	Nina Sorel
A stage-manager	Judson Langill
Travers, a writer	Paul Byron
A theater-manager	C. E. Farber
A butler	Sweso Tokoro
A strong-man	A. De Leoni

HERE, once more, is the piece known in the long-ago as "Champagne and Oysters," or "Oh, What a Night!" or something else, and by twenty or thirty other titles in the interval between the long-ago and now: I should be put to it to recall what it was named when I first saw it. It is rougher now, and tougher, but only to the extent to which the general taste in such matters is believed to have progressed. If you remember having read in THE TRIBUNE that "My Girl Friday" was arrested last season in New-York, soon after the start of its run there, you need not take the remembrance too seriously: that was just another case where the cops were framed by the management into doing something to win popular attention,—unless it was another case of where the cops stood in with the management for the frame-up. Either process may be applied down there.

And, as you are avid for the story of Mr. Grew's drama, it may be told that it is all about three men who have a rendezvous with three chorus-girls, who make the three men believe that the night has been incarnardined with sin, whereas the truth is that the men were merely rendered unconscious through having taken sleeping powders, artlessly placed in their potations by the girls, who turn out to be very models of decorum and the like. Wives and fiancés and one husband, a professional strong man, enter; and woman's lingerie is discovered in the pockets of the tortured victims. You know: the kind of farce wherein the characters speak lightly of champagne as "wine," and one of them says: "That's my story; and I'm going to stick to it!" . . . And it is in that key it is performed by the performers named above. (P. S.: Miss Dahl, who used to be in chorus-lines, does a song-and-dance.)

News-Notes of the Stage.

The new Dramatic League of Chicago will start its first subscription-season tonight in the Princess with "Thunder in the Air," whereof the cast is all-English save for Miss Selina Royle. Among the players known well in this country are Miss Cecelia Loftus, Wilfrid Seagram, and Miss Jeannette Sherwood; while J. Fischer White and Robert Haslam are favorites of high standing with the theater-goers of London. . . . The Princess has been beautifully made over for the uses of the League; and the smoke-lounge below-stairs has been redecorated and refurnished by Rollo Wayne.

Another novelty tonight will be "Wings Over Europe," to be made known in the Blackstone by the Theater Guild of New-York. This play, too, is an importation. Alexander Kirkland, Ernest Lawford, and Joseph Kilgour are of the cast.

"Sign X Y Z" will be taken away from Chicago after Saturday night's performance. As yet, nothing else is bulletined for the Studebaker.

The Woods will be taken over for sound-films after this week's performances of George Sidney in "Kibitzer."

"She Walked Home" is the name of a new play by Anne Nichols, who wrote "Abie's Irish Rose."

Hoovers Stroll About Washington Streets on Fine Fall Day

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—One of the most intimate glimpses the capital has had of the White House family since March 4 today was reserved for few of its citizens.

Responding to the urge of a beautiful autumn day, President Hoover, accompanied by Mrs. Hoover and their son, Alan, who is spending the week-end with them, joined thousands of other Washingtonians in a stroll through the business section of the city.

Only one secret service man instead of the usual four attended the group. Leaving the White House, they idled along into F street, where they window-shopped, and thence over on to Pennsylvania avenue for several blocks before returning.

Although the streets were crowded they were recognized by few.

Boston Pastor Renews Attack on D.A.R. Policy

Methodist Claims Women Boost Shearer's Game.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 13.—[U. P.]—Continuing his open attack on the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Rev. Dr. William L. Stidger of this city today characterized that organization as "one of the greatest organized menaces to world harmony and peace." He said so in a sermon at the Copley Methodist Episcopal church.

Dr. Stidger linked William B. Shearer, big navy propagandist, with the D. A. R. in the distribution of propaganda against naval reduction.

"I am concerned for the D. A. R.," Dr. Stidger said. "It is losing caste in America. Its conception of patriotism is no longer respected by liberal, cultured, educated, thinking people who believe in internationalism. It is losing caste even in the progressive church groups.

"But I am even more concerned and interested in world peace, and I believe the D. A. R. to be one of the greatest organized menaces to world harmony and peace.

"I have seen it in print and can produce this statement at any time—that William Shearer has been permitted to flood the nation through the D. A. R. with anti-Hoover and anti-reduction of the navy propaganda.

"One of the officers of the D. A. R. in Washington says she never heard of William F. Shearer. Yet the bulletin of the national council for prevention of war published in Washington says plainly and distinctly in its Sept. 1 issue:

"'More recently, through the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mr. Shearer has flooded the country with a statement branding President Hoover's delay in building the cruisers as unconstitutional, unwarranted, and unsafe, condemning any limitation of 10,000 ton cruisers as securing for Great Britain an increased advantage and attacking even the prolongation of the battleships now in commission on the very misleading charge that the newest United States capital ships are years older than the British and Japanese capital ships.'

"What I want to know is that, if this publicly printed statement that Shearer did use the D. A. R. to flood the nation with this propaganda—and it has not been officially denied this week by the D. A. R.—why does not the D. A. R. repudiate Shearer and any connection that he may have with them?"

Dr. Stidger said even the steel companies have repudiated Shearer. He wondered why the D. A. R. has not made some statement.

Dr. Stidger said he was interested in having the aims of the D. A. R. and its attitude towards world peace, reduction of armaments, the conference between Ramsay MacDonald and President Hoover, aired before the nation.

"I believe that organization to be influenced largely by the group in American life that is interested in large armaments, and in status quo. If that is not true, I will be the first to offer an apology," he added.

"I believe the sacred hour is here when America can do more towards assuring the peace of the world than any other hour of its history. I would hate to see the D. A. R. either luke warm or neutral in such a patriotic movement as this is."

In his sermon last Sunday he declared the senate should investigate the D. A. R. as well as Shearer. Since that it was announced that counsel for the D. A. R. at Washington had threatened suit.

On Friday Dr. Stidger, speaking at Pawtucket, R. I., described the threats to sue him as "only a bluff."

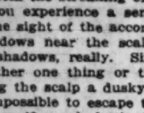
If You're Dyeing Hair, Keep Away from the Amateurs



One of the not-attractive sights you commonly see is the streaked head of hair, the result usually of amateurish use of peroxide and henna. Always with the streaking of the hair proper you experience a sense of revolt at the sight of the accompanying dark shadows near the scalp. They are not shadows, really. Simply the hair, neither one thing or the other, but giving the scalp a dusky touch.

It is impossible to escape this transition stage if one is letting her hair go back to its original color. It has to be borne as heroically as possible. But where there is one case going through the transition stage there are ten whose heads are simply showing up bad coloring workmanship.

Time and again we have stressed the folly of economizing with amateur home done work. It is next to impossible for a woman to touch her hair up an even color herself. Look at the difficulty the average one experiences making up both sides of her face evenly. How much harder, then, to reach both sides of the head with the eyes, with the back of the head entirely out of ken.

Hair dyeing isn't any matter of vanity anymore, unless with the foolish virgins who turn blonde from brunette just to see what it's like to be a blonde, or vice versa, although the records are not heavy on the latter transformation. It is a case with most women of toning down the supposed signs of age that graying hair indicates and often inspired by sheer economic dictation. If not for the business job, then for the wife job.

The advice to grow old gracefully and accept the gray hairs as part of life when they come is all right if you can get any one to listen to it. Nowadays it's the other ear you must talk into and tell about dyes. How women will manage to get around it will be their bud getting affair, but good hair dyeing jobs are not inexpensive things to adopt. Yet they are the only kind to adopt once one has made her mind up to bury the gray hairs.

The streaked heads are streaked because the amateur does not get her dye on evenly, so that the lighter applied spots fade out quickly.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

DISGUSTED: THE UNPLEASANT breath results from your disturbed digestion. You want to eat freely of green vegetables and fresh fruits and drink six to eight glasses of water every day. Be sure to get eight hours of sleep every night, and some exercise every day.

MOTHER: IN THE YOUNG crossed eyes may be straightened without the necessity of an operation. It is accomplished by means of exercises and the wearing of glasses.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Kenneth had attended kindergarten one week. On coming home one noon his daddy said, "What did you learn today, son?" He said, "We didn't learn nuffin today only played soldiers marching and they put me first on the end." D. G.

When school opened this fall a little stranger entered my kindergarten class.

"What is your name?" I asked.

"James William White," the boy replied. Then he confided, "I'm named after all the men in our family, James, after my grandpa; William, after my Uncle William; and White, after my father, Mr. White." A. A. A.

Large Weddings Seem to Go Out of Style

BY THALIA

Do you suppose the fashion for large weddings is going out? So many of the important nuptials that have been solemnized in the last year or so have been the "relatives and intimate friends only" kind, either for the ceremony or the reception, or both, that it appears that the spectacular and showy affairs are now being considered outré.

Miss Louise Tyler, daughter of Mrs. Ralph Martin Shaw of 1427 State parkway, is the latest prospective bride to eschew the formality of a large reception following her wedding. She is to be married at 5 o'clock in the afternoon of Nov. 27 at St. Chrysostom's to William Steinwedell, son of William E. Steinwedell of Cleveland, O., and brother of Mrs. Elliott Donnelley. The group of relatives and intimate friends to be asked back to the Shaw residence after the service is to be so small that there will be no reception cards.

Mrs. George W. Burgess of Greenwich, Conn., is to be Miss Tyler's matron of honor, and she has asked Mrs. Barrett Scudder (Joan Stuart), Mrs. Clive Childs Laflin, Mrs. Luther S. Hammond Jr. (Ruth Keeley), and Mrs. G. Corson Ellis (Roberta Thorne) to be her bridesmaids.

The best man and ushers' list has not yet been completed, and the setting of dates for the pre-nuptial parties is being put off until it is determined when the groom can arrive. Mr. Steinwedell and his bride are to reside in Cleveland and will be with his father until they find a living place of their own.

The small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. P. Gould [Theresa Higginson] was christened Jenifer, the ceremony taking place on Saturday afternoon at Lenox, Mass., where the George Higginsons, the baby's grandparents, live. The service was at 4:30 o'clock, and Jenifer's aunt, Countess Giangiulio Rucellai of Rome, and Mrs. Thomas Beal Davis of New York were godmothers. A. Newbold Morris of New York is godfather. Jenifer is an old Saxon name in the family of Mrs. Higginson, who was Emily Wakeman.

Other news from the Berkshires includes the intelligence that Mrs. Warren M. Salisbury has set off from Rumford Falls, Me., where she has been visiting since she closed Tor Court at Pittsfield, on a motor trip of 16 days to Virginia. She'll be in Chicago about the end of this week.

The Thrift shop, run by the Hyde Park branch of the Infant Welfare and the Kenwood Social Service club for the Infant Welfare stations, is to the south side as the White Elephant Rummage shop is to the north. This is its 10th year of existence, and it begins a sale of evening dresses today. Some of the south side women who are to assist include Mrs. Harold Gallup, Mrs. Merrill Tilden, Mrs. R. F. Morory, Mrs. Randolph Rawle, Mrs. H. Nelson Wallace, Mrs. Dorothy Tillinghast, Miss Madeline Marstadt, Mrs. Layton Northrup, Mrs. Jay Beidler Camp, and Mrs. John A. Logan.

The Arts club will have its first exhibition of the season, the annual showing of the work of the students of the Foundation for Architecture and Landscape Architecture, which has just closed its summer session, on Friday, the 18th. The exhibition will be on display until Nov. 2.

Even the late season stayers at Lake Geneva will almost all abandon their summer places by the end of this week. The Frederick H. Bartletts closed "The House in the Woods" last week and are going to New York to hear one of Mrs. Bartlett's musical protégés, Ruggiero Ricci, play the violin with the Manhattan Symphony orchestra.

The Lawrence Whiting place had its shutters put up on Thursday, and Col. and Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze leave Alta Vista today now that their daughter, Madora, is back at school. The Frank A. Rehms are to close All View tomorrow and will go to Virginia Hot Springs for a fall stay, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel LaRoche sail this week for Paris after spending the summer at the lake. Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson will stay at their "Bonnie Rine" until the 21st, and will then go to stay with Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson at Wychwood until the opera season. Mrs. J. R. Wilson has closed Sunset Ridge and returned to her residence at 1210 Astor street, and the Daniel Peterkins are only using Oak Lodge for weekend parties, and will continue those when the weather forbids.

Mrs. A. D. Plamondon has returned to the Belden-Stratford hotel from Great Neck, L. I., where she spent the summer and early fall. Mr. Plamondon returned on Saturday from Philadelphia, where he went to see the world series.

Miss Helen Tieken, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Tieken of 229 Lake Shore drive, has returned from a 6 months' trip abroad. She divided her time between research work in the continental theater and traveling with friends.

Lutherans Starting Work on $256,000 New Grace Church

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Ground was broken yesterday afternoon for the new $256,000 church plant of Grace Lutheran church on the campus of Concordia college at Bonnie Brae and Division streets, River Forest. After a brief service in the old church on the corner of Augusta street and Belleforte avenue, Oak Park, a procession, led by Concordia Teachers' college band, moved toward the new site. There the ceremonies were conducted by the Rev. O. A. Geiseman, pastor of Grace church.

The parochial day school, operated by Grace church for many years, has served as the training school for the normal students at Concordia college. When the new church is completed the entire eight grades of the day school will be used for training school purposes.

A massmeeting of the members of First St. Paul's Lutheran church, 1301 North La Salle street, has been called by the pastor, the Rev. Henry Kowert, for Thursday night to consider a $600,000 building program. The Rev. Dr. Walter A. Meier of St. Louis, who recently gave the address at the 400th anniversary of Luther's catechism, before 60,000 persons at Soldiers' field, will be the principal speaker.

According to Chicago church federation reports, Lutheran churches of the city last year exceeded all other Protestant bodies in church construction.

Ground was broken yesterday afternoon for the community house of the Mayfair Presbyterian church, northeast corner of Ainslie street and Kostner avenue. The first spade of earth was turned by Mrs. W. H. Spikings. A large part of the surrounding property, some years ago, was included in the Spikings' farm. The Rev. William McInnes announced that $45,000 has been pledged, $16,000 of that is held in cash, and no money will be borrowed for construction of the church, or community house. The church will be built after the other structure is completed. Services are being held in the nearby John M. Palmer public school auditorium.

Maharajah Leaving Today; Pleased with an Opera

The Maharajah of Kapurthala, who leaves Chicago this morning for the west coast after a two days' visit as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris at the Lake Shore Drive hotel, yesterday told of his pleasure after attending with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris Saturday night's performance of the new American opera, "Yolanda of Cyprus," by the American Opera company at the Majestic theater.

"It was the equal of any performance of opera I have ever seen abroad," he told Mrs. Waller Borden, president of the American Opera society.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—President and Mrs. Hoover spent the weekend at the White House for the first time in many weeks.

The secretary of state and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson are spending the week-end at their country place on Long Island.

Mrs. Robert P. Lamont, wife of the secretary of commerce, who has been in Washington with the secretary, accompanied by their debutante daughter, Miss Gertrude Lamont, for ten days, has returned to her home in Evanston, Ill. She came to attend various affairs given for the premier of England. Miss Lamont has gone to New York to visit for a fortnight. She will then join her mother in Evanston, and together they will return to Washington about Nov. 5.

Mrs. John R. Williams, formerly of Chicago, has as her guest her new son-in-law, Huston Rawls of New York, and her daughter Francise, who was the widow of John Ballantyne Pitney. Mrs. Rawls is the younger sister of Mrs. Joseph Leiter, who only returned to Washington last Friday and opened the Leiter home on Du Pont circle.

BRIDE

[De Haven Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bly, who were married recently at St. Peter's English Lutheran church, have returned from their honeymoon in northern Wisconsin and are residing at 1609 Lotus avenue. Mrs. Bly was formerly Miss Earldine C. Vick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Vick of 1705 North Mason avenue.

British Experts, One a Woman, Land to Study Indian Relics

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Lady Richmond Brown and F. A. Mitchell-Hedges, British explorers, arrived from Europe today on the Red Star liner Belgenland to classify American Indian ethnological specimens which they obtained about four years ago in Central America and which they have donated to the Museum of the American Indian here.

The two explorers announced they would organize another expedition to Central America under the museum's auspices and would start from here as soon as they could assemble equipment.

Salvation Army Starts 2d Week of Fund Drive

Today opens the second and final week of the Salvation Army's campaign for $349,500 to carry on its charitable activities that are not self-supporting. Among these are its home for stranded women and children, its hospital and home for unwed mothers and their babies, free legal aid bureau, free employment agency, medical and dental dispensaries and social service agencies. Workers in the campaign will meet at noon today in the West room of Hotel Sherman.

Federal School Bureau Changes Methods; Now Chiefly for Research

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A reorganization of the bureau of education under which the division henceforward will confine its activities largely to research rather than administration work has been approved by Secretary Wilbur and becomes operative at once. The reorganization was completed by William J. Cooper, education commissioner.

"Under the new organization," an official statement said today, "its new policy will be to abandon as far as possible whatever it has been doing in an administrative way and to concentrate upon fact finding, surveys and research in the many fields of education."

One of the chief administrative functions of the office to be turned over to other agencies is the supervision of the educational system in Alaska as it applies to natives.

Stressing the need of an adequate staff to carry on its work, Commissioner Cooper said the practice of employing additional experts upon the demand of organized groups of educators encouraged such groups to become active in demanding service of the office and to look upon specialists thus appointed as the "peculiar agents and perhaps even propagandists of the interests of such groups."

Miss Frances Wood Makes Her Debut in Highland Park

Saturday's debutante, Miss Frances Wood, daughter of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood of Highland Park, appeared in a frock of salmon pink, long skirted, according to the new mode, and with panels of tulle, for her introduction to society. The reception her parents gave to present her took place at the Wood residence in Highland Park from 4 to 7 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Wood wore black velvet trimmed with real lace, and the bud's sister, Mrs. Edwin E. Tullis, who received with them, wore orange tulle, high waisted and with puff sleeves.

The assisting buds were Miss Veronese Beatty, Miss Carol and Miss Emeline Bush, Miss Janet Kirk, Miss Phoebe Logan, Miss Rosemary Lytton, Miss Barbara Poole, Miss Anna Small, Miss Narcissa Swift, and Miss Christabel Wheeler.

Seek $500,000 for Restoration of Old Home of R. E. Lee

Stratford, Va., Oct. 13.—(AP)—"National Stratford day," starting a movement to raise $500,000 for the restoration of the home of Gen. Robert E. Lee, was observed here today in the presence of several hundred persons, representing a majority of the 17 states participating in the movement.

Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, an historian at Harvard university, and United States Senator Albin W. Barkley of Kentucky and Harry B. Hawes of Missouri, spoke from the steps of the Lee ancestral home, built in 1725.

Overlapping Folds Make for Fall Chic

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—A guide to fashion this year often looks like a Baedeker to Lapland. We mean that there are so many modes which derive their authority from a system of overlapping tiers, folds, flounces and what not. This is certainly the case with the deep blue jersey street frock from Chantal which we illustrate today. For here the entire charm of the creation is obtained through the use of overlapping tiers that start with a bolero and end with a peplum.

And how often these same overlapping folds serve the interests of the geometric craze! Turn to the back of this model and this fact is immediately evident. Instead of going straight across, the bolero takes on diagonal lines. What is more, all the other tiers do similar amusing tricks.

Nor is the skirt of this model less original. For instead of lapping over in the front, it chooses to do so at the side back. Incidentally, this skirt, like so many of today's smart models, is made to cover the knees by at least three or four inches. Worn with this costume is a draped turban of matching material.

For the type of wearable little street frock which is shown today there are numerous fabric suggestions. Among these is a light weight covert cloth which is made up into charming tailored styles and which takes various colors such as dark green and dark red.

Americans in Paris.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The following Americans registered at the Paris bureau of THE TRIBUNE today: W. Atkinson, Chicago; Mrs. W. H. Anders, New York; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Yeats, Bloomfield, Ind.

Sister of Gen. Booth Is Sent to South America

LONDON, Oct. 13.—[U. P.]—Commissioner Lucy Booth-Hellberg, youngest sister of the late Gen. Bramwell Booth, received orders today from Gen. Edward J. Higgins, head of the Salvation Army, to proceed to South America and take charge of the organization's work there.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth Wickes and the members of their family, now in Tuxedo Park, will return to New York early in December and will go to their new home on East 72d street.

Mrs. Robert J. Adams left for Hot Springs, Va., today, to join Mrs. Robert Franklin Adams.

Mrs. Moses Taylor returned to Mayfair house today from Newport.

Miss Ida Adams has left Briarcliff Lodge, Briar Cliff Manor, and has returned to Mayfair house for the winter.

The marriage of Miss Caroline Clark Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cahill Cummings, to F. G. Ambrey Nash of New York, will take place on Thursday in the chapel of St. Luke's church, Mont Clair.

Do Good-Nights Wreck Your Costume and Your Coiffure?

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A "Sex Education Booklet," by Mrs. Bevans, will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

She was dressed to go out to dinner—a rare occasion. She leaned over her small daughter to kiss her good night and good-by.

"Ugh," said the young thing, "it spoils your kisses when you have rouge on your lips."

And her mother didn't like it.

Another mother, dressed for a party, also, went in and sat on the edge of her son's bed, then leaned over and kissed him good night.

"I hate those cold dangly earrings on my neck," he said. "I wish you wouldn't wear earrings at all."

And the bloom was off the little good-by ceremony.

Sometimes, instead, it's a delicate lace dress that tears at the back of the sleeves, or a shoulder strap that gives way, or an expensive finger wave that gets wrecked by a wholehearted hug or a little rough nonsense the last thing at night when you're all decorated up for gay doings. When any one of those things happens, do you show impatience, or scold—and leave a tinge of unpleasantness in the air the last thing at night? And don't you feel overcome with remorse, so that it takes some of the edge off your evening's pleasure? But, even so, do you find the same thing happening again?

One way you can avoid it is to say, perhaps in a joking or exaggerated manner: "Now, I'm very specially dressed tonight—it's very easy to break me or tear or ruffle me up. So when you say good night, just be very gentle, as if you were afraid I'd fall to pieces."

Or if your children are too little to understand, or if they're vigorous and tempestuous and demonstrative—and you're going out—a good plan is to say a good rousing good night before the final touch like earrings or your hat or a fragile dress are donned. Otherwise, you have either to dim their fervency or hide your annoyance at the disarray they cause.

A thing like this may seem of little consequence—but little things can be pretty big. And the last feeling you and your child have at night is important—each going to sleep is, after all, a kind of parting.

And as for holding the day's anger or displeasure up to bedtime—well, the Bible says it better than I can: "Let not the sun go down upon thy wrath."

HAROLD TEEN—THE OVERDOSE OF POISON

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

A novelty silk crêpe in lovely plum tones is used for this stunning frock, showing molded lines with a swathed treatment through the hips, fluttering circular tiers, close fitting sleeves and two attractive bows. This is a dress that will meet everyday requirements admirably for the business woman, college girl and the socially busy woman of today. Georgette crêpe, plain silk crêpe, crêpe Elizabeth and wool crêpe are interesting suggestions.

The pattern, 2,900, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size requires 4 yards of 40 inch material with ⅝ yard of 36 inch contrasting.

The Wrong Purse.

While shopping the other day I stopped in a small dry goods store to purchase a few articles. While making my selections I placed several parcels on the counter. After having made the selections and paid the clerk, I picked up the parcels and sauntered towards the door. I heard some one call, but paid no attention, as I didn't think they were calling to me.

I walked down the street, gazing in shop windows, when suddenly I felt some one tap me on the shoulder, and, looking up, I looked right into the eyes of a policeman. For a moment I wondered just what it was all about, and the policeman kindly informed me that I had taken another lady shopper's purse. Indignantly I started to remonstrate with the policeman, when I glanced at my parcels and there, sure enough—there it was as big as life, a purse that I had never before laid eyes on.

Imagine my embarrassment. I'm still blushing, and probably always will whenever I think of that episode.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER.

Leaves that fall to fall in autumn will be the orchardist's assurance that pear blight has set its banner against him in the worst recurrence of the bacterial disease since 1914.

The new epidemic is strongest in the eastern half of the United States, but extends from coast to coast, says Dr. M. B. Waite, principal pathologist of the United States bureau of plant industry.

Not only pears, but in apple trees and quinces as well twigs will rattle their clusters of diseased leaves against winter breezes long after healthy foliage has fallen.

The best control comes from cutting off and burning diseased branches and cutting out affected areas on the bark of branches and trunks. Tools and the wounds made by them should be disinfected with a solution of corrosive sublimate to prevent spread of the disease.

Dr. Waite urges a general intensive program of control work this fall. It is known that pear blight occurs periodically in the proportions of an epidemic. The intervals may be 7, 10, or 15 years.

Real Wives Don't Need to Play the Siren Role at Home

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Are women overplaying the siren rôle in an attempt at husband holding?

Harriet thinks they are. And she thinks much of the enterprise put into the rôle isn't worth the effort it takes. In fact, if Harriet's opinion were courted by researchers of marital discord causes, she'd put this playing the siren as one of the leading ones.

What a tiresome mess marriage becomes, she advances, if both man and woman cannot be themselves to themselves and to each other! She confesses to having some experience in the homes of married women who put their faith in husband holding in courtesanish dress, baby voiced wheedling, or grotesquely worshipful words and poses. It's a job, Harriet thinks, that palls after a time. Then, when the moment of relaxation comes, the creature altogether different is beyond her mate's understanding.

"There are times," to use Harriet's own words, "when the woman would like to relax from the artificial pose; not only to, but has to. Then, in nine cases out of ten, the man has a different personality in the house, and if he can't recognize the reason for the change, there is created the beginning of another unsuccessful matrimonial venture."

I suppose if you went out with your statistics book and checked up on the number of wives that are playing an artificial rôle in their domestic lives you would find the percentage extremely low. And what undoubtedly you would find where the play is going on are circumstances not to be described as perfectly normal ones in family life.

It's my observation that women who go in for play acting are not the kind who constitute the so-called backbone of American home life. They're not the family type of woman. In fact, they invariably are the type who shirk the serious business of honest home making, family raising and the good substantial duties. Consequently, their attempts at holding the interest of a mate must be of a consistently artificial character.

The siren rôle, when it is carried to the extreme of having a "boy friend" to tease the husband with, or to boost the alluring stock of the femme herself, never occurs in homes built on the wholesome, natural, sustaining qualities that insure permanent success.

Disregard the Stories.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a boy very much, but my girl friends tell me he says things about me.

"PUZZLED."

Not exactly, what you might call "girl friends"—carry unpleasant stories back to you. I wouldn't give them much weight.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

On Cooking Game.

It is becoming more and more common each year to receive requests at this season for a cook book on the cooking of game, and it is astonishing how many men in our great cities go out for a day's shooting and come back with a full bag to lay on the home kitchen table, making reference to a cooking library necessary.

Among the many clippings upon the subject of the cooking of game which are in my files one begins: "Game, of all articles of food, is the least understood and the oftenest spoiled in the cooking. The housewife who can roast and broil meats to perfection stands aghast at the contents of a game bag."

And if she cannot roast and broil meats to any perfection she has reason to be more than aghast and helpless. But instead of applying to the cooking editor she would best apply to the man who writes about woods and waters in the sporting section of the paper. A great number of the recipes I have collected have been clipped from that section, but I have not had the chance to learn by practice, as the woods and waters editor has, how good these recipes are.

In the old southern cook books there are recipes for cooking game, and for the famous Brunswick stew, which is sometimes called a "Virginia stew of squirrels." In Prof. Pierre Blot's cook books—one was printed in 1864—there are recipes for cooking almost every kind of American game, and for cooking some animals that we would hardly account as game.

At this season also many a man cook will give his recipe for cooking a pheasant or a 'possum, to the press. The seventh chapter in the book "Next to the Ground," by that southern writer, Martha McCulloch-Williams, is devoted to the 'possum, or Sis 'Possum, in which she says this game is most edible in November, when the animal is so fat it can hardly waddle "and all their flesh, indeed, is of delicate and melting richness."

With American game wild rice is supposed to be the correct thing, but the old bread sauce is much less expensive.

Gossard

Line of Beauty

It's Smart to have a Waistline!

YOU will feel absolutely passe if you don't—this season! A waistline is essential to the fashionably fitted Frocks, so Gossard designed this pink satin combination to deftly define the natural waistline. The uplift bust sections of fine Alencon lace give a youthful, rounded contour to the figure.

A SPECIALTY

We have a DOLLAR DOWN sales set-up on a popular priced household necessity that means SALES. Being a salesman YOU are naturally looking for something of MERIT that will SELL.

Answer this question to yourself: If you had two articles that ARE IN GREAT DEMAND and were in a position to SELL THEM for HALF of what any other merchant would dare offer them for, and TAKE ORDERS a week do you feel YOU could write at a DOLLAR DOWN and a dollar per week?

JUST ONE WEASLY ORDER A DAY WITH A DOLLAR DEPOSIT PAYS YOU $54 A WEEK IN FULL. NOTHING DEFERRED, and WE GET YOU INTO THE HOME at our own expense and pay you on all other purchases that your customer makes.

IF YOU ARE SEEKING A GOOD, LEGITIMATE STEADY INCOME AND WANT SOMETHING THAT SELLS ITSELF, HAVE IT! Interview between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. only.
37 W. VAN BUREN-ST., SUITE 1380.

A SELLING SALES MANAGER

is offered an unusual opportunity to make money with a real future, by an old established security house.
A good clientele plus the ability to select and train others to work under his supervision is essential. An attractive agreement, very liberal in scope, may be had.
It is suggested that you write us fully, frankly, and in confidence, and an interview will be arranged.
The Bond & Mortgage Co.,

SALESMEN

WHO ARE AMBITIOUS TO EARN
$10,000 TO $20,000 A YEAR.

The oldest investment house in Chicago, doing a gross business of over $100,000,000 a year, is now expanding its business and has a number of very desirable positions open to men who have a knowledge of the fundamentals of selling, and who are ambitious to make a place for themselves in the field of finance.

AN IMMEDIATE INCOME.

By joining our organization now, you can make from $100 to $200 a week, RIGHT FROM THE START, and build a clientele of satisfied customers in a short time, which should insure you an income of from $10,000 to $20,000 a year. THE AVERAGE MONTHLY INCOME OF 11 MEN WHO HAVE BEEN IN THIS NEW DEPARTMENT OF OUR BUSINESS FOR THE PAST SEVERAL MONTHS IS IN EXCESS OF $1,800 A MONTH.

NECESSARY QUALIFICATIONS:

You don't have to have experience in security selling to qualify for one of these positions, but you do have to be the right kind of a man; between the age of 25 and 40, with sufficient business experience to enable you to contact with intelligent buyers. During the next 90 days there will be many promotions made from within our organization to important sales executive positions—Divisional Sales Managers, State Managers and Wholesalers—which are well worth working for.

For personal interview call between 11 a. m. and 4 p. m. or Monday evening ONLY between 6 and 8 p. m. at H. O. Stone & Co., 6 N. Clark-st. [3d floor], and ask for Frederick S. Dudley.

SALESMEN.

We have openings for men under 45 in special sales work. Men selected will be trained. Excellent chances for advancement. See Mr. Vardaman, 9 a. m. to noon, Room 1035, 125 S. Clark-st.

COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY.

SALESMEN, LEATHER GOODS.

Well established manufacturer of high grade men's goods has several vacancies in sales force. If interested in securing a line with unlimited possibilities, write in detail, stating your past work, territories worked, volume of sales and other information that may affect such a decision. Address L X 44, Tribune.

SALESMAN—FOR WISCONSIN, ILLINOIS and Indiana by one of the largest building material manufacturers; straight salary and expense; good opportunity for advancement; no floaters wanted; replies will be kept confidential; state age, experience, length of time employed by present employer, salary expected. Address H J 139, Tribune.

Salesmen, Canvass, Solicitors

20, to sell household specialties direct; guaranteed salary $20 per week with commissions and bonus; new prop.; also good proposition for men with light cars. 1575 W. Ogden-av., Room 2, near Madison.

SALESMEN—A FEW, QUICK, FOR A REAL go-getter we have the best proposition in town; not real estate; ours is a one call proposition backed by millions of dollars; from $50 to $100 per week is a cinch for any hustler. See me between 9 a. m. and 1 p. m. at 3300 South State-st., Rm. 610.

TWO CAPABLE MEN

to become sales managers. Here is the opportunity that you have been waiting for. Waste no time. Call and see me at once. I have the best proposition to offer you 139 N. Clark-st., Rm. 1007.

WE ARE OPENING

a new branch office for radio sales, and have an immediate need for three men to work with the supervisor in charge. Apply 9 to 12 a. m. at 3404 Lincoln-av. Mr. H. P. Deegan, Commonwealth Edison Company.

YOUNG MEN

to represent a leading manufacturer in and around Chicago. This is an opportunity worth while for progressive young men to grow with a fast growing concern. Ample immediate earnings and big earnings ahead within a very short time. A moderate guarantee will be allowed to the men selected. Transportation is furnished. Apply Monday up to 2 o'clock.
ASK FOR MR. OLSEN,
31 N. Franklin-st.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY

To Join a Successful Real Estate House.

Last month's increasing business and the prospects for further increase next month make it necessary for me to ask a few experienced salesmen to join this firm.
During the last thirty-two years we have established a large satisfied clientele in and about Chicago and an enviable reputation for square dealing.

The men I want are now employed, but are seeking further advancement and larger earnings. We offer this. Here you have an opportunity to become an executive salesmanager as soon as opening is available and your production warrants your promotion.
You must be, above all, a hard worker, able to go out in the field and secure new business; and have good references and know Chicago.
I cannot offer you big earnings to start, but a small salary with good commissions, with your future earnings unlimited, depending only on yourself.
APPLY IN PERSON.
10 A. M. TO 3 P. M.
